

BERLIN NOW IN GRIP OF KAISERITES

once began occupying strategic points. Reichwehr troops, which Gustav Noske, minister of defense, had depended upon to furnish the military power necessary to uphold the government, had deserted their posts.

The greatest confusion followed. President Ebert, accompanied by his family, was reported to have fled from the city in an automobile.

Meantime, the revolutionists, apparently working on carefully laid plans, issued a proclamation naming Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp, president of the Fatherland party, chancellor of Germany and premier of Prussia. Major Baron von Luttwitz, former military governor of Belgium, was named minister of defense, replacing Noske.

Noske, who had been active in other parts of the city, related by issuing a statement calling upon all workers to declare a general strike. The defense minister, the bulk of the Reichwehr, was powerless. His Reichwehr and volunteer troops disbanded.

Von Kapp immediately issued a series of proclamations calling upon the people to remain calm and declaring that the new government would preserve order. The Prussian diet was dissolved as was the constituent assembly.

The people of Berlin seemed to accept the situation stoically. Traffic continued as usual and there were no outward signs of great excitement except in the district surrounding the headquarters of the revolutionists.

PROPEL AND LITTLE DISTURBED BY COUP

Early reports from the provinces after the government had spread news of its overthrow by wireless telegraph, indicated that the revolutionists were apparently little disturbed by the revolution.

News from the provinces indicated that the revolutionists were apparently little disturbed by the revolution.

The new government early assigned the many foreigners in Berlin that they would be afforded full protection. It stationed soldiers at the Hotel Adlon, headquarters of most of the various foreign missions. Other detachments of troops patrolled the Wilhelmstrasse and Unter den Linden.

British Are Stirred By Monarchist Success; Fear for Future Peace

By ED. L. KILLEN, United Press Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, March 13.—News of the fall of President Ebert in Germany, was received with considerable uneasiness in all circles here today.

While it had been known for months that the Berlin government was being kept in power only by a constant policy of compromise with the troops of Gustav Noske, Ebert's minister of defense, British officials made no effort to conceal their anxiety over the situation as outlined in today's despatches.

Premier Lloyd George, officials pointed out, has emphasized repeatedly that the allies must support the Ebert regime in every way, because it was the government that agreed to the terms of Versailles and the protocol and all the other agreements between the allies and Germany.

If these agreements were to be carried out, the prime minister said, the Ebert government must be kept in power.

He has also indicated that the revolutionists had worked out with Ebert a German thoroughfare before the plot was sprung. Apparently the Ebert government got first notice of the plot and, in return, for despatches last night reported that Noske was investigating it and had ordered the arrest of several men, including Baron von Luttwitz, who was a major-general under Ebert and in command of a section of the Reichwehr.

NOSKE'S DEATHLY TALK

Noske, however, apparently began to lose touch with reality. While he was carrying out his duties, he was, according to Berlin despatches, the revolutionists were marching on the city and that at their approach the defense minister's volunteer troops disbanded without any effort to defend the government buildings.

Officials here believed the popular lack of confidence in the Ebert government was responsible for the ease with which the revolutionists carried out their coup. The government, it was known, has lost power steadily for several months. It has tried unsuccessfully to stem the constantly rising tide of reactionist opinion.

The monarchists, officials here believed, had been plotting the overthrow of the Ebert government since the time of the allied demand for trial of German war guilt before allied tribunals. This gave them a powerful propaganda and enabled them to weld the various elements of reactionist bodies into a solid whole which demanded a firm stand against what a majority of the German people believed were unjust demands by the allies.

When the Ebert government was

ALLIES WILL BAR WAY OF KAISER'S KIN

By FORBES FAIRBANKS, Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, March 13.—(Special Cable Despatch.)—If the motive of the German revolt is the restoration of the ex-kaiser, Marshal Foch will be ordered by the Allied supreme council to march on Berlin immediately.

This statement was made to Universal Service tonight by a British statesman closely posted on the situation. He continued:

"The supreme council expected this movement in Germany to be 'sprung' next Thursday. Secret service agents who have watched the situation in Berlin have been keeping the supreme council fully informed of the preparations for the coup. However, no one yet seems to know what the overthrow of Ebert's regime actually means."

"If the plan is to put Rupprecht, former crown prince of Bavaria, or any other man on the throne in a new monarchy, Marshal Foch will order the industrial centers in Rhenish Prussia, while the first sign of a return of the Hohenzollerns will mean occupation of Berlin."

Munich, the largest of Germany's key cities, is decidedly irregular.

German-Russian Union Feared At Washington; Allies Swell Armies

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Fear that the revolution will precipitate an alliance between Germany and the soviet government of Russia was expressed by government observers tonight.

General Ludendorff is reported to be in Russia negotiating with the Bolsheviks.

Officials predicted the German overture would prompt the allies, particularly Great Britain and France, to strengthen greatly their military forces in preparation for any violation of the armistice, failure to comply with the peace treaty or to make steps to the German revolution now in power.

The active German army, or Reichswehr, which is distributed mainly in and around Berlin and along the eastern frontiers, is estimated by officials here at slightly less than 200,000. In accordance with the peace treaty, the Reichswehr must be reduced to 100,000 men by April 10, and to 100,000 by July 10.

The German government, however, has been encouraging the establishment of large forces of home guards, minute men and military constabulary. These forces, at latest reports, totaled 500,000.

The senate was going ahead with its work on the peace treaty, but leaders said the pact might be put aside temporarily if developments of the next few days indicate the Germans really mean to repudiate it.

Fear that American troops may again have to be used in Germany was expressed in the house this afternoon during debate on the army reorganization bill.

Representative Smith, Illinois, was denouncing a speech against universal military training.

"If the gentleman knew that the German government had been overthrown and that American troops may again have to be used against Germany, would he still be against universal military training?" Representative Caldwell asked.

"I would," Smith replied, "because it was this same policy that caused the war."

New German Head, Von Kapp, Native of New York City

Dr. Wolfgang Von Kapp, the new chancellor in Germany, was born in New York, June 23, 1858, according to a sketch published in the New York Evening World today.

His father had come here at the time of the revolution in 1848.

Major-General Baron Von Luttwitz, the newspaper says, has an American wife, who was Miss Mary Carey of Cleveland. Von Luttwitz was born April 9, 1865. He was military governor of Belgium for a period early in the world war and later a commander on the Verdun front.

STUDY OF RUSSIA, LEAGUE DECISION

PARIS, March 13.—The council of the League of Nations in session here has adopted a resolution to send two commissions to Russia. The first commission, representing the League of Nations exclusively, will include ten members, two of which will be appointed by the International Labor Bureau. This body will study general conditions in Russia.

The commission, headed by Albert Thomas of France, head of the International Bureau, will study conditions in Russia from the viewpoint of labor.

The council adopted Arthur Baldry's resolution to appoint a League of Nations health commission to study health conditions in Poland, and prepare a report recommending methods to stop the epidemic of typhus.

RICHEST INDIAN MARRIAGE CASE NOW IN COURT

TOPEKA, Kan., March 13.—Habes corpus proceedings were invoked here today to disentangle Jackson Barnett, richest Indian, from his matrimonial alliance with Mrs. Anna Laura Lowe of Oklahoma City. Barnett's guardian alleges that his aged ward was "kidnaped" by the bride from his home near Henrietta several weeks ago, the marriage ceremony taking place later at Coffeyville, Kan.

Senate Expected To Vote On Article Ten Next Week

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Treaty talk is to give way to treaty action in the Senate next week. Under an agreement reached late today the Senate will vote some time Monday on the reservations to Article 10, the various substitutes and amendments and if necessary, the original Lodge reservation.

The question of Article 10, one big controversy in the long treaty fight, is to be settled then, and permanently settled so far as this Senate is concerned, leaders said.

German Pact With Russia Foreseen

By FRANK CHARTER, Foreign News Editor, International News Service.

against the government, headed by President Ebert have reached a sudden and sensational climax, according to press cablegrams today from London and Berlin.

The first cablegram merely stated that a proclamation had been issued in Berlin, announcing that the existing government had ceased to exist.

There have been two currents of counter-revolution in Germany, one by the royalists and the military, and the other by the Spartacists, or Bolshevik sympathizers.

The monarchists have been increasing their activities for the last few months, taking advantage of every peace development to inflame the population and to attempt to lead the army from its support of the Ebert government.

The army officers allied with the Fatherland party have been conspiring with more or less success against the government, despite assurances of Minister of Defense Gustav Noske that the army was well in hand.

The Fatherland party is a coalition of militarists, royalists, junkers and Prussian conservatives. It has consistently opposed any and all concessions to the allies. When the field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff were not openly affiliated with the Fatherland organization, the chiefs of the party looked to them as leaders.

The aim of the Fatherland party was to restore the monarchy to Germany. Whether or not they hoped to return the Kaiser to the throne, German monarchists were through as not definitely known, but it is certain that they had secretly picked some member of the Hohenzollern family.

It is more than probable that the leaders of the Fatherland party have been in secret communication with the revolutionaries in both Hungary and Turkey, and that the conspiracy contemplated military operations in the Near East to distract the allies' attention from middle Europe.

It is not unlikely that the Prussian junkers allied with the monarchist party inspired some of the recent attacks against allied army officers in and near Berlin to further their ambitions. The arrest of Prince Joachim gave the junkers a chance to play on the feelings of monarchists by declaring that the prince had been made to suffer because he had stood up for Germany.

President Ebert has been held in contempt by the militarists and royalists ever since he came into power, as the Socialist head of the German government a year and a half ago.

In all and time insidious propaganda has been carried on against him by the conservative.

One of the biggest elements, it is not the biggest, in a successful military revolution in Germany is the officer upon the peace treaty.

It might be accepted as a fore-

NEW EUROPEAN WAR LANDSCAPE

The German monarchists probably would not hesitate to demand Europe be divided once they thought they could gain their ultimate ends by so doing. But they would be badly handicapped in their efforts to start a new war by military action.

(1) Disorganization of the German army as a fighting unit; (2) lack of a navy; (3) the present occupation of much of western Germany by the allies; (4) the lack of machinery and the hostility of the conservative element at home.

German Socialists do not want another war, while the Spartacists are unwilling to fight "another brother working man in allied countries."

The hostility of the Spartacists has been directed solely against the so-called capitalist classes, the militarists and royalists. The first Socialist government in Berlin, established immediately after the revolution of 1918, was announced in the German capital on November 14 of that year.

It follows:

Premier, minister of interior and minister of military affairs, Friedrich Ebert; foreign affairs, Hugo Haase; colonies and finance, Philip Scheidemann; demobilization, transport and justice, Wilhelm Dittmann.

He was not made president of Germany until the national assembly was formed in 1919. The German government which was reported to have been overthrown was formed on June 21 last. Its chief ministers were:

Chancellor—Herr Bauer.

Foreign secretary—Herr von Mueller.

Minister of defense (war minister)—Gustav Noske.

Minister of justice and vice-chancellor—Engel Schuler.

Minister of finance—Matthias Erzberger.

Minister of interior—Eduard David.

Minister of food—Dr. Schmidt.

The personal attention given to Mail Orders received by the Livingston Shop results in thorough satisfaction of customers.

There are sound reasons for the remarkable success and rapid

Growth of This Shop

The foundation stones of our business are

Truthfulness—Courtesy—Service—Values

—We feel that you will be interested in knowing why the Livingston Shop is so well equipped to give its patrons better styles at lower prices.

—Our merchandise is selected by a staff of resident New York buyers under the guidance of Mr. S. Livingston, who is acknowledged to be one of the most expert buyers of women's apparel in America. As soon as a desirable new style appears in New York it is rushed to this shop by express, so that we are literally "Five Days away from New York." Since we have no branch stores, the undivided attention of the organization is given to the selection of merchandise for the Livingston Shop alone. Because of this, the tastes of our customers are studied from every angle and served by the concentrated ability of a corps of merchandising experts.

—The Livingston Shop is known to have at all times a great variety in every line to choose from. To make this possible, we carry larger assortments than is usually considered necessary, and feel repaid in the satisfaction of our many customers.

—Our enormous volume of business permits us to sell on a small margin of profit. This policy is built on a sound business basis. We find it to our advantage to sell, for instance, a hundred garments at a moderate profit rather than a few at a higher profit.

And this policy of giving our customers the best possible values at the lowest prices consistent with quality will always be maintained

TREATY IS 'SCRAP' NOW SAY FRENCH

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, March 13.—"If the German military caste is able to organize a dictatorship as it now seems to intend, it means that the treaty of Versailles now is a scrap of paper," a high French official said tonight.

"I do not believe the former kaiser will be restored," the official said. "There probably will be either a regime under men like Field Marshal von Hindenburg, or a soviet government similar to Russia."

"The military caste is more likely because the German people have been told constantly that their army was not defeated. That opinion has been used to influence against enforcement of the terms of the peace treaty as has been proved by the many recent attempts to prevent application of the terms of the Versailles pact and the insults toward members of the allied missions."

"The incidents are similar to those which preceded the outbreak of the war in 1914."

"I do not think immediate action will be taken by the allies."

ANARCHY IN NEAR EAST IS MENACE

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Amplified by the suddenness and success of the revolutionary uprising in Germany, the highest officials here tonight were unanimous in viewing the move as a militaristic coup and one which might demand intervention by the allies in Germany.

One of the most important developments that may be expected because of the German uprising, providing armed force is necessary to suppress it, will be the situation in the Near East where Turkey is virtually threatening war against France and England. The latter nations are now preparing the dispatch of large military forces to Asia Minor to restore order there, but with a hostile and aggressive Germany before them, their present plans would have to be reconsidered. This might mean anarchy in the Near East, especially when it is recalled Turkey was an ally of Germany and has not yet signed peace with the Allied powers.

Another shadow in the background is Russia. The relations between Germany and Russia are very intimate and Russia still regards France, England and the other nations of the entente with unkind eyes. It must be remembered that she has an enormous army, well equipped, a large part of which is in striking distance of the German border.

Aside from the portentous features to the thought that France possessed an additional reason for believing she had been misjudged by President Wilson when he charged she was in the control of a "militaristic party." The first weapon to be used against a rejuvenated Germany would be the large army which France has maintained since the close of the war. Ever since the armistice, France has insisted on the absolute suppression of Germany in a military sense and has always held that the danger of a resurrected military machine in Germany was a matter to be held in the realm of fact and not fiction.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Girl models, garbed in latest styles for flying, will demonstrate dressmakers' wares by flights along the lake front during the spring convention of the Fashion Art league, it was announced today. The convention opens March 15.

Style changes this year will be conservative, according to Madame Alla Ripley, president of the league. "Economy is the season," she explains.

But the economy will be in quantity, not quality, she says. Not that skirts are to be shorter or gowns lower in the back.

"Oh, no," said Mme. Ripley. "It means a small wardrobe."

CRUSH REVOLT, BRITON WARNS ALLIED HEADS

By J. L. GARVIN.
Editor of the London Observer.
(Special to Universal Service.)
LONDON, March 13.—I am not in the least surprised at the coup d'etat in Berlin. I believe Ludendorff is behind the movement, because he has led the reactionary movement since the armistice. Unless the movement is blotted out Hindenburg will be proclaimed regent, preparatory to the return of one of the younger Hohenzollerns to the throne.

It is the supreme council's most urgent duty to warn Germany that the world will not tolerate this revival of militarism.

GERMAN REVOLT SCARES BROKERS

By BROADWAY WALL.
NEW YORK, March 13.—The German revolution scared Wall Street for about fifteen minutes today at the opening but did not break prices. The liquidation resulting was quickly assimilated and the whole list advanced. Traders figured that the money scare was ended for the time being and pools became active.

The German revolution although confirmed in later despatches before the market closed, was not looked upon as a bearish argument for the reason that it had been expected. The allies have been so vacillating in their dealings with the Germans that investors have not believed them to be expecting the Ebert government to last.

Now that a strong government appears to be in process of development, the financial world thinks it will be a good thing for all kinds of business. There has been difficulty in getting the Germans to obey the orders of the allies. This was due chiefly to the inability of the Ebert government to act. With a strong government in Germany the allies will find it easier to enforce their demands. An earlier resumption of business in Europe is therefore forecast.

KAPP IS BITTER ENEMY OF U. S.

By EDWARD T. HEYN.
(Former Berlin Journalist.)
(Special to the United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 13.—Dr. Wolfgang von Kapp, the new German chancellor, although born in this country, is one of the most bitter enemies of the United States.

A few years ago von Kapp wrote a pamphlet in which he attacked the then Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg for the latter's alleged conciliatory American policy. The chancellor replied that von Kapp was "one of the pirates of public opinion." Von Kapp thereupon challenged von Bethmann-Hollweg to a duel, but the latter refused to accept.

Last week the chief of the fatherland party, which during the war favored unrestricted submarine warfare and annexation of Belgium, held a big mass meeting in Berlin. The principal speakers were Admiral von Tirpitz, father of the submarines, and Dr. von Kapp.

Dr. von Kapp is the son of Dr. Frederick Kapp, one of the greatest authorities on American history and biographer of von Stauben and De Kalb, who fought in the revolutionary war. After residing twenty years in the United States, the elder von Kapp returned to Germany and renewed his German citizenship.

Kaiser Now Dotard, Dutch Doctor Says

BY UNIVERSAL SERVICE.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, March 13.—That the former German kaiser has become feeble-minded and is wholly incapable of resuming his former place as the head of the German nation, was the substance of an interview obtained here today from Dr. T. H. Fokker, Dutch consul general in the United States.

Declaring he had had luncheon with William at Amerongen several months ago, Dr. Fokker described the former kaiser as "mumbling, senile, old man."

"The kaiser is no longer a menace to civilization," said Dr. Fokker. "All through the luncheon he mumbled numerous phrases that could not understand and all his talk was of petty, uninteresting occurrences at Amerongen. This white haired, senile old man, O could easily see, came out of the war with a mind that had given way—a mind not capable of thinking. All he can do now is to keep on chopping trees. His memory apparently has gone with his other capabilities and he gives every indication of being wholly unfit to resume a position of power again."

Ebert Strike Call Warns of Junkers

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, March 13.—The social democrats' manifesto calling a general strike, signed by President Ebert, Chancellor Bauer, Defense Minister Noske and other members of the Ebert government, read in part:

"We did not make our revolution overthrowing the former kaiser in order to recognize again today a bloody government of mercenaries. We refuse to play ourselves and company with the Baltic criminals."

"Workers, comrades, use every means in your power to destroy this return to bloody reaction. Strike! Cease work! Throw out this military dictatorship! Fight for the preservation of the republic! This is the only way to prevent the return of Wilhelm III! Proletarians unite!"

German People Divided By Revolt Coup Fails To Get General Support

By GEN. SIR FREDERICK E. MAURICE.
Noted British Military Critic.
(Special to Universal Service.)

LONDON, Mar. 13.—I do not believe the monarchists can win the support of South Germany. The coup d'etat has been expected throughout Europe for months.

ent numbers 900,000 men as has been alleged. If the Hohenzollern movement is really deep rooted in the army, proclamation of Hindenburg as dictator is likely to be the next step.

However, I would advise America to scan the news from Germany very closely and not rush to the conclusion that the rest of Germany will follow Berlin's lead.

BRIEFS PREPARED IN HYDRANT CASE

Final briefs in the review pending before the State Supreme Court of the recent decision of the State Railroad Commission, granting a basic hydrant charge to the Eastbay Water Company for cities on this side of the bay will be filed Monday, and the case submitted for decision.

According to Assistant City Attorney Leon Gray the reply of Alameda has already been filed and Oakland's reply brief will be presented on Monday, by which time the final cases must be in. The cities of San Francisco and Berkeley are going in on Oakland's reply brief, while Berkeley is filing a separate document.

Oakland's brief, Gray states, sets forth the claim that no increase in water rates is justified unless it is necessary and justified unless a return is allowed on the San Pablo project, which at present is unconnected with the company's system, and from which no water is drawn. In regard to the hydrant charge, the brief alleges that the company is not furnishing fire protection service and cannot be compelled to provide such service, but is nevertheless compensated.

INDUSTRY SHOWS GREAT ACTIVITY

Increased activity in seasonal industry is reflected in multiplied applicants at the State employment bureau yesterday. Frequently more than 250 men and women appear there seeking employment of one kind or another, though chiefly for country service, in the miscellaneous classification. With this increase of employment applications, has also come to a great increase in demands by employers for all kinds of help.

The call from the country at large as farm activities are being resumed, was stated at the bureau and at the same time factories and individuals of all kinds are in need of help. The University of California is in need of many hands. Stenographers are offered $100 to $125 per month and farm hands are offered a minimum of $4 per day in many kinds of work. The fruit industry is beginning to call for pickers and general service men and women.

One hundred and fifty-two new water meter installations were made during the period beginning January 1, this year, and ending last Friday, by the Peoples Water Company, according to a statement of Secretary Thatcher. These improvements, it was said, were chiefly made in the districts lying north and east of Lake Merritt and farther north, beyond Fortieth street and west of Piedmont avenue. For the most part these new accommodations were made for newly-arrived families, many of them in just completed homes.

Consolidated Office Remains in Gaitum

No change in the plan of operation of the consolidated railroad ticket offices at Thirteenth and Broadway is contemplated by the lines, although a change in the organization of the staff in the consolidated ticket office of San Francisco is to be put in effect. Across the bay the same offices will be occupied as during the period of government control of railroads, but separate staffs of ticket sellers for each of the railroads will be maintained.

California Faces Shortage in Teachers, Schools' Head Says

The present shortage of 150 teachers in the public schools of California will be increased to 300 by fall, according to the declaration of Will C. Wood, state superintendent of schools, addressing 700 members of the Alameda County Educational association, in annual meeting yesterday at Hotel Oakland. Normal schools show but 50 per cent of the usual enrollment, and but one-half the number of graduates will receive certificates this summer, as compared to 1916, according to the educational authority. Wood said that the United States, during the first year of the war, expended or appropriated more money for defense than the nation, states, territories and counties had expended throughout the whole period since 1861 on education.

In answering the question "Have the Public Schools Failed?" Superintendent Wood declared that their efficiency had not been proved. He recited the achievements of the draft armies and the success of the American nation to strengthen his statements. Wood admitted the insufficiency of moral, physical and elementary training and Americanization in the educational systems.

"The trouble with the public schools," said Wood, "is that there is not a sufficient number of exceptional parents. Public schools may develop brains, but they are not expected to supply them. They will never be the success the twentieth century demands until the American people are willing to pay the price for the good article."

For four counties in California paid teachers an average annual salary of more than $1000 before the summer's raise, according to Wood. The average salary is approximately $725 a year, he declared. He made a plea to restore reading, writing and arithmetic to a place of responsibility in the curriculum.

State senators and assemblymen, county supervisors, and superintendents of schools in county and city, and educational leaders were made the guests of honor at the annual luncheon over which Miss May C. Wade, president, presided as chairman. Reports were offered by Treasurer D. E. Martin, Field Worker A. S. Colton and Chairman of the Legislative Committee I. D. Martin.

The legislative matters recommended for consideration included: More adequate financial support; a minimum appropriation of state and county of $1200 a year for teachers; development of rural schools; extension of Americanization facilities and eradication of illiteracy of adults and minors; requirement that foreigners within a reasonable time speak the English language and take steps toward citizenship; additional legislation for the enforcement of compulsory education laws; transfer

SHIP SINKING, CREW STARVING NEAR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Mallory line freighter Tye, reported disabled last Wednesday, is sinking with her crew starving within 25 miles of Manhattan Island, according to wireless despatches received here today. The Tye was towed to this port and anchored off Ambrose channel last night.

The wireless today indicated that she had become lost in the heavy fog and water was seven feet deep in the hold.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

ALAMEDA, March 13.—Monday will be the last day for the filing of income tax returns. Deputy Revenue Collector E. A. Holman will be in Alameda Monday morning until noon, and will also be in Alameda from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday night.

MILLS ALUMNAE AID ENDOWMENT

Alumnae of Mills College in all parts of the United States have undertaken to meet the present educational problems of their alma mater by raising an endowment of $2,000,000, which will provide more extensive accommodations and the better remuneration for its faculty. New York, Los Angeles and Sacramento Mills Clubs are the first that have notified Rosalind Keep, alumnae secretary, of their efforts in behalf of the college. Los Angeles alumnae met Friday. The New York Club will convene Tuesday at the Waldorf-Astoria with Mrs. Florence Harper Lloyd in charge. The Sacramento Mills Club has arranged an organization meeting at the Country Club on Saturday, March 20.

At the Mills service school, held early this month, alumnae, friends and students subscribed nearly $100,000 to start the fund. Mrs. Thomas Mitchell Potter of the class of '99 is chairman of the central committee directing this work. The other members are W. I. Brobeck, Wigginton E. Creed, Joseph F. Carleton, Mrs. C. E. Darling, Colonel George C. Edwards, Miss Janet C. Haight, I. W. Hellman Jr., Miss Rosalind A. Keep, Joseph R. Knowland, Professor E. C. Linsley, Miss Ethel Moore, President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, Miss Margaret Sloan.

Mrs. Potter, President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt and Trustee Joseph R. Knowland constitute the campaign executive committee.

The publications committee is composed of Miss Ethel Moore, Miss Janet C. Haight and President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt. The finance committee comprises I. W. Hellman Jr., W. I. Brobeck, William E. Creed, Joseph R. Knowland and Joseph F. Carleton.

Fire Chief Blames S. P. for Collision

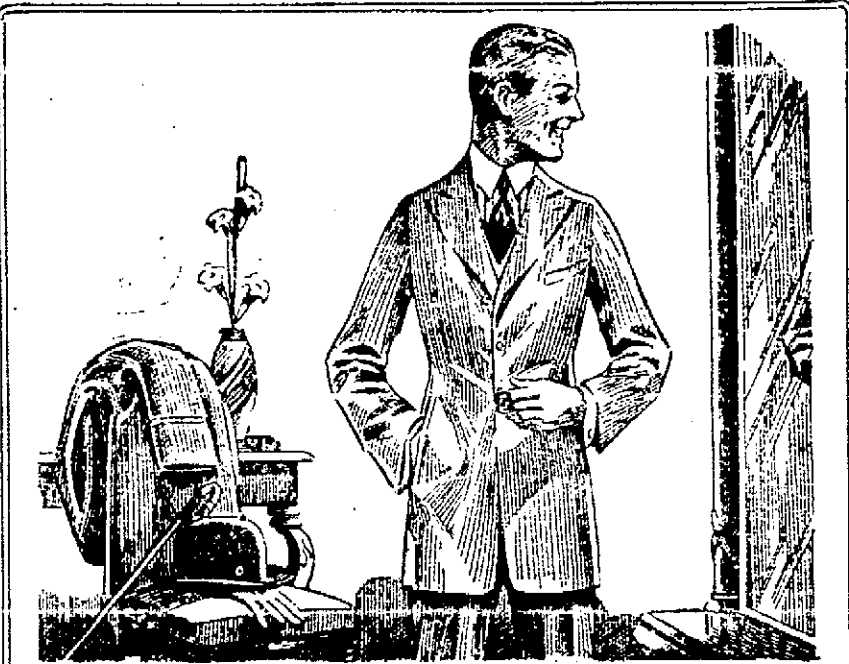

That the collision between the aerial fire truck and the Southern Pacific "dinky" Friday night at Sixth and Webster streets was solely due to the motorman of the electric car is the declaration of Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead.

It was stated by Whitehead that the Southern Pacific car was traveling at a high rate of speed towards Alameda, while the fire truck had slowed down to turn the corner. "The city should be reimbursed for the damage done to the truck, which is the most valuable single piece of fire apparatus in the department," Whitehead said.

Wrecked Submarine Crew Without Water

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, March 13.—Twenty-one members of the crew of the United States submarine H-1, which was wrecked on the Lower California coast, are ashore near Redondo Point, waiting aid, where they have been for at least twenty-four hours without water.

A wireless despatch, signed by Lieutenant Commander J. R. Cobl, in command of the wrecked submarine, stated the vessel had gone on the rocks on Santa Marguerita Island, off Magdalena bay. The despatch was addressed to authorities at La Paz, and picked up by the wireless station at Tucson, Ariz., and then forwarded here.

AMERICAN MURDERED IN MEXICO

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
MEXICO CITY, March 13.—Dan Foley, an American employed by the New England Oil Co. near Tampico, has been killed by Mexican workmen, the newspaper Excelsior said today. Foley, the newspaper said, killed a Mexican in a quarrel in an oil camp. Friends of the Mexican stabbed Foley to death.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Mexican Federal troops yesterday effected the release of Peter W. Summers, an American citizen recently kidnapped by bandits under Jesus Marella, at Santa Lucracia, the state department was advised today.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 13.—Carranza troops fired into a mob of clothing factory workers who were attempting to storm the penitentiary at Puebla, Mex., for the purpose of liberating three labor agitators, according to a report received here today. Several persons were reported killed.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Neither the state department nor the military intelligence service had reports on the supposed landing of arms at Manzanillo by a Japanese vessel, it was stated this afternoon. Military intelligence officers stated that a similar report some two months ago had been unfounded.

CHICAGO, March 13.—"Moneyed interests of the country" are back of a movement to start a war with Mexico, it was declared in an interview today with Professor Frederick Starr of the University of Chicago, who, a few days ago, predicted in an address that this country would be the conquest of Mexico shortly after the next Presidential election.

Gasoline Nears Forty Cent Mark, Oil Expert Says

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Forty-cent gasoline is in sight, according to Joseph Phelan, shipping board oil expert. "I shall not be surprised to see this record price reached in August or September," said Phelan. "It may not stop at forty cents."

"The increasing price of gas is due directly to the outrageous increase in consumption."

WOOD AND LOWDEN CONTINUE OUT AHEAD
Wood and Lowden continue out ahead in the Republican running, much to the satisfaction of the supporters of other candidates. The belief grows that unless there is a let-down in the pace they are setting they will have killed each other off long before the home stretch is reached in June. This might not be alarming from a party standpoint. Were it not for the fact that

SOUTH IS ACTIVE, BANKER REPORTS

Just returned from Southern California, though on a mission wholly precluding consideration of business financial matters, J. F. Carlson, president of Central National Bank, had much to say about the growth and activity everywhere manifest in the Los Angeles district. "Los Angeles," said he, "is a great city, a center of big movements and great accomplishments. It is a city of big conceptions, courageously supported and skillfully carried to completion. Everywhere in that city are visible evidences of an indomitable spirit, admirable in action and national in portent."
"But I am thinking, just now," he suddenly turned, "of who is to be our next President. All other matters must be subordinated to a wise convention choice and subsequent election. Never before have conditions so imperatively demanded a strong, far-seeing and truly national character. Even reconstruction days following the civil war were not more fraught with peril or gravely menaced by untoward circumstance than are the times immediately confronting us today."
"And one peculiar circumstance shrouds the present situation in profound obscurity," continued Carlson. "There is so far as I can see, no dominant candidate standing admittedly above his fellow aspirants or favorite sons. Good men aplenty there are, to be sure, but can you put your finger on the man? Harding and Lowden, are conspicuous, each with a clean record of accomplishment, but there are others. The difficulty is effecting national recognition and agreement upon the one most fit."
"It is a time for men to think, and think deeply; to think soberly and broadly, and to give and take counsel."

Babies or Brewers? Asks Lady Astor

LONDON, March 13.—American educational methods that helped to make the United States what is praised today by Viscountess Nancy Astor, M. P., who is waging a temperance fight in Great Britain. "In America the work for temperance was started fifty years ago in the schools," said she. "Children were taught the evil effects of alcohol. British children have not had that advantage, but they must be warned. It is a fight for the future generations. What is it to be, I ask, babies or brewers?"
"The drink control bill of the government must go further than the mere regulation of hours of sale. It should form the foundation of future prohibition."

Rain Delays Bisbee Deportation Trial

TOMBSTONE, Ariz., March 13.—One of Arizona's infrequent rains has come to delay picking of a jury to try the famous Bisbee kidnapping case.
"Dry" farmers of the fifth venire of one accused began to make excuses when the beautiful rain began to fall. They wanted to get home to put in their crops. Judge Pattee being a practical man, recognized the excuses as good ones, and turned the farmers loose.
Only forty-two of a venire of 300 drawn remained today. Only 123 of the venire had reported. All employees of the copper companies were excused, as before.

Uncle Sam Will Replace Burned Money

DENVER, March 13.—With numerous affidavits and the aid of local secret service agents, Mrs. F. E. Mantooth may receive perfectly good money from the Treasury Department for the $215 in currency that she tossed into her kitchen stove by mistake.
A bucket of water enabled her to recover the charred remains of the "roll" which are being sent to Washington for redemption.

MRS. WOODCOCK FREED ON BAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—After having been in jail since last November, despite continued efforts of her attorneys to secure her release, Mrs. Alice Woodcock, who was indicted by the grand jury on six counts for perjury, was this evening liberated on $5000 cash bail.

Warren C. Cooper, friend of Edgar Woodcock, who was charged with shooting Edward Kelly and who is being held in connection with the case, secured his release on bail in the same amount. Woodcock, who is under indictment and supposed to be somewhere in the city, has not been found.

HICCOUGHUS THIRTEEN DAYS
NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 13.—William J. Fitzgerald, lawyer, is in a critical condition as a result of hiccoughs from which he has been suffering for fifteen days. Several physicians have been called. John Bates, a policeman, who suffered from the same malady seven days, is reported to be recovering.

FIELD GOLD DENIED SON OF ACTRESS

BY UNITED PRESS.

CHICAGO, March 13.—The keen, analytical mind of Marshall Field considered the future and the great merchant did not provide for illegitimate descendants, Judge D. E. Sullivan ruled today.

Sullivan denied to Henry Anthony Marsh, son of Henry Field and Peggy Marsh, a share in the Field fortunes. Peggy Marsh, former chorus girl, met Henry Field, grandson of the millionaire, while playing in London as Peggy Woodcock. Of their romance was born Henry Anthony Marsh.

FRENCH TO BE TAUGHT IN ALSACE

METZ, March 13.—When the Germans were finally forced to return Alsace and Lorraine to France they left behind them one of the characteristic marks of the Teutonic system of imposing German culture in conquered lands. Although practically every grown person in the restored provinces is bi-lingual, speaking French and German, besides the local dialects, the children speak only the harsh, guttural tongue of the erstwhile rulers. French teachers and, in fact, the entire administration of Alsace-Lorraine are now endeavoring to instill French traditions, the French language and French civilization into their young minds.

M. Manceron, prefect of the department of the Moselle, who is taking a prominent part in the work, explained its organization as follows: "In every commune we have founded committees whose duty it is to group all students who have left school since 1914. Evening courses in French language, history and literature for these students have been started. These boys and girls are discovering a new France, a France vastly different from that painted for them by their German teachers, who devoted all their energy to demonstrating that France was decadent and that the only nation on the globe worth anything was Germany."

"We are gathering together all available French books to stock the schools and public libraries with the best in French literature, which the Germans, of course, took pains to exclude. We intend also to make use of the movies to counteract the effect of these five years during which French was verboten."

The guitar was introduced into Spain by the Moors.

Lack of Carfare Mars Love's Young Dream

CHICAGO, March 13.—"She was so young she didn't have much sense," Anthony Wilkies told Judge Trade in the court of domestic relations. He was referring to his bride of a month, 16-year-old Anna Wilkies, who had him arrested on a charge of desertion and non-support.

"He chased me around the house and didn't give me car fare to go home," sobbed Anna.

Turkey is preparing for large building enterprises and is looking to the United States for its lumber.

More Than 3000 Expected to Take Part in the Yearly Clash.

Track training in preparation for the spring meet of April 19 and April 20, is taking up the entire time of playground boys and directors. The hours after school before dark are scarcely long enough to get in all the practice in the broad jump, pole vault, short dash and other events in which each small boy longs to excel.

Probably no other activity on the playground excites more enthusiasm in the children or is productive of immediate effects in sturdy physical development than these track meets.

WILL SLEEP IN CARS

BERLIN, March 13.—The newspapers report that in consequence of the shortage of houses and the fact that the large hotels are occupied by allied missions, the government has decided that all available sleeping cars on the railway shall be utilized to provide sleeping accommodations for travelers at Berlin.

that are said to be the largest and best regulated meets in the country. Last year's meet saw an entry list of three thousand boys and this year bids fair to surpass that by at least a thousand.

Inter and intra-playground meets are being conducted on all grounds to lead up to the larger affair.

DOCTOR ACCORDS LOW-NECK GOOD BILL OF HEALTH

LONDON, March 13.—A low-necked blouse isn't a "pneumonia" blouse at all—it's a health-giving, life-saving garment.

Anyone doubting this statement is at liberty to consult Professor Leonard Hill, who has been making investigations for the Medical Research Committee.

A bashful man would shrink from investigating so flimsy and decollete a portion of women's wearing apparel. But Professor Hill isn't bashful.

He investigated and made discoveries, all in the sacred cause of Science.

He asserted that the blouse does not cause pneumonia, but is conducive to good health—the open neck acting as a chimney to the clothes, letting heat and moisture escape.

Of the 101,000 women employed in the railway service prior to the armistice, $2,294 remained in service in January.

Washing Soiled Money Is Violation of Law

CHICAGO, March 13.—Lucrifer may be filthy, but you can't wash it without violating a federal statute which forbids the mutilation of currency. Hence, Captain Thomas L. Porter, head of the government secret service in Chicago, stopped the demonstration of a washing machine here in which 250 one-dollar bills were being laundered. "Them that are filthy let them be filthy still,"

NINE HOURS' FLIGHT SEEN ACROSS U. S.

By LAURENCE L. DRIGGS, President of the American Flying Club.

(Written for the United Press.)
NEW YORK, March 13.—In the future an airplane may fly in nine hours across the continent in nine hours—speed rate 300 miles an hour.

The preliminary work for such a flight is now under way in the engineering department of the army air service. Several private firms are also working toward it. It is not a dream of hope.

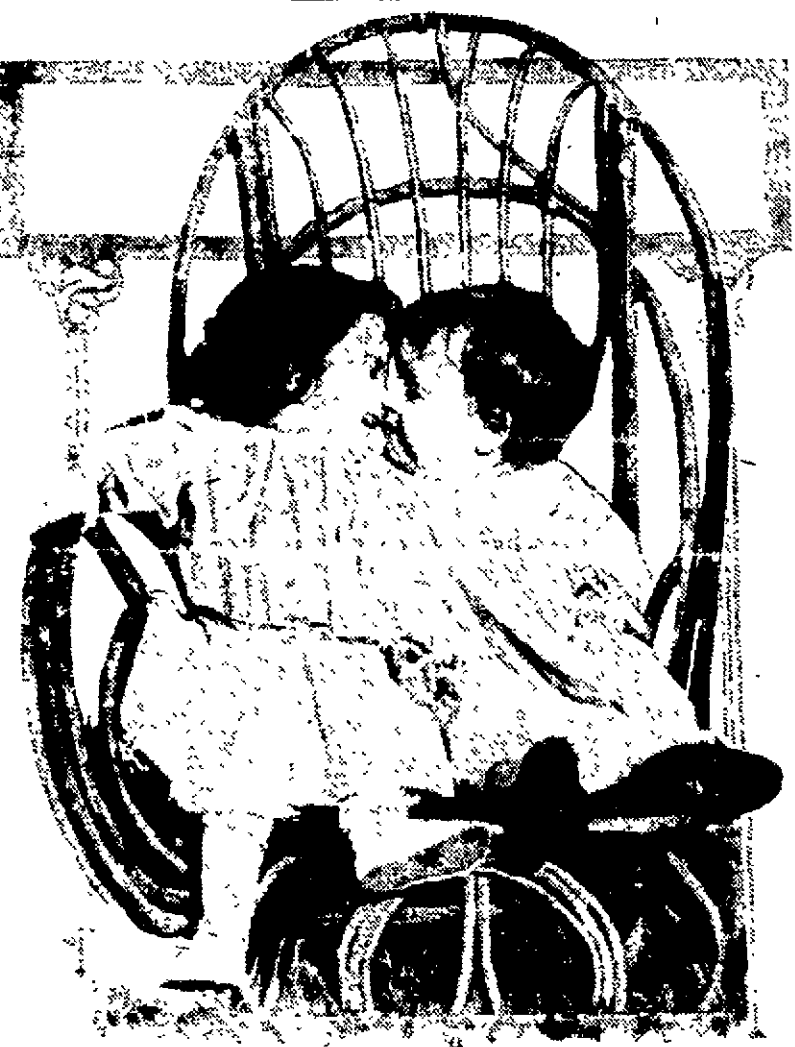

A flight with engines firmly believed will be achieved as soon as the several necessary factors can be incorporated in one plane. These factors have all been proved on separate planes.

The nine-hour transcontinental plane would have to be a climber that could pass the 30,000 foot level; it would have to have a useful load carrying capacity to permit to carry fuel for nine hours, and it would have to be engineered so as to have a speed through still air in excess of 100 miles per hour at the flying altitude.

FLAT IS ACHIEVED
The climbing quality has been proved on planes of several types. The 30,000 foot level has been passed by the flyers of "extra" countries. To reach the level was a stunt last year, this year it will be ordinary. Scores of planes have records of more than nine hours sustained flight. Practically all planes have speeds of more than 100 miles per hour, but this rate goes down with decreased engine efficiency due to the rarefied air of the higher levels. The problem has been met in some instances with superchargers, mechanical devices to maintain the oxygen supply for the engine. This device is being perfected.

When the several necessary factors are incorporated in one plane it can ascend at San Francisco, and when it reaches the 30,000 foot level will find itself in the grip of a wind blowing it toward the east at more than 100 miles an hour. This wind is steady and constant. It goes with the rotation of the earth. Thus if the plane has a speed of 175 miles per hour in still air and the air a speed of 125 miles per hour relative to the earth would be 300 miles an hour.

Home Is International Nursery; Salvation Army Refuge Busy

"You rub my nose and I'll rub yours." These happy little tots are but two of thirty that the stork has deposited at The Salvation Army's Maternity Home in Oakland. The "full house" sign is to be painted in the language of the stork on the roof of the home.

Thirty Babies Being Cared For: Many Young Mothers Aided

Opportunity may knock but once at the door of some folks, but Commandant Norma D. Hudspeth, in charge of the Salvation Army's Rescue and Maternity Home in Oakland, feels that opportunity has taken a firm hold on the home's door and refuses to let go.

With the arrival of an eight-pound baby last week the home was broken all records by having a "capacity" house of thirty babies.

These babies include one pickaninny and one little Hawaiian maid. All of the rest are white, but they represent a half-dozen nationalities.

Some conception of the volume of this form of social work performed on the Salvation Army's Oakland home is gained from the fact that during the last twelve months sixty babies were born and provided for in the home. During the same period the mothers of these babies were cared for in the home.

Commandant Hudspeth cherishes the title of "home" in speaking of the place. She says that it is only home and home care that make it possible for the Salvation Army to accomplish this complete restoration of 80 per cent of the girls seeking refuge within it.

"When it is realized that the average age of the girl about to be a mother who applies here is but fifteen years it is easy to understand the mother love and not institutional care that is necessary to adequately care for these cases," said Commandant Hudspeth.

"Many of the girls are even under this age. We have two at present who are but thirteen. The problem of the mother is an even greater problem than that of the child. The Salvation Army not only has to let the girl to perform her duties of mother, but it has to let her to perform them as well as accomplish her spiritual regeneration."

The Salvation Army never separates a mother from her child. Both are provided for in the home until such time as a place is found for both. It is a largely through the mother love and interest in the child that the Salvation Army accomplishes its object in her moral regeneration.

The Army operates a similar home in Los Angeles. These two provide for more than 200 girls annually, and more than 150 babies. These girls come either voluntarily to the home or are sent by the courts.

Through the extension of the Salvation Army's home service program into the country districts the Army hopes to utilize these institutions to meet more fully than at present in meeting the social needs of the state.

Mother Returning With Body of Hero

CHICAGO, March 13.—It required just a touch of struggling against government red tape for a gold star mother to obtain the body of her son from France.

She is Mrs. James T. De Vere of Chicago. All three of her sons, James, Edward and John, went to war. James who was 18 years old, was wounded during the fighting before Metz, three days before the armistice was signed, and died nine days later. The mother immediately requested that his body be sent to Chicago. Delay after delay intervened.

Finally, on December 16 last, the mother went to France. After agreeing to defray all expenses for transportation and transportation, she obtained a permit to remove the body. She is returning with the body on the steamship Britannia.

Would Evict Tenant Who Housed Relatives

CHICAGO, March 13.—Sue to evict a tenant because the latter portended relatives to visit him in his apartment, was filed here by a landlord. Robert R. Barnett is the tenant. The landlord, Solomon H. Halpern, charges that Barnett permitted his mother-in-law and father-in-law to live with him for four days. Halpern bases his suit on an ordinance which forbids a landlord to permit a tenant to occupy his apartment with more than one family without the consent of the landlord.

As this clause is in most leases issued here, Halpern generally is taking much interest in the case. The judge has postponed his decision.

THIEF HOLDS FALL DUE TO LOVE ASTRAY

BERKELEY, March 13.—Blaming all of his troubles upon a girl who refused to return his love, Lewis Venneman, alias James Wood, confessed automobile thief and deserter from the navy, today told the Berkeley police of a plot to kill both himself and Miss Helen Hauser of San Francisco.

According to Venneman he met the young woman on a train between Chicago and San Francisco, while returning in February from a trip to Buffalo, taken on furlough. He confesses falling immediately in love and declares that after he called on the girl a number of times the latter's mother broke the news to him that her daughter was engaged to be married to another man.

It was then Venneman declares that he jumped ship at Yerba Buena Island, went to San Francisco and sold his uniform for money to buy a gun and do away with both himself and the object of his unrequited affection. While hatching details of his plot, Venneman declares he came to Berkeley and walked until he was tired. Then he said he jumped into the first automobile he could find and drove off.

The automobile, the property of J. W. Alejo, a student at the University of California, residing at 2333 Ward street, proved his undoing at Salinas, and from there he was brought to Berkeley to face a charge of grand larceny.

Venneman is 22 years old, a native of South Carolina, and an upholsterer by occupation. He declares that love is a terrible thing and that it caused him "much despair and trouble." When arrested he said that he had just made up his mind to forget women once and for all and to "leave things as they stood." The gun which he planned to use on himself and Miss Hauser was found in the automobile by the Salinas authorities. Venneman has refused to disclose Miss Hauser's address.

Dempsey Faces New Trouble in Court

LOS ANGELES, March 13.—Trouble appeared today to be multiplying for Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight, who became involved some time ago in a charge of having conspired to evade the draft. It was stated at the Federal building that the government had gained possession of thirty-one documents written by Mrs. Maxine Dempsey, divorced wife of the pugilist.

The letters are said to have been largely devoted to pleas to the woman to assist Dempsey in his alleged plans to evade the draft.

It was also stated authoritatively today that if the slacker charge against Dempsey fails he will have to face an accusation of having violated the Mann Act.

Classes in Make-Up at Fremont Popular;
High School Girls Learn to Enhance Beauty

A reporter traced a bevy of irresistible Fremont high school beauties to the source of their complexion and found the make-up class of the Dramatic Workshop at work. Left to right are the MISSES LOIS JACOBS, ELIZABETH MEECHAN and HELEN WRIGHT.

Expert Instruction Given Dramatic Students in Mysteries of Lipstick and Rouge

Fremont high school, Forty-sixth avenue and Foothill boulevard, boasts the only public school class in the United States in facial make-up wherein girls students are taught the application of rouge, lipstick and eyebrow pencil with artistic niceties.

The class, which includes fifty students, forms a part of the full course in dramatic interpretation covered by the activities of the Dramatic Workshop, as the class is named.

Each of the students has a professional make-up box of various shades of rouge, lipsticks and eyebrow pencils and all of the instruments necessary for their application. Seated at tables with mirrors before them they spend their class period in applying the colorings to their faces according to instructions from L. W. Jacobsen, instructor of the class, and are graded according to the degree of beauty they obtain.

Of course they learn other kinds of make-up besides the girl-on-the-magazine-cover types. But since they have learned to make themselves like the cover of the latest issue of the Many-Story magazine, it has been impossible to keep the girls from applying their newly-acquired arts outside of class, Jacobsen says.

When the class was first organized, the plan was criticized by persons who maintained that modern girls use too much rouge and lipstick as well as without teaching them how and giving it the official sanction of school authorities.

The girls for their part defend their work and say that the artistry with which they are now able to apply the "aides de complexione" is so complete that the use of rouge is no longer being criticized.

Special attention is being given in the make-up class now to the perfect characterization of the parts in four one-act plays which are to be publicly presented by the Dramatic Workshop in the auditorium of the school on the evenings of March 25 and 26.

Dressed as Women
Bandit Gang Works
Under Police Eyes

SACRAMENTO, March 13.—Bandits have operated in Sacramento for the last month dressed as women while looting, police declared this afternoon, following the arrest of three Mexicans, alleged members of the gang, and the seizure of $5000 worth of loot.

In the room in which the loot was found police also discovered dresses, wigs, paint, powder and all the other articles necessary to masquerade as a woman.

The loot consists of jewelry, silverware and a large assortment of women's clothes.

WASHINGTON, March 13.—Dr. A. L. Shelton, an American missionary, who was kidnapped by Chinese bandits some weeks ago while traveling with his wife and two daughters, has been released, according to reports to the State Department today.

Piedmont Pupils
TO HAVE SCHOOL

The question of educating Piedmont high school students until the new buildings in that city are erected is worrying John W. Cooper, superintendent of the Piedmont schools.

In reply to a communication from E. Morris Cox of the Oakland department, Cooper expresses the willingness of Piedmont to reimburse Oakland for the cost of educating these students and says that if the plan is not acceptable Piedmont will erect temporary shacks and undertake the task. Cooper's statement follows:

"The Piedmont school board emphatically intends to take care of its own high school pupils and has asked the voters to vote bonds for this purpose on March 25. This will provide the solution to the problem with which you confront us."

"It is obvious that a high school building in the Piedmont district next August. If you can find room to keep Piedmont pupils until our building is ready and there is an illegal way to reimburse Oakland for the cost of their education, I will be glad to talk the matter over with you and believe we can reach an agreement which will be just."

"If, however, Oakland must exclude Piedmont pupils next August, we shall proceed to find housing facilities even though it necessitates the erection of cheap, inexpensive shacks."

Edwards to Keep
Name Off Primary

TRENTON, N. J., March 13.—Governor Edward I. Edwards today announced he would not permit his name to be placed on the Presidential preferential primaries in different states of the country. In a letter to Ora L. Swain, who filed the Edwards nomination petition in Indiana, Governor Edwards said he believed the San Francisco convention should be composed of unpledged Democrats, free to choose their own candidate. Edwards declared he would make an effort to incorporate an anti-prohibition plank in the Democratic platform at the national convention.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 13.—Governor Edwards of New Jersey will be permitted to withdraw his name from the Illinois Presidential primary.

BAN UPON
RED FLAG IS NULLED

Oakland authorities will be powerless to suppress the carrying of red flags or the displaying of red flags from windows or from over the doors of meeting places in this city, according to a decision handed down yesterday in the supreme court in San Francisco in regard to a city ordinance in Los Angeles. This ordinance, which makes it unlawful for a person or organization to display publicly or privately, or to have in possession any flag, insignia or other emblem representative of any society which has as its purpose espousal "for the people of the United States of America principles or theories of government antagonistic to the constitution and laws" of America, was declared unconstitutional.

The decision was rendered in the granting of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed by Anna Hartman and Dave Weisman of Los Angeles. Sentenced each to serve 120 days in jail for a violation of the ordinance.

Oakland has a city ordinance similar to that of Los Angeles. According to the decision may be applied to the Oakland city ordinance as well as to that of Los Angeles. According to Hagan the new ruling will affect the carrying of red flags in California, which was drafted for the purpose of preventing the carrying or displaying of red flags in public places.

"I see no way of getting out from under the decision," said Hagan last night. "The decision renders our police force powerless to prevent the displaying of red flags in Oakland."

RIGHTS ARE CITED
"Nothing would seem to be more certain than that the inhabitants of the United States have both individually and collectively the right to advocate peaceable changes to our constitution, laws, or form of government by the use of the ballot box."

Although such changes may be based upon theories or principles of government antagonistic to those which now serve as their basis.

The decision was pointed out to the enactment of the statute of 1919 defining criminal syndicalism and sabotage, and the latter differs essentially from the former in providing that unlawful acts of force or unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing industrial or political changes, shall constitute criminal offenses.

The quality of criminality to acts which under the constitution are, it is quite apparent, permissible and within the law."

In such interpretation of the ordinance the court ruled:

"The language of the ordinance is so broad and comprehensive as to render criminal the display or possession of the flag or emblem of a peaceful organization or society which espoused or advocated amendment of the federal constitution or of our form of government, national or state, in respect to the quality of criminality to acts which under the constitution are, it is quite apparent, permissible and within the law."

One of the concluding paragraphs of the decision reads as follows:

"And it seems equally certain that an organization peaceably advocating such changes may adopt a flag or emblem signifying its purpose and that the display or possession of such flag or emblem cannot be an unlawful act."

The ordinance under which Anna Hartman and Dave Weisman were convicted reads in part as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to display publicly or privately, or to have in possession within the city of Los Angeles any flag, insignia, emblem or device of any nature whatsoever representative of any nation, sovereignty, society, association, or organization, or any organized effort of any nature whatsoever, which in its purposes, practices, official declaration or by its constitution, by-laws or regulation, espouses for the people of America principles or theories of government antagonistic to the constitution and laws of the United States of America, as to the form of the government thereof as now constituted."

Soulmate Utopia Is

Man Seeks Divorce

Mrs. J. L. Bonebrake Mrs. Jesse L. Bonebrake was in the nest yesterday but Mrs. John Lyle had flown and Mrs. Bonebrake professed to know nothing of her whereabouts and refused to talk about John Lyle, except to say that the couple were old and dear friends of hers and also of her husband.

A divorce complaint filed by Bonebrake apparently was the rock upon which the little nest was wrecked. Bonebrake charged that his wife holds eclectic theories of love and matrimony, that she has left her home at 930 Madison street and had gone to live with her alleged soulmate, John Lyle, in the plant further alleges that Mrs. Bonebrake had sent him word that she was "better wedded" and included a picture showing the wife with Lyle's arm entwined about her.

Mrs. Bonebrake says the picture was taken on a Sunday picnic when both couples were together and showed a series of snapshots of the quartet and one of her husband in a similar pose with Mrs. Lyle. "I wouldn't touch a hair of his head, all I stand for is right and a chance to live according to my principles. I would not harm a bug or even a worm, much less a human being," she concluded.

According to Bonebrake, the community property consists of a $5000 life insurance policy. His complaint stated that he was afraid Mrs. Bonebrake would kill him in order to enjoy the insurance. Mrs. Bonebrake ridicules the thought.

BERKELEY IS DESERTED IN WATER PLAN

Turned down by the city of Richmond in plans for a public utility district, Berkeley will proceed alone to acquire a municipal water supply, according to a statement today of Mayor Louis Bartlett.

The mayor's statement followed a conference held yesterday afternoon at the city hall between Berkeley and Richmond officials, in which the latter declared that the council of the neighboring city had decided not to go ahead with the plan.

Mayor James Long and City Attorney Daniel Hall represented Richmond in the conference.

Richmond's action will cause the Berkeley council to rescind action calling for a special election May 4 to submit to the voters of the college city a proposal to join with Richmond in a public utility district. That Berkeley will undoubtedly proceed alone was the declaration today of Mayor Bartlett, who says that the cost of acquiring a water supply from the Alpine dam in Marin county is well within the financial ability of the city.

Should Berkeley decide to proceed alone it will be necessary to call but one election, at which a proposal to bond the city for a water system would be submitted directly to the voters. It is estimated that Marin county supply can be secured by Berkeley for between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

Financiers to Leave

Children in Health Center Pleased With Auto Ride to Have Tooth Pulled

A new kind of scout has sprung up in Oakland. This row is made up of "food scouts" who are being specially fed to restore their little bodies to normal under direction of the children's health centers.

Fairy Stories Are Told Youngsters in Order to Get Them to Eat Beneficial Food

Tooth-pulls, instead of candy-pulls, are fast becoming the most envied form of amusement at the Children's Health Centers that have been started in various districts of Oakland under the direction of Dr. Alvin Powell, head of the Oakland Health Center, with Dr. Edna W. Bailey as acting director, and Miss Gertrude N. Whitton as supervisor. At present they have only four of these started, at the Lazear, Prescott, Tompkins and Technical high schools, but they hope some day to have one in every school.

Through the children's branches they are helping to make better citizens for the future by making the lives of these children, healthier and happier. One of their little patients, 7-year-old Freddie Gill, is today minus two tonsils and five bad teeth, which he lost at the Alameda County Public Health Center, at Thirty-first and Grove streets, and at the Baby Hospital, at Fifty-first and Dover streets, respectively. Any pain connected with his operations has been totally forgotten in the joy of trips to and from the hospital in an automobile and in delightful picture books. His glowing reports of the pleasures of losing one's tonsils and teeth are making all his little playmates anxious for the day when they, too, shall travel the same road. They are continually asking when they are going in an automobile to have a "tooth-pull" or to have their tonsils "cut," or if they can't be a food scout.

"SAVE THE YOUNGEST" is the slogan of the Children's Health Centers, so they are confining their work almost exclusively to the babies of the community and the children in the first three grades. The Americanization cottages at the Lazear, Prescott and Tompkins schools are used for the health center. Here the children are weighed and measured by the Americanization nurse, Miss Hartwick at Lazear, Miss Prescott at Tompkins, Mrs. Wagner at Prescott, and Miss Schneidau at Tech. They are then examined by a doctor, who gives an hour a week to this work without charge. They are Dr. Clifford Sweet at Lazear, Dr. May Walker at Tompkins, Dr. Leila Beebe at Prescott, and Dr. Hester Sutherland at Technical.

The children found by them to be ten percent below normal weight are put into nutrition classes, where they are given two meals a day, breakfast and lunch, prepared by the home economics departments, under the direction of Miss Florence La Gaine and a nutrition student from the University of California. These young women get the children to like the food they should eat by telling them fairy tales about the little vegetable friends who help children to grow, and the old Witch Coffee, whom all little children should avoid. The children who eat what they are told are rewarded by stars, candy and other things dear to the heart of a child. Gains in height and weight are rewarded in the same way.

Members of this group are the proud possessors of arm bands bearing the same food scout. The funds necessary to maintain this work are coming from the Health Center, the Red Cross and the Anti-Tuberculosis Society, which is giving the money derived from the sale of Christmas seals. The Red Cross and the Health Center have each contributed $1000 for the equipment of a dental chair and $200 a month for its maintenance. The Red Cross has also given $400 for the equipment of an orthopedic clinic, where bent bones will be straightened, and $100 for the training of crippled children in useful arts. In providing $1000 for the feeding of the tots in the nutrition classes, the Christmas Seal fund is doing much towards the prevention of tuberculosis, and physical inefficiency.

Fire Prevention is Taught Boy Scouts

ALAMEDA, March 13.—The Alameda Boy Scouts received last night instructions in fire prevention, through the exhibition of the fire prevention film recently taken by the Pacific Coast Underwriters in Southern California and in which Fire Chief Walter Steinmetz of Alameda and Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead of Oakland took part. The Alameda fire chief also rigged a fire alarm box at the Boy Scout headquarters and each troop was shown how to turn in a fire alarm and given instructions to stay by the box till the apparatus arrived.

This Is His Anniversary Week--

JUST A YEAR AGO John Wharry Lewis returned for a triumphal engagement at the American Theatre.

ONE SOLID YEAR of triumphs has marked his daily appearances with his splendid orchestra. For John Wharry Lewis is beloved of those who love music—and who realize that perfect music makes the perfect picture.

HIS WONDERFUL ORCHESTRA stands alone among musical organizations. Every man a soloist in his own right; every artist playing as a unit in a wonderful orchestra—their music is truly perfect.

THE CROWDS LOVE this orchestra. It is a theatrical institution; a part of Oakland's very civic life.

LEWIS ANNIVERSARY WEEK at the American is notable in theatrical affairs; and theater-goers hope it is but a milestone of a long future of success for the noted musician and the American.

A SPECIAL SCORE has been arranged by Mr. Lewis for the feature picture, "THE LITTLE SHEPHERD OF KINGDOM COME," and a selection of Southern melodies has been chosen for the overture. A new novelty number, "The Yellow Dog Blues," will also be introduced this week.

MEETING TO PLAN PEACE IN SHIPYARDS

A second step in the campaign of thirty prominent civic organizations to end the reign of terror which, since last December, has been directed against workers in the shipyards, will be taken tomorrow evening at a meeting to which has been invited a number of city and county officials as well as women's clubs, fraternal orders and other organizations.

Among those asked to attend and who have signified their intention to be present are: Sheriff Frank Barlow, P. F. Morse, commissioner of public health and safety; Chief J. P. Lynch, Mayor John L. Davies, and Ezra Decoto, district attorney.

A record of the twenty-seven assaults committed against shipyard workers and of an equal number of threats and intimidations will be put before these organizations and further action will be taken to safeguard the workers and their families.

The meeting follows close upon that of Friday night, when the thirty organizations went on record as protesting against the assaults, and pledged their aid to support the authorities in any action to put an end to them.

The announcement of the plans of the conference have brought favorable response from all parts of the city, many other organizations having expressed their determination to give their active support.

SENDS PLEA TO SAVE STARVING

The plight of the residents of Vienna is vividly told in an appeal for aid received by Rex W. Minkley, manager of the American theater, from Richard Wisenberger, a motion picture man of Vienna, who has written his story in imperfect English in a handwriting of perfect legibility and precision. "A girl of my time age of six years is without food for two years," he writes in telling of the serious conditions of famine that exist in Austria.

Wisenberger secured the name of Minkley, he explains, in a roundabout way, having read a brief article in a motion picture trade journal concerning a novel advertising stunt used by the American theater recently.

The letter is as follows:

Dear Sir—Excuse very kindly if I take the liberty of troubling you with a request being of such importance for me and mine. Though I am unknown to you, yet I venture to solicit a great favor from you. The full confidence I have in your kindness and humanity emboldens me to give you this liberty. You probably know that there is in Vienna such a great misery that many children are dying of cold and hunger. I am not able to describe in English all the distress in our town.

In order to relieve this dreadful state, Mr. Hoover has permitted that every American can buy a "Food Draft" and can send it to an inhabitant of Vienna. The receiver of such a draft obtains some food for it.

But I am sorry to have neither a friend or any relationship in America. Therefore I have allowed me to write to you. The fact that I am also employed in the moving picture industry encourages me to pray you as follows:

Please be so kindly to support me with some oats and milk for my family. We have but nothing to eat here. No potatoes, no flour, no fat and milk. I am in the line of age of six years is without any milk for two years. Only herb is our food day by day. Please don't throw away this letter, it is my only hope. And if you intend to buy a draft for me, purchase the cheapest. It may cost two or three dollars. It will be, I assure you, the most precious Easter present I ever got.

When you have conceived yourself about our bad situation you will, I am sure, see that I have not deserved my fate and will, I trust and hope, help in my need.

At last I have the honor to inform you that I found a page of a book in the office on which I saw your name and address. The postcard I received from the American Relief administration.

Hoping and in full confidence in your kindness and generosity, I shall ever remain, sir, your most obedient and thankful servant.

RICHARD WISENBERGER,
14 Reichsplatz, 12,
Vienna, Austria.

SCIENCE CHURCH CHANGES LOOM

BOSTON, March 13.—Important changes in the government of the Christian Science mother church were predicted tonight as a result of factional differences culminating in the resignation of the editor of two of the publications and two members of his staff.

William P. McKenzie, editor of the Sentinel, a weekly, and the Journal, a monthly; Mr. Hoag, associate editor, and E. B. Seeley, secretary, resigned yesterday because of refusal to publish three letters which appeared in the Christian Science Monitor of an "unreligious nature."

The letters contained two statements of the trustees of the publishing society of one of the directors of the mother church. It was learned, setting forth the position of both sides in the dispute which has grown out of the law suit between the trustees of the publishing house and the directors.

Wagon Used as Hearse For 400-Pound Man

NEW YORK, March 13.—Philip Kuppel of Garwood, N. J., weighing 400 pounds, was buried in an especially built casket. The coffin was carried on an open wagon.

Kuppel, who was born in Newark thirty-six years ago, died following an attack of influenza. He was a banker, but recently had been in action pictures.

MATE KILLS MASCOT

95-YEAR-OLD BOY IS SOME KICKER; SPRY AS EDISON

STEVENS POINT, Wis., March 12.—Truman Rice laughed at a reporter who told him the other day Thomas A. Edison had kicked as high as his head on his seventy-third birthday.

"That's nothing," said Rice, who, by the way, has lived through 83 winters. "I can do that." And he proceeded to demonstrate.

Rice used to be 5 feet 1 1/2 inches tall, but in recent years he has lost an inch and a half. On the occasion of his birthday the other day he advised those present to "work hard" if they wished to have a long life.

Americanization Course Is Planned U. of C. Will Open Institute

As part of a sustained Americanization effort toward the organization of citizenship in Oakland, the extension division of the University of California will open on Monday, March 12, a community service institute. The classes will meet in the auditorium of the Oakland Technical high school and the courses will continue for five weeks.

Professor Leon J. Richardson, director of university extension, has secured the co-operation of the state board of education and the state commissions of housing and immigration, and through those agencies has obtained the assistance of able teachers and experts.

The Oakland school department is prominently represented in the faculty of the university extension courses. Among the instructors will be Miss Ethel Swain, Americanization department, and Miss Hilda Youngberg.

TO LOCALIZE PROBLEMS.
"So far as possible in the courses to be given," says Professor Richardson, "lectures and conferences will bear on the local opportunities and problems of Oakland and adjacent centers. The students will do their field work under conditions giving real experience and making possible a demonstration by the student of practical capacity. The Oakland Institute is planned on the basis of experience gained at the previous institutes in Los Angeles, Fresno and San Francisco, with the object of giving all needed subject-matter without over-fatiguing students or overcrowding the course with theory."

Full information concerning the institute may be secured at the office of University Extension, 304 California Hall, Berkeley, or the Oakland Chamber of Commerce rooms, Hotel Oakland, 140 Kearny street, San Francisco. Registrations may be made at the Berkeley and San Francisco offices.

The institute will be under the general direction of John Collier, lecturer for the extension division.

The following series of lectures and conference studies will be given by Collier:

THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM. With special reference to Americanization, a study of the immigrant in various industrial activities, in practical politics, in naturalization. The distribution of immigration and the history of California state efforts in dealing with immigration.

REMEMBER TO BE SHOWN.
Community organization and community service. A history of the work of forms of community co-operation, including the grange and the farm bureau; educational and social development of labor movement. The discussion will treat of the methods by which the church, the school and departments of health, housing and correction can render mutual aid and provide civic leadership for the people.

The public school as a center of adult education, with special reference to immigrants; a discussion of methods for bringing the immigrant through classes and night school work into contact with the civic, social and industrial life of Oakland.

Community Organization in Oakland. Local possibilities for the development of recreation and co-operative art, of health education, community centers; the neighborhood needs of Oakland and adjacent centers.

Lectures by Professor Edgar Dawson, University of California, will be on teaching of government in American schools.

The hours of the lecture series conferences have been arranged so as not to conflict with other activities of the students. The fee for single lecture courses is $5, $3 for the shorter courses. A fee of $10 secures entrance to all courses.

Stranded Aristocrats Crowd Swiss Resorts

GENEVA, March 12.—Princesses, countesses, baronesses and other refuge Russians are living in a terrible state of poverty and misery here, despite every effort to help them.

The majority of the refugees live in the best hotels at the resorts surrounding Lake Geneva, pawning their jewels to defray their expenses, hoping against hope for funds from Moscow or Petrograd, until the last of their valuables are gone.

Numerous cases of suicide have occurred. Three members of the Russian nobility have been found drowned in Lake Geneva, near Montreux and Teritet. One was a baroness, whose dead hand still wore a valuable diamond ring. Another a countess had a few jewels, but only a dollar in her purse.

Cherry's Displays Smart Polo Coats

CHERRY CHAT (Of Ten Stores)

Among the many distinctive style innovations introduced by Cherry's are a number of very striking polo coats, embodying the latest ideas in design.

Polo Coats promise to be more than ever popular this spring, and Cherry's is well prepared to meet the demand for these attractive garments.

Cherry's prices are consistent with the policy of this house to offer the maximum of value for the least possible price, and, of course, Cherry's convenient monthly terms are a very strong added inducement.

Theater Tickets in Russia Worth $250

BERLIN, March 13.—The Petrograd Pravda says that the nominal price of a concert ticket when the "people's singer," Chakapin, performs is 270 roubles (formerly $185), but as all seats are bought by speculators, the real price is 500 roubles ($250).

"Workmen," says the newspaper, "can never enter the theater. How can they, when the best seats are taken by dealers in tobacco, cigarettes and matches, who carry on a profitable business?"

Refuses $5,000,000 For 300 Portraits

LONDON, March 13.—Mr. William Orpen, a distinguished artist, has refused an offer of $5,000,000 for painting 300 portraits, which is said to have been made to him by an American. He said:

"It is quite true the offer of $5,000,000 to paint portraits came to me from America. To complete such a contract, however, would take far more than the ordinary lifetime—it might take as long as 300 years."

RAINS MAKE PLANTING NOW SAFE

Those Who Have Hesitated About Putting in Gardens and Fruit Trees Rushing to Carry Out Original Plans

Experts Say That There is Now No Fear of Lack of Moisture and That Artificial Irrigation Will Carry Work

The recent rains have caused a most remarkable horticultural and agricultural revival in the entire bay country. Those who have hesitated about spring planting either for gardens or for fields are now making plans for elaborate installations, and nurseries are doing a rushing business. As a matter of fact, the recent rains have extended the planting season for at least two months. While, under ordinary circumstances, the time for planting trees, shrubs and flowers would now be passing, with the moisture conditions of the present it is only just beginning.

George C. Roeding, president of the state agricultural society, and the state agricultural nursery company at Niles, passed through Oakland this week on his way to Fresno. "I have just been through the Santa Clara valley," said Mr. Roeding, "and through that wonderful section between San Jose and Oakland, and find that planting of almost any kind can be done through the present month and through April. The late rains all went into the ground, and with the most ordinary rainfall from now on trees, plants and shrubs will thrive. The case of gardens there is enough moisture to carry any ordinary planting with artificial irrigation. The recent rains were peculiarly favorable, even with late planting. It looks now as if no fear of a water shortage need worry those who contemplate planting a garden or fruit trees."

Gossip of the Eastbay Business World

The Arcadia Dancing Pavilion is taking on a finished appearance. Manager M. A. Fisher is a constant visitor on the premises. The electrical equipment is being installed by the General Electric Company and will be, when finished, the most complete and modern electric display place in Oakland.

J. H. Kraus Jr., assistant manager of the Johnson Electric Washer Company is supervising the construction of the Johnson plant at Fortieth and Adeline streets. C. P. Johnson, president of the company, was an Oakland visitor this week and reported that the sale and popularity of the Johnson washer is increasing daily.

Consulting Engineer Hickman, of the Vegetable Oil Corporation, is in charge of the electric installation of the oil company's new Snyder street plant. When completed, the plant will have installed in the neighborhood of 1000 horsepower in electric motors.

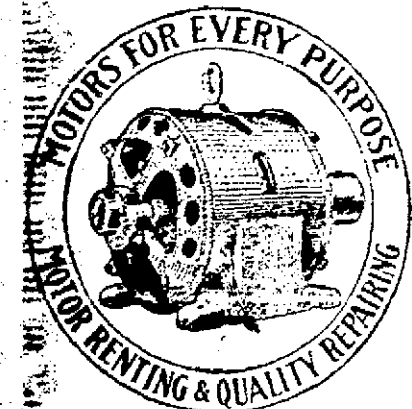

Consulting Engineer McLaren, is laying out an increase for the Strydom Separator Company's plant at Gilman and Second streets, West Berkeley, which will bring their equipment up to 1000 horsepower capacity in power drive. The Strydom Company are now installing a transformer house, where three large transformers to the Western Power Company are being installed to furnish power for their machinery. H. R. Sander, treasurer of the Strydom Company, is in charge of the plant.

R. V. Daniels, manager of the Seal-Right Company, Fifth and Wood streets, reports this plant having sold out up to their April first delivery. Seal-Right products are of the paper container variety, which have become so popular since the scarcity of other materials.

H. E. Woodward of Seattle, vice-president of the Pneumatic Steel-Jobs Company, with headquarters at the Parr Terminal offices, contemplates the erection of a copper smelting plant on the Parr-Terminal wharves in the near future. Machinery and other apparatus is expected daily from the manufacturers.

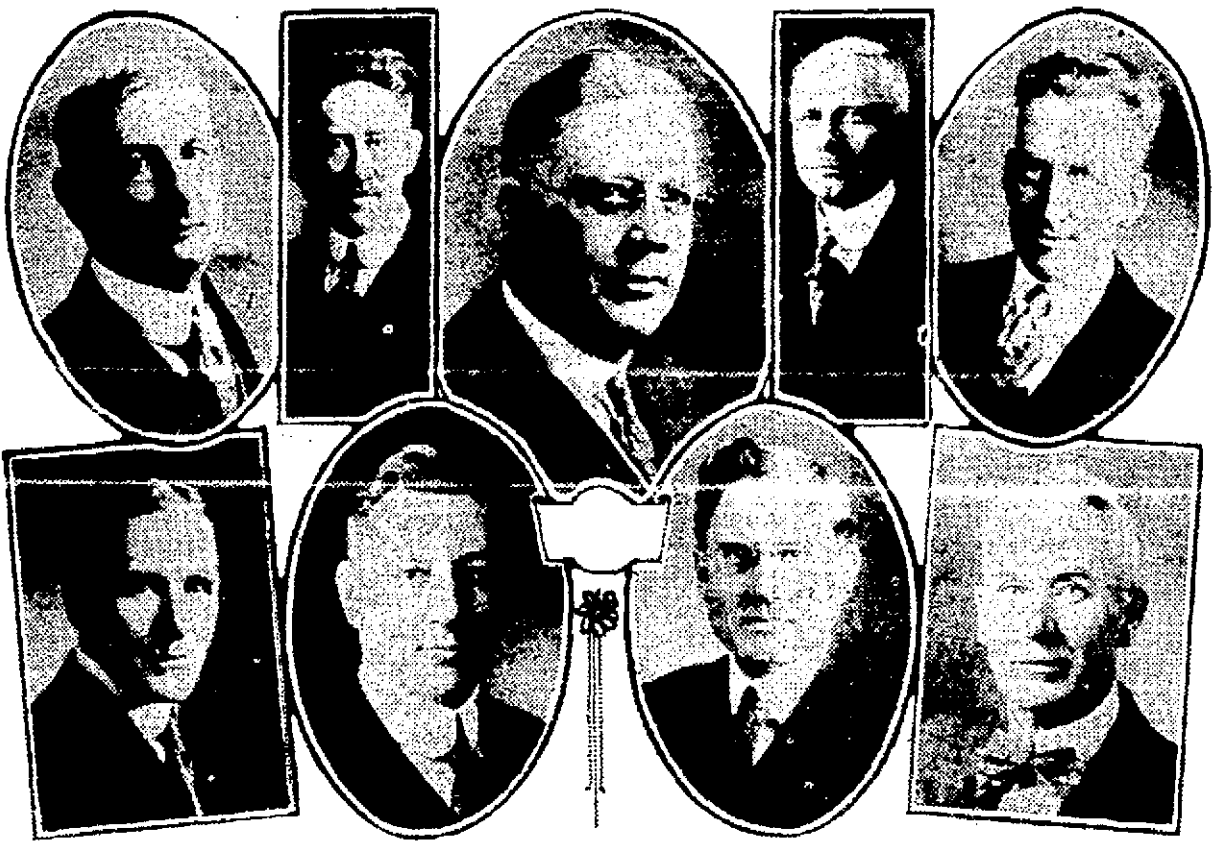

The Edwin Forrest Forge company contemplates immediately the installation of additional electrical apparatus, bringing their total capacity up to approximately 250 electrical horsepower.

SPACE IS GOING RAPIDLY FOR THE UNITED COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS SHOW

Only Eastbay Manufacturing Institutions Will Be Allowed Space in the Coming U. C. T. Exposition

The Industrial Exposition of the United Commercial Travelers set for the last two weeks in May at the Oakland Auditorium is meeting with a ready response among the manufacturers of Alameda county, and there is every indication that the manufacturing community of the Eastbay district is ready for just such an exposition.

The fact that the industrial community seems ready for a strong exposition, taken in connection with the character of the men who are behind the U. C. T. show and the objects thereof, seem to insure the success of the May display. The United Commercial Travelers is composed of some four hundred commercial travelers living on this side of the bay, and they propose to devote the profits from the show to the construction of a club house for themselves in Oakland, and as there are four hundred widely enthusiastic members, the success of the show there is every prospect for success.

The sale of space has not yet begun in an organized way, and yet nearly one-third of the floor space has been taken. The largest single exhibitor, to date, is the Chevrolet Motor Company of California, which has taken two full sections. It would be easy to sell the entire space to automobile companies, but the list of exhibitors is confined to plants that are manufacturing goods in the Eastbay district. It is to be a case of Alameda county first and then the Eastbay district. No exhibits will be allowed from firms manufacturing outside of the Eastbay section.

Hayward is the first community to take space. The Chamber of Commerce of Hayward is determined to advertise itself whenever and wherever it can, and they have taken two sections in the corridor outside of the main show. Hayward will advertise itself as a home center, as a location for manufacturing concerns, as a fruit and farming center and as a poultry center. They will also call attention to the coming Farm Products Show which will take place in Hayward during the fall.

A very cordial reception has been given by various communities to the coming show growing out of the successful luncheon by which the show was started.

STATE DEPT. TO AID TRADE CONVENTION

Cooperation of the state department in organization of the seventh National Foreign Trade Convention to be held at San Francisco, May 12-15, 1920, is announced by the National Foreign Trade Council, under whose auspices the convention will be held, and the chairman of which is James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation.

In a letter to C. P. Converse, secretary of the Pacific Coast committee, Secretary of State Robert Lansing writes as follows: "At the instance of the Honorable James D. Phelan, I have the pleasure to convey to you the interest of the Department of State in the seventh annual reunion of the National Foreign Trade Council at San Francisco in May, 1920. This department is especially interested in the idea of the San Francisco committee of inviting American merchants residing in foreign countries to attend the convention and believes that much practical benefit will result from this meeting. The department is providing attendance is secured. The department has already lent its aid and the aid of its agents abroad in this connection and will be pleased to further the interests of the convention in any way which lies in its power."

Special trade advisors are expected at San Francisco from twenty-seven leading nations bordering the Pacific ocean.

EXTENDING THE HOWARD WHARF ROAD

Extensions that will add very materially to the capacity of the Howard wharves at the foot of Market street are under way. The Howard Company recently secured a lease from the City of Oakland of a section of the quay wall adjoining their property on the east, and the Howard company is now engaged in making that section a part of their wharf facilities.

The Howard belt railroad is being extended along this leased section of the quay wall, and will be extended so that it will connect with the belt railroad that was laid by the City of Oakland from the foot of Clay street. The Howard wharves have operated this little belt railroad for years, and it has been this little railroad that has made the Howard wharves so popular with incoming vessels. They can unload in less time than at any wharf in San Francisco.

The Howard Company is dredging the channel in front of their wharf to the quay wall to 25 feet of water at low tide, and as soon as this work is completed they will begin docking vessels.

The Howard wharves are the most complete small industrial and shipping unit upon this side of the bay.

Seventy-five per cent of the appointments of the civil service in Washington during the war were filled by women.

NEW STORE IN LAKE DISTRICT

An announcement of more than usual interest has been made by the James H. Cobbledick Company, painters and decorators, in the fact that they will occupy their new and permanent home, 1818 Harrison street, on April 1. In referring to their new location Cobbledick said: "Harrison street will be, without question, one of the few streets that will soon be devoted to that type of store commonly termed, 'the specialty or exclusive shop.' With this in view we have purchased this property and here we intend to establish ourselves."

The sales and display rooms at the new store will be formally opened about April 15.

ANGELS BY WIRE.
The town of Angels Camp, long noted as one of the early-day mining centers of California, is again to have telegraphic wire communication with the outside world. The Railroad Commission having been notified by the Western Union Telegraph Company that it will re-establish the telegraph office abolished at the time the wires were taken over by the government.

SAFETY RAZOR MUCH LITIGATED

A patent which has been in court over fifty times and though only of high school age, has always come out on top is certainly deserving of a medal of some sort in these days of generous medal distribution. Even today, after all this multitude of successful suits, an instance, occasionally turns up of one who has taken the risk of infringing the patents of the Gillette Safety Razor. Three injunctions have been granted against infringers of this patent in the City of New York alone during the past six months. The latest decision was in a suit against Goldberger Manufacturing Corporation of New York, an importer of infringing the Gillette patents, which blades made in England. The Goldberger corporation ordered over a million blades similar to those made by the Gillette Company. Judge Day of the United States District Court of New York rendered a decision February 19, granting the Gillette Company a preliminary injunction against the Goldberger Corporation.

STAGE LINE CHANGE.
James B. Clark, who is operating an auto stage line between Oakland and Martinez, wants to transfer his operating permit to the Bay Shore Stage Company. Clark recently purchased an interest in the Bay Shore company. He has applied to the Railroad Commission for an approval of the transfer.

From the armistice to the beginning of this year American shipyards turned out 2355 vessels of 4,258,845 tons.

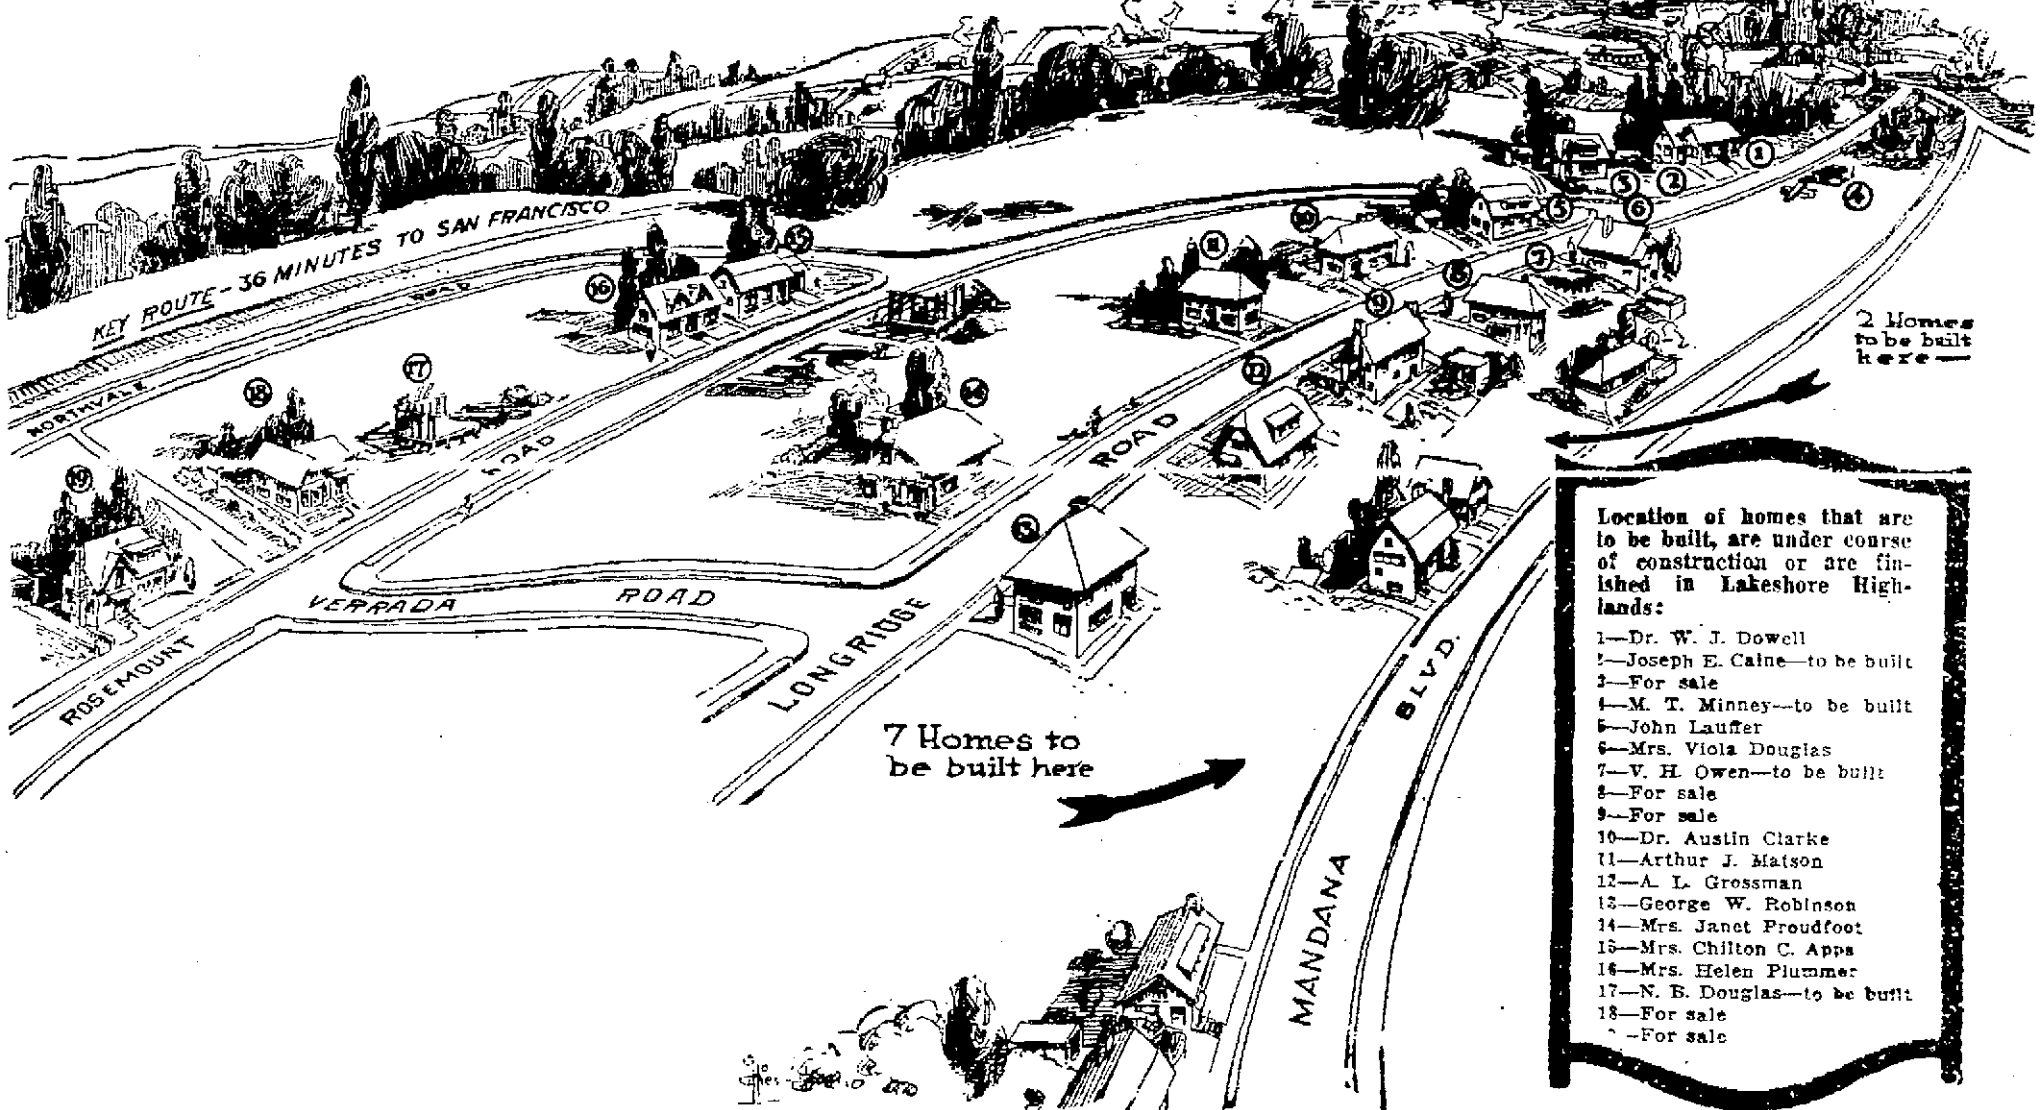

NEW MARKET AND GARAGE NEAR LAKE

The property at the northwest corner of Tenth and Oak streets, which has been owned by the Athenian-Nile Club for some years, was last week sold to J. R. McClurg who will immediately begin the improvement of the place. This was originally the old Frank Brigham home, but was sold some years ago to the Knights of Columbus who refitted the old house and occupied it as a club home until the quarters became too small. Just about this time the Nile Club and the Athenian Club discussed consolidation, and in the deal, the Knights of Columbus took the old Nile Club property on Thirteenth street near Grove, and the consolidated Athenian-Nile Club fell heir to the property on Tenth and Oak, which they have held ever since 1915. The property has already been leased to C. H. Boller, who will operate a market and R. H. Williams, who will operate a garage in the new building that is to be erected.

The transaction involves $45,000 and was conducted by the Fred E. Reed Company.

Recd says that this is merely an indication of an increasing activity in business property in Oakland.

"Every five days a new home starts"

Lakeshore Highlands' Boom In Home-Building Eclipses All Records in California

Started a little over two months ago with the commencement of the Leimert Company's program of "Every Five Days a New Home Starts", there has opened in Lakeshore Highlands a home building era which is making building history in the West—an era which, for wholesale activity, number and size and quality of homes erected, is unparalleled anywhere.

The homes built by the Leimert Company have attracted great numbers of buyers who have sought for beautifully planned, strongly built and popularly-priced homes in a beautiful, centrally located and restricted residence district. And they have found these things in the Leimert homes.

These homes are substantially built of the highest quality materials; planned by the best-known architects; they are priced hundreds of dollars lower than similar homes elsewhere because of the size of the Leimert program which reduces material costs by wholesale buying. The building program eliminates sub-contractors' profits and lowers overhead expense to a minimum. The homes are built in Lakeshore Highlands, admittedly the finest residence park in the country from the standpoint of view, of central location, extensive improvements, a beautiful scenic situation and permanent restriction throughout.

Buyers of homes just started, or yet to be built, are co-operating with the company in buying their homes. Others who prefer to handle their own building are buying the beautiful lots in the tract at astonishingly low prices paying as little as $975 in initial payments of $100 and easy monthly installments.

Make Your Reservations Now

The activity in Lakeshore Highlands is increasing daily. You can insure yourself of one of the company-built homes or a fine lot by immediate reservation.

From San Francisco take the Lakeshore train at the Key Route Mole and get off at Lakeshore Avenue. From Oakland take the Lakeshore Avenue carline or drive out Lakeshore Avenue to the main entrance to Lakeshore Highlands—at Lakeshore Avenue and Mandana Boulevard. Automobiles are at your service if you telephone the office.

LAKEVIEW PUPILS HELP RED CROSS

To win their membership as an auxiliary of the Junior Red Cross, students in Lakeview school collected seven tons of old newspapers, knitted, crocheted, sewed and raised. Their efforts resulted in funds to the Junior Red Cross Shop which is looking out after the welfare of the children in Alameda county.

The day which marked the formal presentation of the certificate of membership and the signing of the individual pledges of loyalty by the students was made the occasion for a patriotic school rally. Captains were appointed from each room to represent the children and to take charge of the distribution of pledge cards among their fellows. The Lakeview auxiliary is one of the strongest local grammar school boosters for the Twelfth street shop, which is carried on by the public school children under the direction of the board of education.

HIKING CLUB TAKES FIRST WALK TODAY

The semi-monthly hike of the Contra Costa Hills club will be held this morning, the members meeting at the Le Conte Oaks, on the University of California campus, and hiking through the Berkeley hills to Wildcat canyon, where they will lunch, and returning over the summit of Grizzly Peak. The party is to be led by Russell Archer. Membership to the club is still open and the public is invited to come on the semi-monthly hikes.

Interesting walks have been outlined for each second and fourth Sunday but President Harold French cites the following outdoor entertainments among the hills by which the Contra Costa expects to draw support from all the Eastbay communities: Easter evening, international service at sunset at "The Heights" of Joaquin Miller; a May Day reunion and campfire under the oaks of Trestle Glen; a Memorial Day assembly at the proposed natural monument to the American Legion which they hope to dedicate at Redwood Peak; a Fourth of July illumination of the crest of the Skyline boulevard; a community picnic on Labor Day in Diamond canyon, and a special program for a Thanksgiving gathering in one of nature's temples in the Piedmont hills.

OFFICERS ARE NAMED.
In effecting their organization, members of the Contra Costa Hills Club have followed the federation principle adopted by the Community Service Council. Its directors have been chosen from representatives of leading civic societies with the view of co-operative efforts for a common purpose by the organizations with which they are identified. Their personnel is as follows:

President, Harold French, member of the Sierra Club and Tamalpais Conservation Club; vice president, W. J. Wickland, representing the Oakland Recreation Department; secretary-treasurer, Miss Edna J. Ripken, of the Y. W. C. A. and Community Service headquarters; W. D. Cole, president Oakland and Contra Costa; Samuel Hubbard, president Oakland Library and Museum Board; S. H. Kito, vice president First National Bank of Oakland, and a member of the Sierra Club and Tamalpais Conservation Club; C. W. Carroth, Oakland post and printer, and active member of the above mentioned clubs; James H. Litchford, landscape engineer; Robert Robertson, Y. M. C. A. war worker and notary; R. Porter Giles, secretary Oakland Real Estate Board; Russell Archer, University of California; Miss B. W. Foss, Y. W. C. A. and Community Service; J. W. Beck, Assistant Scoutmaster, Boy Scouts of America; T. B. O'Brien, Secretary, California Commercial Federation, and Alexander Stewart, Director of Community Service. The last three, together with the officers, constitute the executive committee of the club.

RECREATION IS URGED.
The club will urge more complete development of the municipal recreation centers to be established in suitable locations back of the wooded areas of Shepherd and Palo Alto canyons. The Contra Costa Hills Club will cooperate in every practicable way with the Recreation Department in helping to make these natural playgrounds more attractive to the industrial population of Oakland. Employers will be urged to invite their employees on many enjoyable picnics among the hills where, meeting on a common ground and sharing mutually in the wholesome pleasures of the country, they may come to a better understanding of each others' conditions, and thereby promote social harmony.

The cooperation of the school departments of the Eastbay cities is anticipated by the club, for it has made provision for including Junior members in this organization.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

Y. M. C. A. activities this week include a talk on Monday and Tuesday evenings to the Junior members by Will H. Brown, a member of the boys' committee and the author of several books for boys.

H. P. Paratt will make the talk to the Hi-Y Wednesday evening. Paratt has made a specialty of boys' work and is an authority in this line.

On Friday night the "Y" will hold open house. Bob Ilager, assistant physical director, and Harry Bellville will engineer the program, which they say will be the best ever put on at the association. It will be ladies' night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Brainard, who will leave for Honolulu the last of the month. Brainard has been membership secretary of the Oakland Y. M. C. A. for the last two years.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Thursday evening there will be a fellowship hour from 7:30 to 8:30 in the lobby. This meeting will be open to all men.

The industrial department has a full program for the week. This includes the direction of recreational work at various manufacturing plants, sings and noon-hour talks to employees and the starting of athletics at the Key System, shops of the Oakland Traction Company.

CHRISTMAS NO SANTA CLAUS.
CHICAGO, March 13.—His name is Christmas, but he is no Santa Claus, according to his wife. Therefore, Mrs. Robert Christmas filed a complaint against her husband in the Court of Domestic Relations charging non-support. "My husband spends his money on silk shirts," said Mrs. Christmas, "and refuses to buy bread."

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Monday will be a busy day in the Webster street Y. W. C. A. building. Leaders and club presidents of the Monday night extension clubs will discuss at luncheon the program of work for the coming three months. A reunion of girls who have been delegates to Y. W. C. A. camps and conferences at Asilomar will take place in the evening. An "Asilomar" film, yells, songs and stunts will be presented. Representation at the camp next summer is being arranged.

Miss Helen Kimball will give some inside information on the Moving Picture World, Wednesday night at the Business Women's Forum.

"The House of Friendliness" in San Francisco will be described by Miss T. Brookman before the young women of the Hostess club on March 15.

Good For Chilblains

If Crushed to Powder
PAULIS, March 13.—Thirteen new species of fish have been discovered by the oceanographic research expeditions despatched by the Prince of Monaco.

Most remarkable among these new denizens of the deep is the "Grimaldientia profundissima," a single specimen of which was caught off the Cape Verde Islands at a depth of 21,000 feet, the greatest depth at which, to date, any life has ever been known to exist. Other strange specimens were taken at 15,000 and 18,000 feet, respectively.

Today, Rev. Raymond C. Brooks conducts a class at 10:30 a. m. Mondays and Mrs. M. V. Cardwell on Sunday afternoons. Other classes are held on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

You and Your Teeth

An Educational Series
By R. C. Anderson, D.D.S.

I wish to impress upon you the fact that in extending to you a cordial invitation to consult me at any time, free of charge, regarding the condition of your mouth, I do not do so with the idea in mind of telling you when you do come, that dental work is needed, unless actual conditions show such work to be indispensable from a health standpoint. It is estimated that there are only about 45,000 dentists in the United States, an average of one for about every 2,500 people. You can therefore realize that I, as with all other good dentists can always find ample work to do among those in actual need of dental service. It is not alone a dentist's privilege to correct tooth troubles, but it is his duty to do all in his power to impress upon an altogether too heedless public the absolute necessity of tooth efficiency and mouth cleanliness as safeguards to health. I always adopt and utilize in my practice every new method and discovery of proven merit, and, as a result, my system of dependable dentistry gives results so satisfactory to every patient of mine, that they invariably return to me when other work is needed. Consultation is always free, and for needed work my fees are never any more than you will be glad and willing to pay for the high class services I render.

Ten Years Younger Than His Years

Doesn't it make you feel good—cause you to straighten up and feel "chesty"—when someone guesses your age at ten years or so younger than you really are? You look into your mirror, smile with satisfaction and say to yourself: "Well, he didn't make such a bad guess, at that."

The point is: You're no older than your vitality.

If a man is strong, vigorous, mentally alert, fine and fit at 50 he has a better chance of living up to 80 than a man of 30 who is weak and run-down has of living up to 60. While none of us can stay the years nor stop time, we should all make an heroic effort to successfully resist the effects of time by ever keeping our vitality at par.

When you sense a feeling of slowing down of your physical forces—when your stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs show signs of weakness—when you notice a lack of your old time "pep" and "punch"—in other words, when you feel your vitality is on the wane, you should commence at once to restore your energy, strength and endurance by taking

LYKO

The Great General Tonic

This master body-builder will help you keep young in spirit and mental and physical action, because it will assist Nature in maintaining your vitality at par. It enriches the blood, restores worn-out nerves, soothes jangling and over-wrought nerves, induces sound refreshing sleep, sharpens the appetite, tones up the digestion—in short, will put new life, new vigor and new vim in every fibre of your body.

You will be surprised how much better you'll feel after taking a treatment of LYKO, if you are tired and worn out, nervously and physically exhausted. It's a mildly laxative, keeps the bowels in fine condition. Get a bottle from your druggist today.

Male of Species Is More Shiftless

CHICAGO, March 13.—The male of the human species is more shiftless than the female, according to H. L. Bailey, general superintendent of the Cook County Infirmary.

There are 1,077 men and only 612 women wards in the infirmary—a male preponderance of almost 2 to 1. Ordinarily women, although they earn smaller wages than the men, are more likely to put by a penny for a rainy day," said Mr. Bailey. "And if they have lost all they had, they manage in some way to earn their living."

LOSS OF APPETITE

Pimples and Other Eruptions—Mental and Physical Weakness.

They are all common at this time of the year, and are all indications that the blood is wanting in the power to defend the body against infectious and contagious diseases, because they are all indications that it needs cleansing, enriching and vitalizing.

It is important to give them attention—it is in fact hazardous to neglect them.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today and begin taking it at once, regularly after eating and it convenient in a little hot water.

Remember, this medicine has given satisfaction to three generations, for the blood, stomach, liver and kidneys. It builds up the whole system. It makes food taste good. It is a gentle laxative or a severe cathartic, take Hood's Pills. You will like them.—Advertisement.

mont home, presiding over a luncheon given to the Culture club. Pink fruit blossoms and other spring flowers decorated the table. Those who enjoyed the affair were the Mesdames E. J. Schneider, O. C. Voss, J. L. Chaddock, L. W. Wolcott, A. J. Townsend, George Cavalli, Fred Connor, S. Smith, H. W. Taylor.

Mrs. John Parker was hostess at an informal luncheon on Wednesday at her home in Alameda, entertaining the Misses Alfred Durney, William Bacon, Chaffee Hall, Henry Guerrin, Frank Macomber, Alan Field, Channing Hall, Harold Durney.

CLASS DINNER

One of the happiest episodes in the lives of the alumni of U. C. as indeed in every college where the spirit is alive—is the annual reunion.

Time was when the class meant everything—it was the epitome of college life. But in the present complex system, where there are a hundred students where formerly there was but one, class patriotism seems not the all-important thing it was. But it does persist with the earlier "grads."

On May 11, Mrs. Frank Stringham has arranged for a dinner of the '95 graduates, when the class will assemble at the Claremont Country club.

Miss Frances Redman was hostess a few days ago at an informal luncheon for Mrs. William McCaskey Chapman (Adeline Dinsmore), who is leaving for the Orient on April 3. A theater party rounded out the afternoon.

Miss Katherine Maxwell will assemble a dozen girls of her set at the Maxwell home on Friday for luncheon, with bridge to follow.

CLAREMONT CLUB

"The Jailbirds" and "The Price of Orchids," two plays that the Players club is putting on at the Claremont club on Tuesday night, promises to be one of the big nights in the club's social history.

The whole clever menage is coming over—Reginald Travers and all—to put the plays on, and everybody's turning out to hear them.

The neighborhood club is making a record for itself by having "jazz" enough to do something different every now and then to keep the interest alive.

Its spirit speaks well for its executive officer, Clarence O. Flint, and his corps of assistants, Mrs. James Kelcher, who has been spending the last year or two in New York.

Mrs. Harry Manville Wright rallied an interesting group of friends about her on Tuesday at the Claremont Country club, when fifty guests called to meet Mrs. James Kelcher, who has been spending the last year or two in New York.

Del Monte is the mecca for road-wanderers from the north and south, with golf holding the lure for those who tarry even for a day.

The Blind Boy's Handicap tournament at Pebble Beach on Sunday attracted a number of players who were given the opportunity to select their own handicap for the competition. Among the entries were F. P. Wood, E. L. Pease, Wm. Humphrey, J. M. Keen, W. G. Cameron, R. M. Craig, F. H. Greenbaum, R. P. Babcock and Raymond Armsby.

Society and sports lovers are anticipating with interest the coming polo tournament at Del Monte which opens March 27 and closes April 15. The Invitational tournament held recently was a great success and large crowds will be in attendance at the coming matches in March and April.

ON "ITALY"

Italy is playing so important a part in the affairs of the world that whatever is offered of an enlightening nature upon her policies and problems is eagerly seized upon. Therefore it is that the lecture series upon Italy beginning Thursday at the Hotel Oakland was attended by a large group of women. Miss Lila Van Kirk, the speaker, has had unusual opportunities for observation in the southern kingdom. The other talks will be on the 18th and 25th.

Among the patronesses will be the Mesdames:

Miss Jean Searies will preside over a luncheon at the Palace hotel on March 15, when the complimented guest will be Miss Sally Havens, who in June will become the bride of Thomas Johnston Grier, Jr.

On the same day Mrs. Linville Hotchkiss will entertain at a tea for her kinswoman, Mrs. Ethel Hotchkiss Wightman, who is on a visit to California from the East with her three children, attending the girl who brought fame to California from many a gory field a chance to meet her old friends.

That her trusty tennis arm is in form is proven by her recent performances in Philadelphia.

Miss Jean Wright entertained on Wednesday at her home in Berkeley, honoring Mrs. Clarence Dyer (Clady's Hobbs), who is soon to leave for New York to make her permanent home.

BETROTHAL

An engagement of interest to the younger set of the Eastbay told at a large tea given by the bride-elect at her home in Fresno on Saturday, is that of Miss Marcia Edwards, daughter of Mrs. and the late J. J. Edwards of St. Helena city, and Bedford W. Boyes, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Boyes of Oakland. Miss Edwards is a graduate of the University of California and during her stay in the college city made a host of friends. Mr. Boyes was a captain of field artillery during the war and returned from overseas with General Pershing's division. He was discharged from the service in November. No date for the wedding of the young couple has been set.

Mrs. Warren S. Porter was hostess at bridge on Wednesday at the Claremont Country club, thirty guests assembling on the sun porch—quite the most alluring spot in the club.

Of interest to the younger set is the announcement of a dancing party to be given early in April by the Knights of St. Andrew, one of the by-products of St. Paul's. The dance will be among the first of the post Lenten affairs and is expected to prove one of the brightest and most successful of the season. Final arrangements will be made at the next meeting of the Knights.

The patrons and patronesses will be: Key, Mrs. Alexander Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Magee, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hilliard Collins, Dr. and Mrs. Harry East Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Avery, Mr. and Mrs. Fennell Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Steel Crail (Clady A. Schmidt), whose marriage was celebrated in Berkeley on the 10th, are visiting Judge and Mrs. Charles Crail in their Southwestern avenue home, Los Angeles. The bride was the inspiration for tea February 25, her hostess entertaining for her. Mrs. Crail was assisted by Meses. W. D. Owen, C. A. Dickson, C. C. Cottle, D. E. Crail, William H. Crail, S. A. Chapman, E. W. Sisco, J. E. Monfort, Miss Mary Smith and the hostess's young daughter, Miss Gladys Jane Crail.

The bride and groom were recent guests at a family dinner, Judge and Mrs. Crail the hosts. Several relatives were present from outside the state, including Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Crail of Iowa, M. A. White of Montana and Scott Crail of Iowa.

One of the most influential of women politicians is Miss Rose Moriarty, who is organizer of women's Republican clubs for the National Executive Committee in Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Her job consists of organizing a woman's club in each of the 400 towns and cities of the four states allotted her.

Beautiful Women of Society, during the past seven years have relied upon it for their distinguished appearance. The soft, refined, pearly white complexion it renders instantly, is always the source of flattering comment.

THE HOUSE OF COURTESY

Announcing the Opening of Our Newly Remodeled Women's Shop

THE dawn of a new season and a new era of fashion commences here tomorrow with the opening of our recently remodeled shops for women. Our second floor is a work of beauty with its many new display rooms and elegant appointments, designed in the modern way, to permit individual attention to each patron.

—The Spring Suits, Coats and Dresses are gathered in the main shop on the second floor and these new Fashions literally bloom in their new settings.

—Spring Millinery and Sports Wear now have separate shops of their own—stocks are larger, newer, displaying the ultra novelties of the hour.

—And the Blouse and Silk Underwear departments find a new, handier location at the rear of first floor (near 13th st. entrance.)

Special Opening Display

Will Be Featured In Our Windows and Women's Shops Commencing Tomorrow

And we invite your inspection of the Premier Fashions specially gathered in anticipation of this event. Stroll by our windows tonight and visit the store tomorrow—it will be a pleasant trip to Fashion-Land.

ASSEMBLED NOW in our Women's Shop are Pre-Easter Fashions of rare beauty. There are many "novelty" garments of individual design for those women who prefer the more expensive novelties—but most pleasing of all are the large and diverse displays of modestly priced Fashions, the newly created Suits, Coats and Dresses which reflect a high standard of quality and style regardless of moderate markings.

HERE ALSO you'll find Millinery copying the latest from "Gay Paree"—and scores and scores of other beautiful hats without Parisian price-marks: sport wear as new and correct as Fashion's decree; blouses fancy and blouses plain; complete stocks of silken hosiery for dress and every-day wear; clever handbag novelties and all of the dainty accessories Milady needs to complete her new Spring costume.

In all, we present a series of distinctly new women's shops, each as complete as you could desire—devoted to style and quality but not to high prices.

Coast Airplane Line

L. A.-Seattle Plan

SEATTLE, March 13.—If a suitable landing field can be prepared, a commercial aerial transportation line will be established between Los Angeles and the north coast before the summer is over, according to word received here from Col. H. H. Arnold, chief of the western department, United States army air service. Seattle also next summer will be the starting point and the terminal for the two most important airplane races ever arranged for the Pacific coast.

Avalanches Compel

Diet of Moose Meat

SKAGWAY, Alaska, March 13.—Residents across the international boundary line from here, in northern British Columbia and southern Yukon territory, have been reduced to a straight diet of moose meat as a result of avalanches which tumbled tons of rock, earth and snow down on the tracks of the White Pass & Yukon railroad.

All through January and February the route remained blocked. Attempts to clear the tracks with huge rotary snowplows were unavailing because of the heavy rocks.

Enjoy Low-Price Eggs in High-Price Times

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has given the water-glass method of keeping eggs a long and thorough test and recommends it for use in homes. "Siliso" is the best grade "water-glass" or Silicate of Soda. It is clear-white, does not impart a taste to the eggs and will keep them indefinitely.

"Siliso" is not expensive—a pint is sufficient for 7 dozen eggs.

Pint Bottles	20c	Gallons	75c
Quart Bottles	35c	5 Gallons	$3.00
Half Gallons	50c	10 Gallons	$5.50

There is nothing complicated about the use of "Siliso"—the process is very simple and full directions are printed on the label.

Teeth Are Ruined

By a Film—Millions of Them

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Free

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent, to show you how to end film. See below.

On Your Teeth Now

There is now on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush alone doesn't end it. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. So month after month it stays there and may do a ceaseless damage.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Most tooth troubles are now traced directly to that film.

Dental scientists have for years sought a way to end film. They have known that brushing could not save teeth if it left that film upon them. Now that film combatant has been found. Convincing tests, under able authorities, have proved it beyond question. The method is now embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And we supply it free for testing to anyone who asks.

The Way to End It

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. Now activated pepsin can be applied, night and morning, to combat that film.

Leading dentists everywhere are now advising Pepsodent. Countless people have already adopted it. And trial tubes are offered everywhere to show others what it does.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Let your own mirror show you what Pepsodent means to your teeth. Then decide for yourself about it. Cut out the coupon now.

Pepsodent

The New-Day Dentifrice

After convincing tests, it is now advised for daily use by leading dentists everywhere.

"ALL WE WANT IS A SHOW."

The historic brick building here well known as the Kelsey arms building, has changed hands. For many months the building has been very little used as the recent owner did not care to operate a show no matter how badly the community wanted one.

The demand here for a show has become so keen and so many people are here now to attend a show that there is a splendid proposition for T. Eddy, the new incumbent and owner of the place. Mr. Eddy announces that he will open the show as soon as films can be secured and everything made ready for operating.

Reliable Method of Hair Care

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this purpose, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, that dissolves and entirely removes all dirt, excess oil and dirt, can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of cuticura in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemical dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and plant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color. A softness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After can-throx shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

Two French Musicians to Be in Eastbay This Week

By Roy Harrison Danforth

THIS week two of the great musical artists of France, Jacques Thibaud and Alfred Cortot, will be in our midst. On Thursday evening Mr. Cortot, pianist, will play at the university for members only of the Berkeley Musical association. The next evening both artists will appear in the Auditorium theater at the last of the Artist Concert Series under the auspices of the Oakland Teachers' association.

At Berkeley, Mr. Cortot's program will include the Franck prelude, choral and fugue, twelve études of Chopin, several Debussy and other French numbers, and the second Hungarian Rhapsody of Liszt.

The Oakland program of the two artists will be largely French. Its duet number will be the famous sonata of Cesar Franck which recently was played at Wheeler hall by Sigmund Beel and George McManus. Beside this will be numbers by Vivaldi, Bach, Schubert, Albeniz, Debussy, Saint-Saens and others.

Mabel Riegelman For Oratorio

Mabel Riegelman, the beautiful California soprano, recently a member of both the Chicago and Metropolitan opera companies, whose recent performance in Handel's "Messiah" in Los Angeles has stamped her as one of the finest oratorio singers now before the public, has been specially engaged by Director Paul Steindorff to head the quartette for the tenth annual revival of "Stabat Mater" in the Greek theater on Good Friday, April 2, next. Miss Riegelman has sung the role at various festivals where the Rosini work has been given and she has been accorded unstinted praise for her interpretation everywhere. Other notable singers that will form a most eventful quartette are Eva Gruninger Atkinson, the ever-reliable contralto, and George Erickson, a baritone of fine proportions. Clinton R. Morse, the popular tenor, who will be remembered as the tenor in the first Steindorff production of "Stabat Mater" ten years ago, will celebrate the decennial revival by again lending his art to the exacting tenor role. Morse is gifted with a superb voice, but his professional work precludes its being often heard in public, and his rare appearances are forever a joy to his auditors.

With a chorus of two hundred, and the usual complete symphony orchestra, Steindorff intends that his tenth "Stabat Mater" shall take its place in the local history of the work with equal importance to its predecessors. With a record of nine revivals and not a single sign of abating favor for the beautiful Rosini cantata, an eager public will look forward to the coming Good Friday event.

rows will be formally inaugurated. A symphony orchestra of thirty members, known as the California Orchestral Society, will be assisted by three soloists in the program which has been announced through the efforts of Prof. Stuart J. Hume, director of the Greek theater. The orchestra will be conducted by Vladimir Shvachkin.

Allice Gentile, prima donna soprano, who has recently come to public favor in the season of the San Carlo Opera company just closed in San Francisco; Tina Lerner, Russian pianist, and Lawrence Stausser, tenor, are the soloists for the occasion. The following program will be given:

1. Overture—Fugue and Circumstances—Edward Elgar
2. Pipes of Gordon—Men—LAWRENCE STAUSSE
3. Andante and Finale from Fourth String Quartet—Anton Bruckner
4. Andante—Soprano and Pianissimo—Chopin—TINA LERNER
5. (a) March—(b) Serenade—(c) Love Song—Glasgow—Tina Lerner
6. Fugue and Circumstances—Edward Elgar—ALICE GENTILE
7. Marche—Stausser

Half Hours to Be Resumed
Half-hour sessions under the auspices of the Music and Drama committee of the University of California, will be resumed at the Greek theater this afternoon after a lapse of several months. The concerts, which are held every week, were first held five years ago, and were instituted as a free gift to music lovers of the Eastbay region by W. G. Ames, the first director of the Greek theater.

Flonzaleys in Three Concerts

The Flonzaley quartette will give three programs at Quattri Rite hall in San Francisco on Sunday afternoon, April 11, Thursday night, April 15, and Saturday night, April 17. For seventeen years the players of this organization have known no change, and have continuously devoted all of their time and talent to the promulgation of chamber music in its highest form, until now, even their composers strive to be judged in comparison with the Flonzaleys. This year a new face will be seen in the Flonzaley group, for the great war called Ugo Ara to the colors of his country. His place has been filled for the past three seasons by Louis Bailly, an equally famous violin player, and no appreciable difference is to be noted in the perfect ensemble playing of the organization.

Elman Meets With Godowsky

Alissa Elman was the guest of Harry E. Loeb, the well-known musician of New Orleans, the other day. Through the closed doors that separated the music room from the main hall in which Elman who is to appear here in joint recital with Eugene Xsaye at the Exposition auditorium in San Francisco on Sunday afternoon, May 23, and his host were sitting, came halting, stumbling, painful, hesitating sounds that resolved themselves into "The Maiden's Prayer."

Elman stood near the folding doors and the agony caused by the dissonance hurt his musical sense, but, noticing the brightness of his host's face, he said nothing and restrained his criticism. Then Mr. Loeb almost broke the camel's back with the remark: "He is a young, promising pupil of a friend of ours. He wanted your criticism. He wanted you to hear him before you left New Orleans."

Elman did not believe that the young artist on the other side of those doors played with promise, but hesitated to offend his host. "May be he'll achieve promise by and by," he commented. Mr. Loeb opened the folding doors and revealed his promising young pupil. It was Leopold Godowsky, the great pianist.

Neither of the two artists had known of the other's presence in the city, and Mr. Loeb had staged the little surprise party—Mr. Godowsky playing the role of the child to perfection. The lifelong friends were so overjoyed to see each other that the efforts of Mr. Loeb were crowned with success.

Will Give Recital At New Church

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Mansfeldt, pianists whose appearances in public recently have not been frequent, are to give a recital at the Northridge Community church in Berkeley Tuesday evening, April 8. The affair is given by them complimentary to the local church which has just been completed and which takes this means of introducing itself. The place is at the corner of Los Angeles

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA
If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell
The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.
Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one hair strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft luster and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.—Advertisement and the Alameda. An interesting program has been chosen.

Pianist to Play At Wheeler Hall

Thomas Frederick Freeman, an able pianist who appears under the auspices of the extension division of the University of California, is to give a recital Tuesday evening in Wheeler hall on the college campus. The concert is announced by Julian R. Waybur, in charge of music for the division, as invitational. Numbers by Haydn, Schumann, Chopin, Debussy, Freeman and Liszt will be played.

Gives Series of Piano Recitals

A series of interesting piano recitals is being given informally by Miss Lilian Ammalee, the celebrated San Francisco pianist, at her home and studio on 12 Dorado avenue. The most recent one was given last week when eight of her pupils played. Preceding that was an end-of-year recital in January, while a third is to take place in April.

Pupils Are Head With Soloists

The junior piano pupils of Miss Eva Garcia gave a recital Friday evening at Ebell hall. Miss May Lynch, contralto, and H. Arthur Garcia, violinist, also took part. Miss Garcia was assisted in receiving her guests by Miss Mildred Rourke, Miss Ruth Rodda, Miss Bertha Gaihaus, Miss Joyce Holloway and Miss Daisy Keller.

Pianist Is Heard at Mills College

Miss Lilian Ammalee, the celebrated San Francisco pianist, gave a music recital Friday evening in Lissner hall at Mills college. The affair was a special program arranged for the benefit of the two-dollar endowment fund that is being raised by friends of the college.

The program included a number of compositions that Miss Ammalee has endured with great success on her tours. Practically the entire student body attended the recital.

Piano Pupils Play at Hotel Oakland

Alexander Ludwig recently presented a number of his piano pupils in an interesting recital at the Hotel Oakland. Their playing received frequent commendation, particularly that of Miss Cecelia Feldbeyn. Others who played were Clementine Ludwig, Elvin Fowler, Lois Layton, Betty Stevens, Jane Stevens, Rose Landy, Anna Dorgan, Stanley Garlinke, Abram Gluck, Helen Miller, Evelyn Durwin, Grace Scott, Miriam Blair, Esther Gartinkle, Marjorie Di- bert, Thais Hugues and Mrs. R. What Story Does Your Mirror Tell?

One of Refinement and Care, or One of Indifference and Neglect?

By Madame Mares

NATURAL beauty, if neglected, will quickly fade—while the woman who is careful of her complexion, hair and other attributes to attractiveness will outdistance her indifferent sister. And at the age of 30 to 35 beauty is with the one who best cared for herself.

There is an old and true saying: "Be fair to your face and your face will be fair."

But in your selection of toilet requirements, it is, by no means, necessary to be extravagant or to think that cut-glass bottles always contain the most desirable preparations.

There are a number of very simple and easy to use beautifiers that it is even best to make at home with your own hands. Here are a few of them—and you are welcome to use them. Every one has been tested time and again and you may depend upon them absolutely.

For a Vanishing Cream

Get from your drugstore two ounces of petrol and mix with one tablespoonful of glycerine in half a pint of water. The rich cream which is the result, makes the skin plump and vigorous, almost baby-like, and causes even deep wrinkles to disappear in quick time. This is because the pores are made smaller and the texture of the skin highly refined and as a result hundreds of wrinkles are bound to leave. Your friends will wonder at the change in your appearance. The petrol sells for about fifty cents and you probably already have enough glycerine.

A Hair Remover Used Like a Skin Lotion

You'll see how wonderfully easy it is to get rid of any superfluous hairs by simply moistening them with soft solution. It is almost magic. The hairs just dissolve away, and the skin is left smooth and white—no red or irritated spot to tell that you used anything to remove the hairs.

This comes usually in original bottles selling for a dollar, and it is not advisable to use a cheap duplicate.

Here Is Another Face Cream

But this one is especially for blemishes, freckles, muddy and sallowness. You can positively assure yourself to get rid of them with the formula given below you are going to have a complexion of surpassing beauty. To one ounce of tincture, costing about fifty cents at any drug store, add two tablespoonfuls of glycerine and mix in a pint of water. You will see a tremendous difference in your complexion in a very few days.

A Home Made Hair Tonic

After using this simple and remarkable application for a short time you will find a tremendous difference in the length of your hair. It will be glossy, full of life, and it will stop falling. The gray spots will fill out. To a half pint of water and a half pint of bay rum add one ounce of beta-quinal, obtained from the drug store at half a dollar. This makes over a pint of this remarkable hair tonic. You may use a full pint of witchhazel if you prefer it instead of the water and bay rum.

Ever Hear of Dissolving Blackheads?

You will never get rid of blackheads by pinching them, or by face-washing. Here is a remarkable method, instantly successful. Sprinkle some Peroxin on a wet cloth. Then rub the blackheads with this for a few moments. You will find that they will all vanish very quickly. Peroxin is the only thing that will do this. Any drug-gist can supply you with the peroxin for fifty cents.

And Here Is Your Shampoo

Filmy secretions which form on the scalp, and dandruff scales, are all removed in remarkable fashion by eggol. Dissolve a teaspoonful of this in half a cup of water. This gives a glorious lather, shampoo and leaves the hair silky. For twenty-five cents you can get enough eggol for over a dozen head-washes. Soaps contain oil-dissolving alkali which should be avoided.

The Trotteur Frock is navy blue!

THE frock that's navy blue—and of fine tricotines—and of a knowing simplicity! By this shall you know the truly fashionable woman. Trotteur frocks of many personalities—bouffant, slender and straight of line, hinting of early Victorian influences or of the jacquette type—boyishly impudent. But navy blue always—and tricotines usually. And whatever the pricing (many of them are marvelously low-priced) that insistent note of deliberate simplicity.

HEART and HUSBAND BYADELE GARRISON

Now Mrs. Stockbridge accepted the situation.

Mrs. Stockbridge's mouth flew open in uncontrollable amazement as she looked past Miss Holcombe to me.

"Why—why?" she stammered. "You're surely not going to wear that soiled dress?"

"Please revolve for the lady, Mrs. Graham."

I turned slowly around, giving my hostess a complete view of the refurbished gown.

"I was sure that stuff wouldn't come off," she blurted, and then dropped short, flushing hotly at her inadvertent admission.

"It didn't," Miss Holcombe retorted dryly.

"Then how?" she choked a bit on the question. I saw that she was frowning with baffled malice and wondered whether Alice Holcombe was wise to tease her in the way she was. I think the same thought came to my friend, for she dropped her frowning, provocative tone, spoke briefly and to the point.

"REAL SELF-CONTROL"

"Why you see, Mrs. Graham happened to have a piece of the goods to her opera bag, but it wasn't until after she had tried on your dress—"

"Indeed has started to fit it—that was the opportunity to discover the fact that only one panel drapery of her white gown was touched by the calamine. It was really no task at all to replace it with the new goods. Don't you think we did a good job?"

"I believe there were many emotions battling for utterance in Miss Stockbridge's soul, of which the strongest was probably keen regret that she had not done a more complete job in the 'calamine' of my gown. But to the credit of the self-control, which rumor attributed to her recent sanatorium sojourn, she crushed them all down, forced her lips to a smile and her voice to courtesy, although both smile and voice were decidedly unbecomingly so.

"Indeed, you have succeeded admirably," she said, then with a touch of stiffness: "Did you get very far with the alteration of my gown before you found out Mrs. Graham's could be fixed?"

"Nothing that cannot be put back easily," Alice Holcombe replied. "Simply a couple of seams ripped and run over tomorrow and put them back."

"You needn't trouble," Mrs. Stockbridge retorted quickly, then stiffly to me, "Shall we go downstairs now?"

The voice of the maid Christine interrupted.

"If you please, ma'am, these just came," Lieutenant Graham says they're with his compliments."

A HAPPY TRANSITION

She was laden with three florists' boxes. In her surprise Mrs. Stockbridge stepped backward, and signaled to the girl to lay her burden on the bed. I knew that Dicky had intended providing flowers for his hostess, Miss Holcombe and myself, but in the excitement of the evening he had forgotten them. Miss Holcombe promptly seized the opportunity to obliterate the incident of the gown.

Mountain Corps, and Mrs. Page from Appomattox. All enjoyed the reception tendered the department commander, who addressed the order. Senior Vice-Commander Savercool presided. The joint social held by post and corps was a success. Commanders Dunham, Vermillion and Savercool gave appropriate addresses, while Commander Andrews recited the poem dedicated to the Memorial Hall of the G. A. R. Mrs. Winchester gave an interesting lecture on the Filippians. The course of instruction was outlined. March 25 the daughters of Dorothy Dix Tent gives a "camp fire." The corps social Tuesday, March 9, was a financial success. The program was rendered by Mrs. Stewart, Miss Goldstein, Miss Lambert, Professor Walker, Atwood and others. Comrade Erickhoff read a poem to celebrate the ninety-third anniversary of Comrade Covill, after which Mrs. Hoyte made remarks. Patriotic instructor Mrs. Beck reported progress on the drill. Mrs. Beck reported progress on the drill. All prepared to the banquet hall, where a special table held a birthday cake for Comrade Covill.

OAKLAND MACCABEES

Oakland Review, No. 14, held an interesting meeting Tuesday evening at the Pacific building. Visitors from Richmond, Argonne and Dunsmuir were made welcome by the commander, Mrs. Sullivan, district deputy of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. McCandless were extended the honors. Mrs. Sullivan was escorted to a seat on the platform, accompanied by the captain and guards. One application was received and acted upon. The second degree was conferred upon two members, the officers and guards performing the work in an impressive manner. The committee on masquerade party for ladies only reported that all is in readiness. A small fee will be charged and a good time assured all who attend. The affair is to be held Tuesday evening, March 16, at the Pacific building. Several members reported made calls, finding the sick members convalescing. An invitation was extended to the captain and guards to assist in the installation of officers for Richmond Review, Wednesday evening, March 24. The captain announced that the officers and guards be present on Tuesday evening, March 20, for drill preparatory for the first initiation of officers in the Supreme Review in 1922. After the close of the meeting all repaired to the banquet hall, where light refreshments were served, prepared by the committee.

AUDITORIUM

Alfred Cortot, the French pianist, and Jacques Thibaud, the famous French violinist, will be the fifth attraction of the artists' concert series at the Oakland Auditorium opera house, on Friday evening, March 19.

Alfred Cortot is an artist and pianist of the very first rank and his appearance in the United States created a furor and his subsequent recital tour was a continuous ovation.

Jacques Thibaud is one of the representatives of the fine French school of violin playing and his following in this country has assumed extraordinary proportions. He will offer his rare entertainment. Florence Ames and Adelaide Winthrop, in "Caught in a Jam," will be another highlight. Jack Kennedy & Co. will offer a Gold Proposal. Leo Zarrell & Co. will supply one of the novel features of the bill.

In addition to these features there will be a new feature, a specialy arranged musical program under the direction of Lena Kowalski.

COLUMBIA

"The Art Models" gives promise of being one of the most elaborate musical comedies ever presented at the Columbia Theater, where it will be seen for the first time this afternoon, when Solly Carter, Eddie Gilbert and Ira Robertson in the three principal comedy roles, supported by Nat Ventworth, Edna Mason, Norma Leslie, Ivy Darian and the big beauty chorus.

The plot is taken from a French farce. A corps of wordy mistresses have been at work for nearly a month preparing for the fashion display.

Miss Blanche Ensign, chorus director, has selected a scintillating musical program, which will include the following numbers: "Selling Gowns" from "Maytime" for an opening number; "I'm Not Jealous But I Just Don't Like It" by Babe Arnold; Robinson, "Crusoe's Good May Friday" by Eddie Gilbert; "I'm Gonna Spend My Honey-moon in Dixie" by Blanche Ensign; "The Debutante's Reception Ball" by Norma Leslie; "He's a Darn Good Man to Have Around" by Hazel Beer; and "When Johnny Comes Over the Top" by Ira Robertson.

FRANKLIN

Elsie Ferguson comes to the Franklin today in "His House in Order" from the noted stage success of Sir Arthur Wing Pinero.

It is a drama of a second wife, who is always measured by the perfection of the first, always found wanting, driven to fight for a place in her own family, until in desperation she turns like a tigress and rends them. Elsie Ferguson, in the role of Nina Graham, displays considerable versatility and emotional power.

The Franklin bill includes a new Montgomery and Rocks comedy entitled "The Miracle Man," has organized a company and will make several star productions.

PANTAGES

Young America will have its innings at Pantages for the week commencing with the matinee Sunday when one and only Miles Minter, comedy star, with his host of trained dogs, pointers and monkeys comes as a featured attraction on an exceptional program. Two of the star performers are "Sunshine Jim," the noted comedy mule, and "Frisco," the educated pony.

Two special attractions are the Olga Samanoff Trio and Oklahoma's Don Albright, who has a wonderful voice and ability to tell funny stories in an original manner. The Olga Samanoff trio give selections on the piano, cello and violin.

Viola Denny and Eddie Dunnigan are original musical comedy melange in which humorous sayings, bright songs and excellent piano playing predominate. The Denny girls, three queens of the silver wire, offer sensational feats on the tight wire. Eddie and Hamden have a cyclonic comedy called "Charles's Visit," in which the fun never stops.

T. & D.

Mary Miles Minter in the laugh betwixt solos in comedy-drama, is the substance of this week's program at the T. & D. Theater, beginning today. Harold Lloyd will supply the laughs in his first $100,000 comedy, "Fanning the Dragon," a mixture of pretty girls and side-splitting antics. Mary Miles Minter appears in "The Girl in the Red Velvet Gown," a story of a girl who is loved by two men.

YE LIBERTY

"The Confession," Hal Reid's wonder picture, which opens a two-week run at the Ye Liberty Playhouse this afternoon, has been proclaimed as the greatest photoplay since "The Birth of a Nation." A story set in the beautiful scenery of the Canadian Northwest, built around a theme, "The Confession" has found its niche at the very pinnacle of picture production.

Four things are essential in the making of a great picture, according to the critics, plot, direction, acting and last, but not least, substance. By substance is meant, body; the human vein which upholds the story; the appeal that the story has, which causes those who view it to think, "The Confession" has a powerful appeal to the finer emotions. It portrays the value of a sincere belief in God. A mediocre story cannot be built around such a mighty theme in this wonder picture the story in itself is a gripping tale. The performances will be at 1:30, 3:45, 5:00, 7:00 and 9:00.

THE TRIBUNE

The TRIBUNE, only A. B. C. paper in Alameda county

AN FRANCISCO, March 13. From a discussion among Democratic leaders here, and correspondence of those nearer the political fountain which I have been informed of, there is growing uneasiness over the prospect of a spectacular fight in the national convention over prohibition. Governor Edwards of New Jersey would make the entire fight on the wet issue, and Mr. Bryan has manifested an intent to fit a dry plank into the platform, and to commit the party generally to a dry policy. There is a very large element that doesn't want to see the party committed too positively either way. Those composing it especially do not want to see such an uproarious exploitation of the subject so far in advance, promotive as it is of distractions and arousing as it does animosities. For one thing, the South, which is the mainstay of Democracy, is dry. Any proposition to make the party policy wet will not elicit enthusiasm in that direction. But aside from this, and aside from the fact that it would chill the Bryan element, it is pointed out that the great independent element would not be attracted in a national contest whose chief issue is the undoing of that which has been done as to prohibition. The wet proponents have joined issue with the anti-Bryanists, at the head of whom is Tammany, and conservative members of the party see too much of a fight already under way.

Behind the Scenes in Nebraska

I came into possession of some interesting information concerning the Bryan-Hitchcock feud through a recent arrival. On Wednesday a despatch from Lincoln, Nebraska, was published to the effect that Bryan had declared that he would not vote for Senator Hitchcock for the Democratic nominee even should his State instruct for that aspirant. Among the reasons given was that Senator Hitchcock voted against the prohibition and suffrage amendments. As that is rather ancient history, and as Hitchcock isn't a threatening probability for the Democratic nomination, the outburst must be due to other causes. It is explained that one of these is that when Bryan was aspiring to a senatorship, Hitchcock was quite instrumental in thwarting that ambition. As he is the owner of the leading paper in Nebraska, he was in a position to accomplish a great deal in that direction. Possibly, also, the close relations between the Senator and the President rankles, and may have been one cause of Bryan's withdrawal from the cabinet, or at least may have aggravated whatever difference existed.

A Commissioner's Resignation

Former Commissioner Standish's relations with all concerned while he was a member of the Harbor Board were of the most amicable nature. There was never the least unpleasantness in his relations there, and he parted from everybody with genuine feelings of good-will. The retiring commissioner is a man of affairs, which he has been accustomed to see move along and not halt and hesitate, as nearly all public business is in a way of doing; and it is surmised that the public way became more or less wearing; and seeing that things had become crystallized that way, with nobody to be held immediately responsible and no possibility of changing it, he quietly retired. That is the way it is sized up by one who has taken account of the situation. Standish himself explains that his private affairs demanded his attention to the extent that he could not do justice to a public office. It is so seldom that such a considerable job as that of Harbor Commissioner is thrown up, especially when the incumbent is grata to the powers that be and the general public, that this instance comes in for considerable discussion.

Composition of the Regents

The composition of the Board of Regents of the University of California, considering the long hitch in electing a president to succeed Benjamin Ide Wheeler, is naturally of interest. The board consists of twenty-three members, of which seven are ex-officio. These are the Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Speaker of the Assembly, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, president of the State Agricultural Society, president of the Mechanics' Institute and president of the Alumni Association. While the powers of the ex-officio members are in no wise less in the law than those of appointive members, as a matter of fact they have little to do with shaping the affairs of the university. Sixteen regents are appointed by the Governor, and their terms are for sixteen years—the longest tenure of any official or set of officials in the State, the next in length of term being the Supreme Court Justices, who are elected for twelve years. An authority which goes into the subject classifies the sixteen as four bankers, one wife of a banker, one Catholic priest, one ex-railroad president, two interested in light and power companies, one former distiller, two newspaper men, one large landowner, two attorneys, and one insurance man. Eleven of them live in San Francisco, three in Los Angeles, one in Fresno and one in Hamilton City. The State constitution gives the university broad powers as to its finances. Claims are made up at the university and forwarded to the Governor for approval. Through courtesy they are sent to the Board of Control and put through there, but if a question were raised as to any power outside the university to audit them, it could be shown very readily that the State constitution provides that the university has absolute control of its funds. The Legislature in 1915 appropriated $3,240,736.87, in 1917 it appropriated $4,218,747.40, and in 1919, $5,316,173.11 for the support of the university, in all $12,769,657.38 for a total period of six years. In addition, a bond issue has yielded $1,800,000, and income from endowments has yielded $726,355.54, making a grand total of $15,296,012.92.

Hetch Hetchy Muddle

Those who take a comprehensive view of the Hetch Hetchy situation realize that it is serious in a far-reaching way. Notification has been served that if something is not done to raise money, work will stop March 20. But this emergency is immediate. If it shall be met, others will occur. It will be a continuous performance for approximately ten years; and as the financing is difficult, the cost proportionately increases. It is proposed to amend the charter so that bonds may be offered below par. But it is doubted if that would be a permanent solution. The status of the securities seems to have been fixed by their rejection by two New York experts. The feeling is that while objections are more or less technical, investors are chary of basic conditions. The tremendous vitality of the city as an entity nevertheless is illustrated in the upward trend in the price of gilt-edge real estate. The effect, however, on the industrial development is not so good. While sites for banks, theaters and office buildings are worth more, there is nothing doing in the location of industrial enterprises here or in other important undertakings characteristic of a growing city.

Auditor and District Attorney

The belligerency between the Auditor and the District Attorney has not developed farther than was outlined in the current news of a week ago. It was caused by the Auditor refusing to approve claims filed by the District Attorney for service in his office that was not explained. The District Attorney intimated that the Auditor was interested in the investigation that the money was expended in, and the Auditor thereupon expressed himself to the effect that the District Attorney must justify himself in such intimation or there would be consequences. Which is a reminder of a run-in once upon a time between Fickert as District Attorney and Gallagher as Supervisor on somewhat similar lines. Fickert wanted a special appropriation, which wasn't specified but understood to be for the Mooney investigation. Gallagher insisted on a specification as to what it was for. There was a good deal of sympathy for Mooney in some directions at that time, and the District Attorney refused to specify, and did not get the appropriation. It is a curious illustration of how things shift.

Income Tax Experience

This first-hand story is illustrative of the strange experiences encountered in the performance of the patriotic duty of paying the income tax. It is related by a resident of Alameda county. The peculiar features of the case requiring a blank that for some reason was not procurable in time, the return was not made within the lawful period, and the delinquent was somewhat astonished upon receiving a summary notice that he had been fined $1000. Upon setting forth in a prompt answer the reason for the delay he was advised that no mitigation could be promised, but that if he would send $5 it would be considered, though on no account was he to send less. Considerably relieved he sent the amount. Some time later he received notification that his explanation had been received and duly considered, and that in view of the facts shown the fine had been remitted, and the amount could be recovered upon making the proper application. Which he declares he has made, but has never been able to retrieve the money! And as an evidence of good faith he offers half the sum impounded to whoever is able to collect it.

New Harvest for Collectors

Philatelists have come upon a new situation through the world upset. Collections that were considered complete or rare before the war are of course still valuable; but as so many countries now have a different status, and so many new ones have been born, all being provided with different postal equipment, and some of them having gone through several changes in a short period, what may be regarded as a new series may be announced. Consideration of the subject is suggested by receipt of Polish stamps bearing the well known likeness of Paderewski. It is not the Paderewski that we knew hitherto, with a somewhat drawn countenance and other evidences of maturity, but he of the side show hair, which stood out impartially at all angles, making a halo to the refined features—which singular effect had much to do, at the outset of his artistic career, with getting him a hearing and establishing his vogue. The stamp gatherer is revelling in new fields, and unless he is a considerable student of the changes that have taken place in the world's map, some of which have been kaleidoscopic, he is likely to miss some specimens that may have endured but briefly.

The Late Senator Nealon

The late James G. Nealon was followed to the grave by a large concourse. He touched life at many angles, was active and participant in three generations. A great many years ago he was the assessor of San Francisco, and for almost half a century was active in politics. He was a deputy sheriff under the late Matt Nunan. He had ambition to become the superintendent of the San Francisco parks, and when P. H. McCarthy ran for mayor, entered with characteristic energy into his campaign. McCarthy, after his election, either found the situation such that he could not displace John McLaren, or for some other reason failed to do so, and Nealon held it against him. At the time of his death he was a member of the State Legislature, and all conversant with his aggressive personality will understand from that alone that he was not a quiescent one. He was always devoted to athletics, and if memory serves, he participated in the six-day walking matches that were the rage in the long ago. He was a handball player of no mean prowess, and in his seventieth year participated in some games at the Olympic Club, in which he more than held his own with players scarcely more than a third of his age. He was always exercising and endeavoring to keep in condition. He had an office in the Balboa building, to reach which he never took the elevator.

The High Cost of Symphony

The circular letter of John D. McKee, president of the San Francisco Musical Association, to the effect that guarantees for the symphony season of 1920-21 must be increased at least $10,000 or the big musical project will be abandoned, has brought a crisis in music and social circles specially concerned—for the symphony is as much a high society matter as a high musical effort. The sales for tickets this season were $60,000. It is estimated that if they are $10,000 more next season it will still be necessary to increase the fund by $40,000. The cost of maintaining the symphony for the past season approximated $125,000. The incomes of the opulent have been scaled down so that this amount is not as readily forthcoming as in those other days before income and excess profit taxes were levied. Besides, not all the haut ton that are musically inclined, or willing to subscribe liberally to maintain the city's symphonic reputation, are in accord with the present arrangement. When Henry Hadley was succeeded by Alfred Hertz a schism resulted. The Reddings, the Tobins, the Bourasses and others were super-loyal partisans of Hadley. At the time, the situation was summarized as "a contest between the Irish and the Dutch." The Hadley proponents have never become reconciled, and now assume an I-told-you-so attitude, recounting that under Hadley the symphony cost $50,000 a season, while under Hertz it cost $125,000 last season, and is expected to cost $175,000 next. And while the difference between the two conductors is a discussion for music experts, they point out that Hadley has steadily gained fame since leaving San Francisco, and is now one of the foremost creators and interpreters of American music—which is coming into greater vogue, and is one of the important desiderata.

A Reply Courteous

Controversies are not admissible to this page, but the writer of it may be allowed a word when he has been challenged as unqualifiedly as Mr. J. O. Davis, collector of the port of San Francisco, saw fit to challenge him last week. That which was published the previous week and called in question was not written idly, or without knowledge of the facts. It was written by one fully conversant with the political transformation at the custom house seven years ago, of the atmosphere that prevailed there and of the discussions that took place; one who remembers the summary supplanting of the heads of at least four bureaus in the Treasury department, which could not escape comparison with the vogue in other departments—notably, the Interior department—where heads were permitted to serve their terms, some of which had two years to run. Any further discussion of the subject would necessitate the citation of names and instances, which are directly at hand, but which are not given through a disinclination to lengthen this rejoinder and justification.

A Famous Legal Battle

The legal controversy in the Christian Science church has a California ramification. At least, it is of unusual interest to some Californians because of their acquaintance with one of the principals in the litigation. Lamont Rowlands is a trustee of the Christian Science Publishing Society, which the directors of the Mother Church have sought to control. The publishing body brought suit to restrain the directors of the Mother Church from interfering with the management of the publishing society or engaging in a competing business. The case was referred to Judge Frederic Dodge as master, who took testimony for four months, ending September 12. A report has just been made in favor of the publishing society. The society is the publisher of all the books and literature of the Christian Science church, and of the Christian Science Monitor, which has attained great vogue. It is said, however, that the conduct of this paper is one of the causes of the litigation. The more orthodox adherents of the church hold that the publication, while accredited to the church, hasn't enough to say in its behalf, only a single article of about a column being all that appears each day, and that not being severe church propaganda. The growth of the publishing business has been far beyond anything that could have been foreseen, and the earlier affairs of the church were not as specifically detailed as they would otherwise have been; hence the controversy now. The effect of the decision is to confirm Rowlands as trustee. He is a lumberman of national repute, and a frequent visitor to California, where he has interests. He is also heavily engaged in Southern lumber enterprises, which are attaining more extensive proportions than we are in a way to take account of.

A New Wizard

I am sure that California is imperfectly aware of another wizard in its midst—one who, in a little more than three years, has tripled the size of half a dozen well-known flowers: who has made six bushels of wheat grow where one grew before; who has developed a blight-proof tomato bearing fruit weighing three pounds each; a potato many times the size of the ordinary spud, and a white Leghorn rooster weighing ten pounds, whose progeny may lay mammoth eggs. He perfected in the first years of the war what he has named "Liberty wheat," from an acre of which, planted with eighteen pounds of seed against the usual thirty; and as to corn, though California is not a corn State, he has produced a plant twelve feet high, that bears a dozen ears, weighing 2½ pounds each. This wizard operates "in a sheltered valley in the shadow of famous Mount Tamalpais." We are indebted to an Eastern Sunday supplement for the foregoing facts, together with the fact that this wizard's name is Richard Diener, and the further, and not the least interesting or psychological one that William Kent, senatorial candidate, is backing him.

Bird Lovers Should Be Interested

Perhaps not as much account is being taken as might well be of the Children's Time and Bird's Diary Competition, arranged and conducted by the Audubon Association of the Pacific, open from April 10 to May 22, but the names of competitors to be in by April 6. This is an interesting and worthy effort to get the young interested in the right way in bird life. The interest of the old-time boy was too much along the line of bird's nesting—to the confusion and destruction of bird life rather than the encouragement and conservation of it. It has been found that when the young become interested in the life, habits and characteristics of birds they extract much more enjoyment from them than when they pursue them as prey. In keeping a bird diary you record the birds seen daily, where seen, species, how recognized; the plumage is described and such of the bird's habits as are known; also whether it is migrant or resident, its food and nesting habits and whether it is useful or harmful. A sketch is desired, and such observations as may occur out of the ordinary. As to the prizes and other particulars, those interested should address the secretary of the Audubon Association of the Pacific, 312-14 Phelan building, San Francisco.

The Merging Trend

Newspaper men are discussing the tendency to merge big enterprises which has now reached the newspaper field, and has been manifest in a striking degree in the recent combination of the Herald and Sun of New York and the Republic and Globe-Democrat of St. Louis. Incidentally they are taking account of the fact that the tendency is rather at the expense of morning papers. St. Louis is left with but one morning issue, Chicago, which in comparative recent times was served in the morning by the Tribune, Record, Herald, Times, Chronicle and Inter-Ocean, now has to content itself with the Tribune and the Herald papers. The big cities of Cleveland, Detroit and Louisville now have but one morning paper each. San Francisco has but two, while the time is well within the memory of newspaper readers and newspaper makers when there was a choice, while imbibing the matutinal coffee, between the Chronicle, Examiner, Call, Mail and Alta California. Per contra, the evening paper, which used to "tag along," has gained in momentum and estate, and is becoming the favorite issue for the family and even the busy business man.

Another Kansas Idea

Blue Sky laws haven't done everything to protect babes in the woods possessed of money from prowling wolves with schemes to accumulate sudden wealth—wonderful stock corporations in oil, mines, eucalyptus groves, wave motors and what not—who are ever abroad, seeking whom they may despoil. But they have done a good deal, and the idea emanated from Kansas. Another legislative idea has been evolved in that State and lawmakers and commercial captains are considering the advisability of taking it up in this State. It is a measure which will prohibit strikes in public utilities and in industries immediately affecting the public. Industries engaged in the manufacture of clothing would come under the latter head, as would those concerned in mills that grind grains. Kansas is said to have devised a law that gets around constitutional obstacles. Of course there will be strenuous opposition to such legislation. Indeed, the opposition has already sensed the purpose to pass such a law, and promises to be ready to combat it as soon as it is manifest through action.

The Film a Brother to Steel

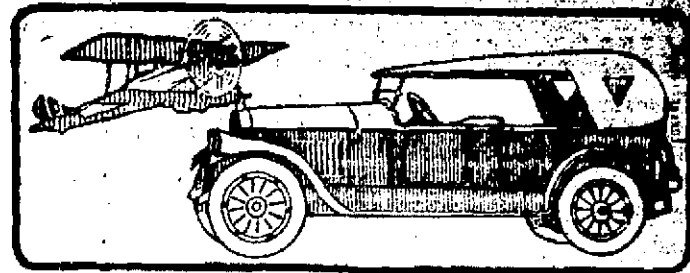

The moving picture business is being taken up by big New York bankers in a way that puts it in a class with the steel amalgamations, consolidations and expansions of preceding decade, and which were confirmed so recently by the Supreme Court. Financiers appear to have had it proved to their satisfaction that the film is as sound as steel. It required a long time to do this. Nearly every banker had had his experiences in financing theaters and managers. He was inclined to judge the new form of theatrical enterprise by the old; but he has seen it develop at such a pace that he is now getting behind it as he never did any other form of amusement. Thus it is that J. P. Morgan & Co. are behind the Marcus Loew Circuit, of 200 theaters, which has taken over the Ackerman & Harris chain on the Pacific Coast, owning the Casino and Hippodrome here, and building a million dollar theater at Market and Taylor streets. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are financing the Players-Lasky Corporation, whose interests ramify all over the world, with three theaters in this city—the California, the Portola and the Imperial, and another building at Market and Jones streets. The Duponts are financing the Goldwyn Corporation, similar in scope to the Players-Lasky concern. Other big amalgamations are being financed in other big ways, so that there is a general air of the financial status of the moving picture being definitely settled.

An Interesting Contest

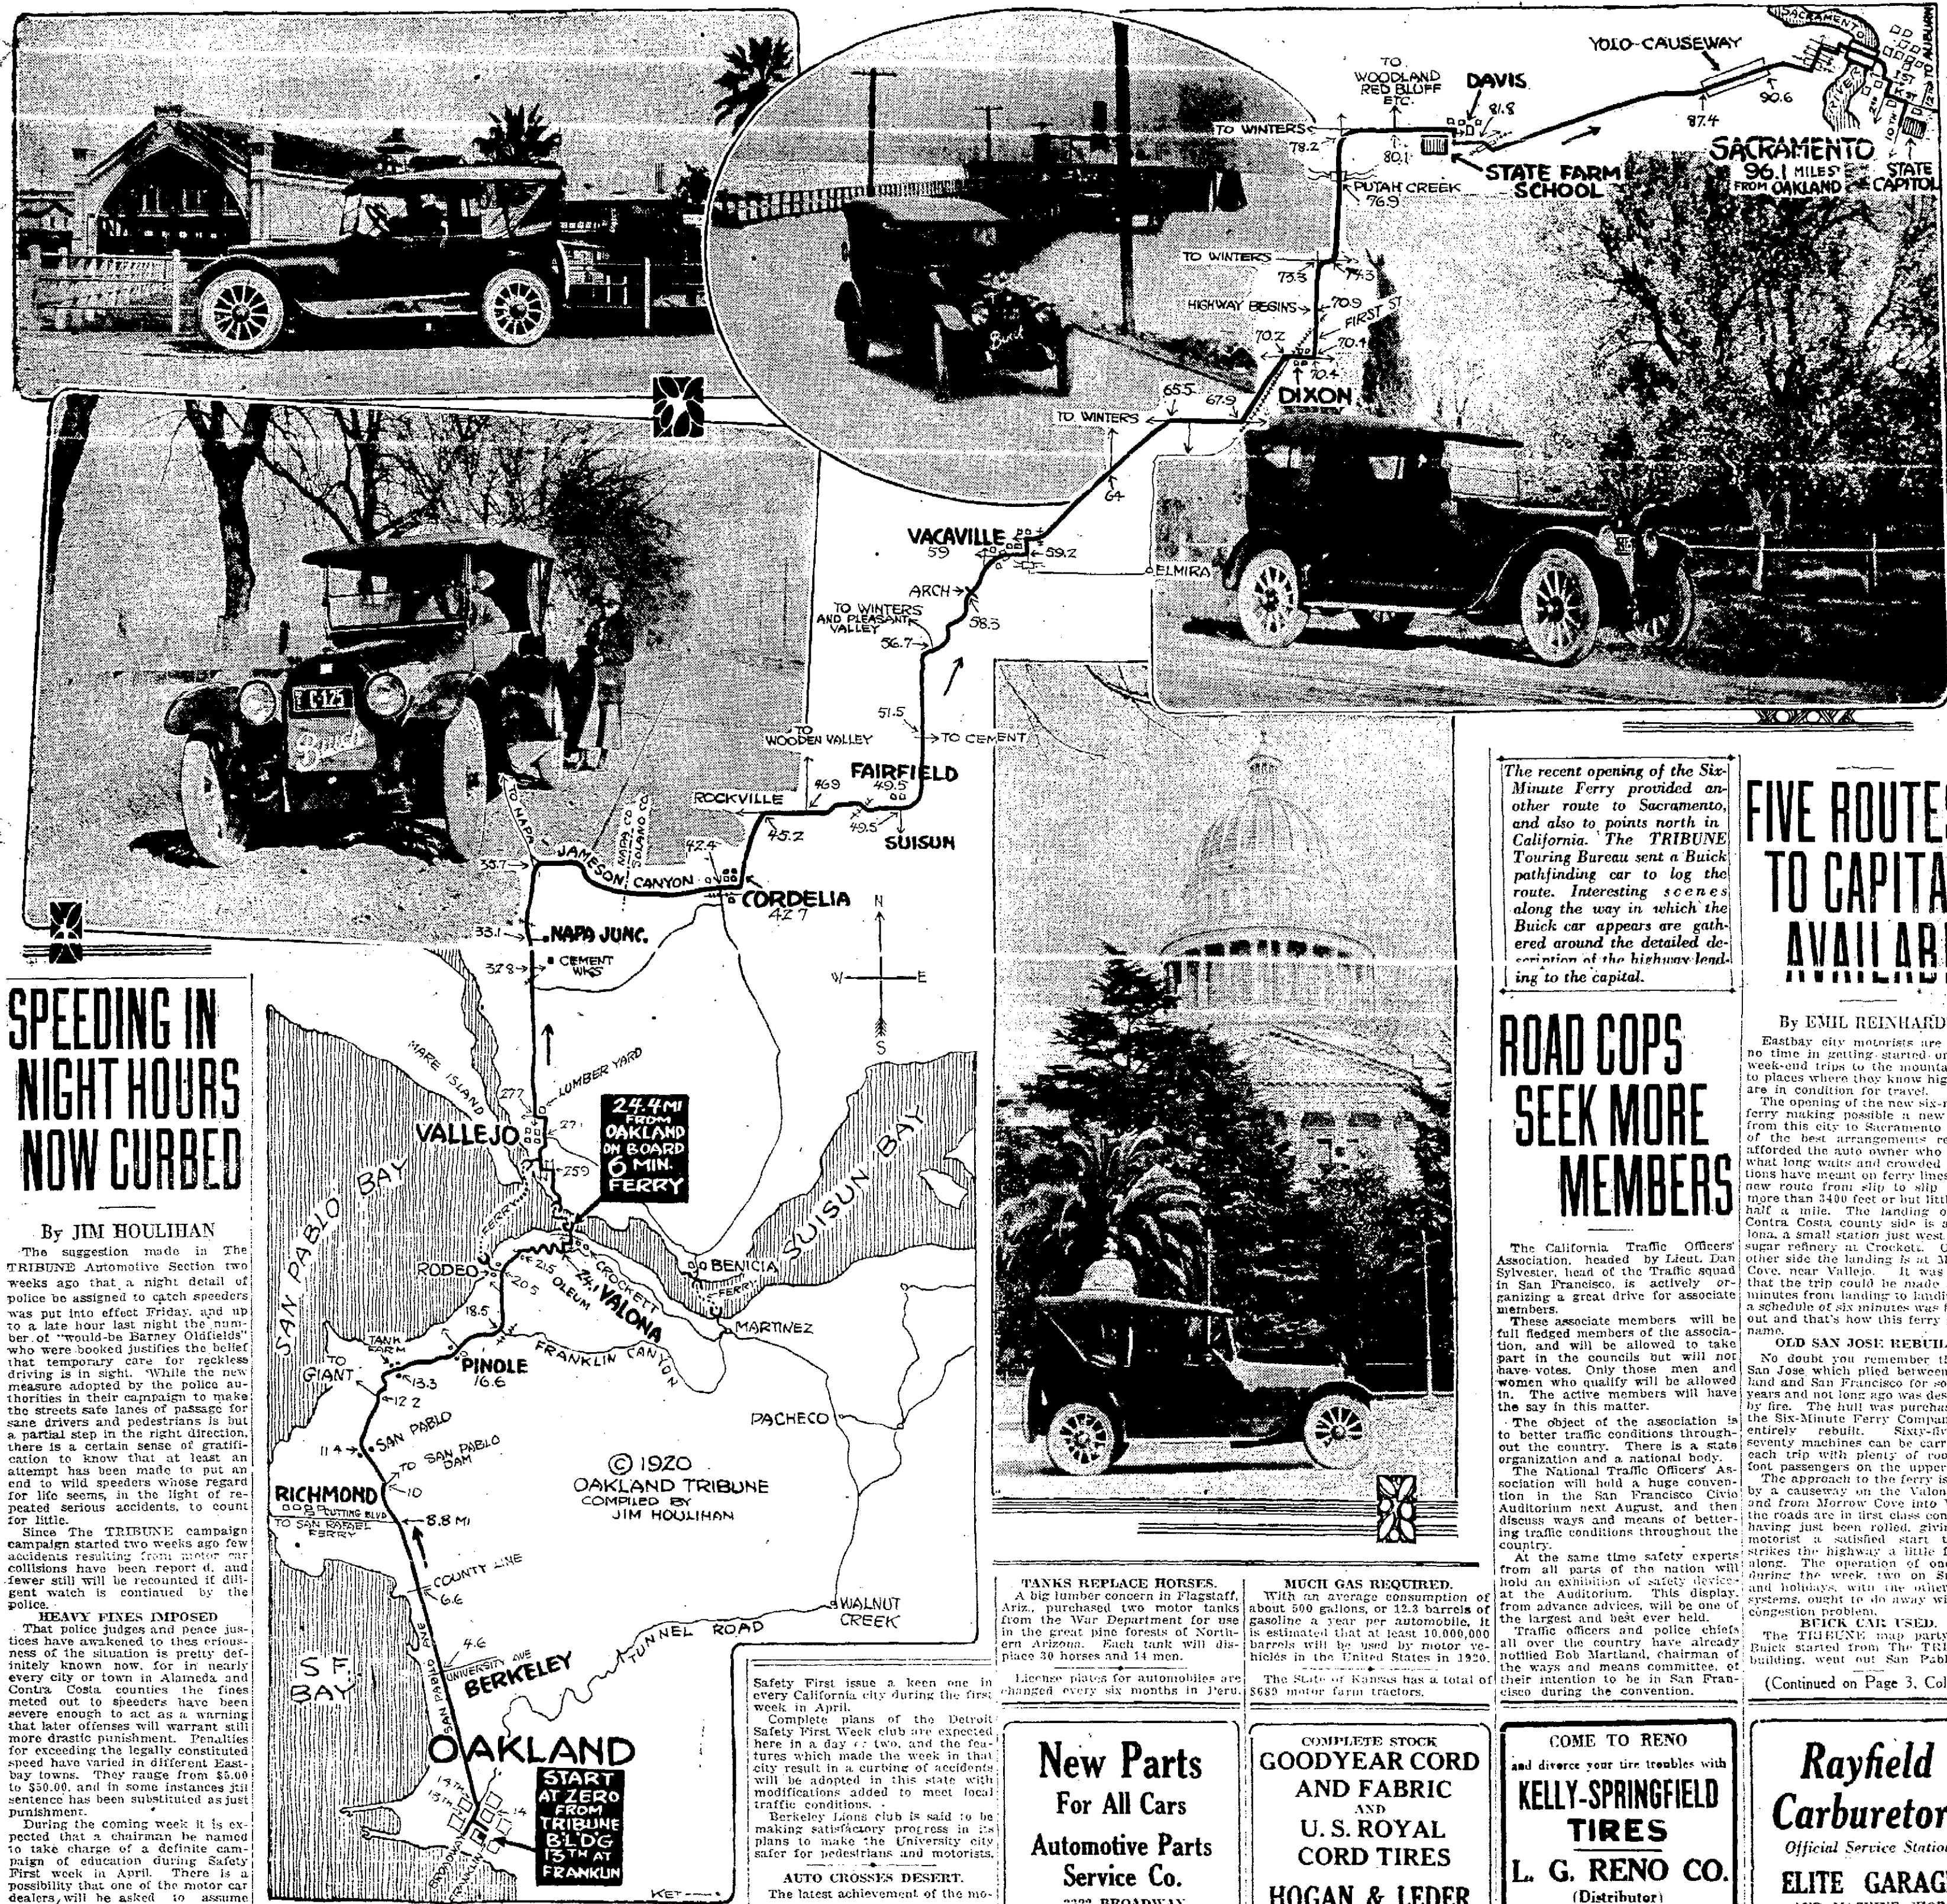

Occasionally one has to go away from home to gather home news, and this is very generally the case where the news has only attained the status of gossip. In this case the gossip has to do with the State senatorship in the Thirteenth district which comprises all of the lower part of Alameda county and runs well into the city of Oakland. It is said that the automobile magnate, "Cliff" Durant, will contest with Frank M. Carr, the incumbent, for the Republican nomination for the State Senate. If this is so it means one of the liveliest contests that has ever taken place, for if Cliff Durant should develop the speed-burning tendencies in politics that he has in the automobile racing game and in the navigation of the air, he will be "some politician." Cliff Durant is the son of W. C. Durant, the multi-millionaire president of the General Motors Company. The Durant field in East Oakland is his property and the Durant Aircraft Corporation, which controls the Durant Field, is his latest hobby. Young Durant has recently purchased the old Talbot place in the foothills near the Sequoyah Country club, so that he is a legal resident of the district. Frank M. Carr, who represents the district now, will again be a candidate for the place. Carr was elected four years ago after a fight at the primary and a later fight against George Beck of Livermore, one of the Democratic warhorses of the State. Carr was, at that time, a resident of Hayward and was assistant county superintendent of schools of Alameda county. He has since moved into the Oakland end of the district, where Durant lives.

A Lady With a Sealskin

Extract from a letter: "The Knave—Dear Sir: You will recall an article on furs on your page of the Sunday's issue of The Tribune about five weeks ago. You compared the prices of furs of a few years ago with the prices of today, and in closing said that anyone who had an old-fashioned seal coat had a priceless possession. I have such a coat, quite useless in the mild California climate, and I am writing to ask if you can inform me where I can dispose of it and be treated squarely, for it is a fine article," etc. The article on furs was written from a knowledge of what fur garments are costing, and an estimate of what a genuine sealskin, such as every lady aspired to in former times, should be worth, and did not contemplate sales of used garments. However, some investigation has been made. It is found at the furriers that buying garments of him and selling garments to him are two very different species of transaction. A genuine full length sealskin, such as used to be the vogue, would cost almost as much as a house; but he manifested no eagerness at all over a chance to purchase one. However, it would seem likely that there are those who would avail themselves of a bargain of this kind if they were put in a way of it. A few cents invested in a want ad. might answer the question better than has been done in this disquisition.

Tribune Touring Bureau Logs First Trip of Extensive 1920 Road Map Program

SPEEDING IN NIGHT HOURS NOW CURBED

By JIM HOULIHAN

The suggestion made in the TRIBUNE Automotive Section two weeks ago that a night detail of police be assigned to catch speeders was put into effect Friday, and up to a late hour last night the number of "would-be Barney Oldfields" who were booked justifies the belief that temporary care for reckless driving is in sight. While the new measure adopted by the police authorities in their campaign to make the streets safe lanes of passage for sane drivers and pedestrians is but a partial step in the right direction, there is a certain sense of gratification to know that at least an attempt has been made to put an end to wild speeders whose regard for life seems, in the light of repeated serious accidents, to count for little.

Since the TRIBUNE campaign campaign started two weeks ago few accidents resulting from motor car collisions have been reported, and fewer still will be recounted if diligent watch is continued by the police.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED
That police judges and peace justices have awakened to the seriousness of the situation is pretty definitely known now, for in nearly every city or town in Alameda and Contra Costa counties the fines meted out to speeders have been severe enough to act as a warning that later offenses will warrant still more drastic punishment. Penalties for exceeding the legally constituted speed limit have varied in different East-bay towns. They range from $5.00 to $50.00, and in some instances just sentence has been substituted as just punishment.

During the coming week it is expected that a chairman be named to take charge of a definite campaign of education during Safety First week in April. There is a possibility that one of the motor car dealers will be asked to assume charge of the program which will be arranged. Co-operative action is expected from the automobile committee of the Chamber of Commerce, the Oakland Advertising club, the Rotary, Lions club and other leading organizations. The National Traffic Officers' association, under the direction of Lieut. Daniel Sylvester of San Francisco, will direct efforts to make the Safety First issue a keen one in every California city during the first week in April. Complete plans of the Detroit Safety First Week club are expected here in a day or two, and the features which made the week in that city result in a curbing of accidents will be adopted in this state with modifications added to meet local traffic conditions.

Berkeley Lions club is said to be making satisfactory progress in its plans to make the University city safer for pedestrians and motorists.

AUTO CROSSES DESERT.
The latest achievement of the motor car was made when the extensive Gobi desert of 3500 miles was traversed in China. The trip was made by George Moskovski, formerly an officer in the Polish army, in a touring car.

TANKS REPLACE HORSES.
A big lumber concern in Flagstaff, Ariz., purchased two motor tanks from the War Department for use in the great pine forests of Northern Arizona. Each tank will displace 30 horses and 14 men.

License plates for automobiles are changed every six months in Peru.

MUCH GAS REQUIRED.
With an average consumption of about 500 gallons, or 12.3 barrels of gasoline a year per automobile, it is estimated that at least 10,000,000 barrels will be used by motor vehicles in the United States in 1920.

The State of Kansas has a total of 5689 motor farm tractors.

PUNCTURE IS BIG THRILL ACROSS U. S.

Benjamin Tucker of Rochester, N. Y., who was a visitor in this city recently, has achieved the unusual feat of driving across the continent and over the continent's divide several weeks after this route ordinarily is closed to all automobile travel by the winter snows. Tucker left Rochester, October 29, in his Franklin sedan on a "take your time" pleasure tour to the coast. He reached San Francisco three weeks after traveling 4037 miles with no other trouble to the car than losing a mud flap in the black gumbo mud of Iowa and a tire puncture near Barstow, Calif.

On the tour he bucked mud, miles and miles of it, and plowed through snow. He overcame difficulties that a few years ago motorists would have thought insurmountable. And yet, ironically enough, due to mistaken information, he shipped his car from San Francisco to Portland, Ore., supposing he could not get to the Siskiyou mountains. At the time he shipped the car there was, indeed, quite a little snow on the summits of Siskiyou. But along about that time came the warm Chinook wind, and now, though wet, the mountains are said to be passable.

TIRES IN GOOD SHAPE
Being an owner of some experience, said Tucker, "I set out without a spare tire and came through without one. Inasmuch as the car has been driven only 4046 miles before we set out, the tires were virtually as good as new, and I know from past experience they should be good easily for 8000 miles. So I considered that carrying an extra casing would be only adding unnecessary weight to the car."

The deepest snow we encountered was just west of the little town of Hasty, Colo. It had drifted in places up to the axle for a quarter of a mile.

His trip through the Garden of the Gods and Seven Falls at Colorado Springs was very pretty, but we were disappointed to learn that we could not climb Pike's Peak as the road was closed because of snow. The scenery through Idaho Falls into New Mexico was beautiful. It was a case of "watch your step" while descending La Bajada hill, just west of Albuquerque, N. M. The hill has eighteen hairpin turns in it. It took us three hours to get thirty-six miles. It snowed six inches at Winslow and two feet at Flagstaff. So every tourist there, headed for California, was obliged to ship by rail to Needles, Calif.

RUN THROUGH DESERT.
"It was an easy two days' run from there through the Mojave desert to Los Angeles."

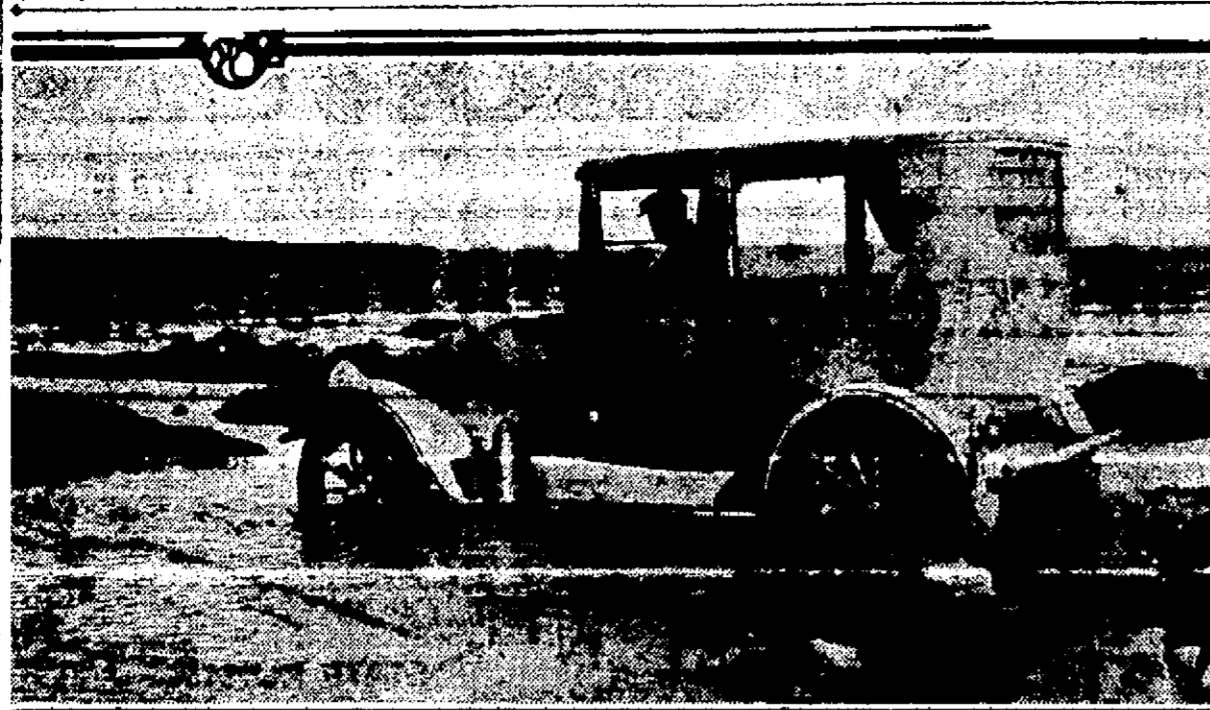

At Summit crossing the mountains in the Canon Pass, we were among the clouds. Mountain shrubbery and evergreens grew as evenly as in an immense park, covering the whole mountain. From there on we toured on the wonderful boulevards of California.

My companion decided to stay in Los Angeles, so I ran the car alone via the coast route to San Francisco.

For scenic grandeur the seven-hundred-mile drive from the Del Monte hotel along the beach from Monterey and the drive along the mountain-side through big trees, virgin forests, for about twenty-five miles from Santa Cruz via Big Tree over Mount Mermon to Los Gatos, has anything but a claim on the whole transcontinental trip.

From San Francisco to Portland the weather man beat me to it by all 4646 miles."

TOURING ACROSS CONTINENT IN WINTER CAN'T BE CONSIDERED A JOY RIDE.
This view, "somewhere in America" shows a Franklin motorist bucking through a small lake of mud. Other experiences encountered have been described in another column.

R. J. ALLEY, STUDEBAKER DEALER IN VACAVILLE, BELIEVES IN GIVING SERVICE regardless of cost. This view pictures him with a package of parts under his arm about to step into an aeroplane on the Marina in order to make a fast trip home with fittings necessary to complete a rush job for a customer.

Substitute Is Sought for Wood Steel Wheels Gaining in Favor

With the development of the motor car industry has come the demand for some sort of a wheel that would be stronger than the wooden wheel used for so long, and still be no heavier, or little heavier, and give greater service.

The steel wheel has been developed and the steel manufacturers found a way to build wheels of steel light in weight but stronger than wood," points out Robert Hanges, manager of the Frank A. Busse Sales company, distributors of dropping plenty of snow in the mountain passes of southern Oregon, compelling me again to ship the car to Portland.

"To San Francisco we covered in all 4646 miles."

Brunswick tires and Harvey steel wheels.

"We decided to handle the distribution of the Harvey steel wheel after long investigation and only after we had looked over the whole field and tried these wheels on our own cars, combined with Brunswick tires. "The Harvey wheel is built of three twenty-gauge steel discs, scientifically combined in a solid unit, giving all the strength of a solid wheel in a hollow wheel, without the excess weight.

"In tests made in the east and in this state the Harvey wheel has stood strains intended for two-ton truck wheels. This in itself is a remarkable record.

"In addition to this it has been found that results of continued running fail to get the wheel out of true. The factory has discovered that this saves tires and that steel wheels actually do prolong the life.

"The design of the wheel is on the principal of the arch. The two steel discs are curved, leaving the center sheet on the outside which reinforces the other two plates.

"The demand for this equipment is increasing from day to day and we are receiving many orders from all parts of the country."

AUTO PARTS SHIPPED BY AEROPLANE

Delivering automobile parts by airplane is the latest feature to the service department of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, which was inaugurated last Monday when R. J. Alley, a dealer at Vacaville, made the trip from San Francisco to Vacaville with parts needed in a hurry by a Vacaville Studebaker owner. In one of the "Bluebird" planes of the Robert G. Fowler, Aerial Transportation Company.

This is how it happened: Alley was spending the week-end at Oakland. One of his customers called at his place of business in Vacaville during his absence and ordered his car overhauled in time to start on a long trip that evening, Monday. It was found desirable to replace two minor parts of the car, a 1917 model. How to get the parts was the question. Alley's energetic service manager called Alley by telephone at Oakland:

"Is it possible to get parts here by noon today?" was asked.

"Sure," replied Alley. "If it's got to be done we will get them there by airplane."

Bob Fowler, president of the Fowler Aerial Transportation Company, was called on the telephone and in a few minutes it was arranged that Alley himself should make the trip to Vacaville in one of the ships.

At 10:45 Alley reached the Weaver Company building at the corner of Van Ness avenue and California street, San Francisco. He was handed the necessary parts and an automobile sped off him in the Marina where the "Bluebird" was waiting. At 11:05 he "hopped off" with George Marshall of the Fowler Company acting as pilot.

At 11:40, the airplane reached Vacaville and at noon Alley was in overalls helping his mechanic put in the new parts.

RENSTROM GROWS FAST IN SOUTH

It will be another month before the Frank O. Renstrom Company celebrates the first anniversary of its entry into the motor trade in Los Angeles, but in this span the organization has grown from a mere handful of five or six persons to a force permanently on the Renstrom payroll of more than ten times the initial number.

Renstrom announces that he has closed a ten-year lease on one of the best equipped, centrally located buildings in Los Angeles, occupying large frontage on both Eleventh and Hiale on the southwest corner. Beginning Monday the sales and service headquarters will be located there, with the company's Olive street location serving as it's used car department.

Efforts by Renstrom to obtain just such a location, and extending over a period of several months past, have time and again demonstrated how scarce such desirable places are.

ALL PLANTS SWAMPED BY CAR ORDERS

Richard H. Collins, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, is in California for a short rest. Collins came direct to Pasadena from Detroit and is spending ten days in touring the state, after which he will return direct to the factory.

"We are making every effort to reach our normal production as soon as possible," said Collins on his arrival. "We realize the tremendous number of advance orders that have been placed not only in California but throughout the country and regret that we are not able to take care of all orders immediately, but purchasers must realize that the same condition prevails in the case of all quality articles and considering the great demand for labor and materials we are in a much better position than a great many other manufacturers in this and other lines."

In Cadillac circles the big thing with us is the new factory. This plant will cover forty-eight acres when completed, and will have more than two million square feet of floor space. Some of the buildings are already completed and occupied. As fast as the various buildings are completed the departments will be moved over to the new plant. This means that practically no time will be lost from production in making the switch from one plant to the other.

The next five years should be big years for the motor car business. The Cadillac president is speaking of general conditions. "Many things in the industry are changing. The old days of immediate delivery on good cars is apparently a thing of the past, not to return very soon. People must realize that to obtain new cars when needed motor needs should be anticipated at least six months. This is the Cadillac position. The buying of motor cars of a better class is no longer a matter of snap decision. The public has become more wise. Ask almost any motorist what car he intends purchasing next and in nine cases out of ten a ready answer will be received. Certain cars in certain classes have firmly established themselves. What these cars are doing in the hands of thousands of owners has definitely drawn the line between the firmly established and proven cars and the experiments and makes that are constantly changing their construction."

Collins is a California enthusiast. He comes West at every opportunity and usually gets out to California at least twice a year. Nothing like the Pacific Coast sunshine to renew one's energy is the opinion of the Cadillac chief.

NEW PROCESS ON TIRES A SUCCESS

An amalgamation process of applying the Gates Half-Sole tire was tested out in a unique manner at the factory the other day. A Half-Sole, carrying double its normal load, was run flat—not even a tube in it, for six miles, and there was not the slightest separation. Ten men couldn't pull the half-sole from the carcass. In another test the Half-Sole was trimmed even with the bead clinch put on by amalgamation process and run 1599 miles without loosening.

There are 355,435 automobiles and trucks registered in the nine provinces of Canada.

Steels that make a Maxwell Alert

That quick, sympathetic action you get when you call on a Maxwell to pass the car ahead, to flatten out a hill, to escape from the crowd in traffic has a story.

It's a story of steels. You can analyze a Maxwell pound for pound with any car built and you will find it quite the equal in fine steels.

A Maxwell had to be made of fine steels. There was no other way.

Because it was built to deliver economic transportation. That meant no superfluous weight. It meant light weight.

But it also meant excessive strength.

Because a rare combination of strength with lightness had to be provided in its steels.

Any metallurgist will tell you that the only answer was the very finest of steels.

They never burden the Maxwell engine, so when you call for results you get them in a Maxwell.

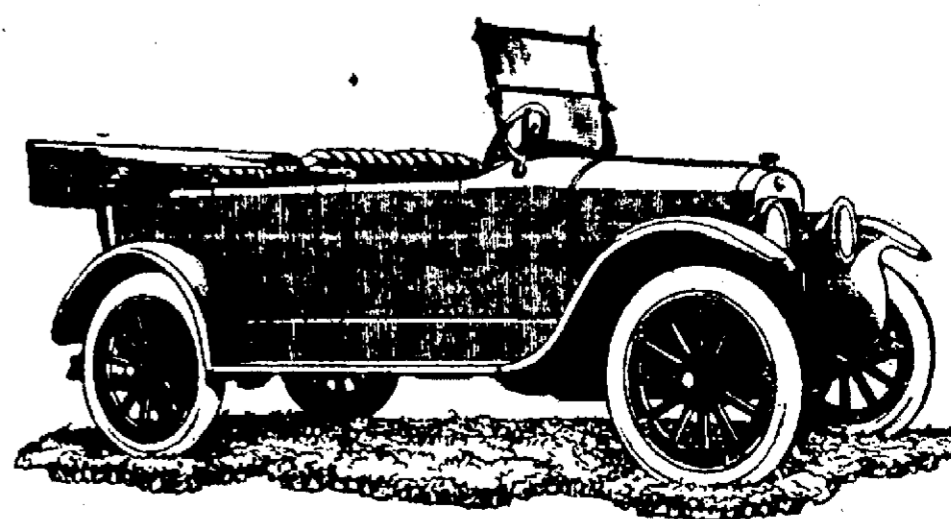

That's one of many reasons why the friendly drift towards Maxwell continues to increase day by day.

Now there are nearly 400,000 of them on the roads of the world.

The demand so far exceeds the supply that only 60% of those who have set their minds on a Maxwell can succeed in possessing one this year.

TRAIN OF 75 TRUCKS WILL TOUR TOWNS

To bring forcibly to public attention throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties the feasibility of shipping goods by motor truck, an Eastbay ship by truck demonstration will be held during the week of May 17 to 22 inclusive, and will be known as the Eastbay Ship by Truck tour, which will have approximately seventy-five motor trucks in it. These will tour through the following towns: Oakland, Fruitvale, Elmhurst, San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Hayward, Mt. Eden, Alvarado, Centerville, Niles, Irvington, Mission San Jose, Sausalito, Pleasanton, Livermore, Santa Rita, Dublin, San Ramon, Danville, Walnut Creek, Concord, Clayton, Bryon, Brentwood, Oakley, Antioch, Pittsburg, Bay Point, Pacheco, Martinez, Crockett, Rodeo, Pinole, San Pablo, Richmond and Berkeley.

The train of trucks will start out from Oakland on the morning of May 17, stop for lunch at Hayward, and will make the first night stop at Pleasanton. Lunch the next day will be at Walnut Creek, nighting at Concord. The following day lunch will be had at Fremont and the night spent at Pittsburg. On the fourth day lunch will be had at Martinez and the night spent at Richmond. On the morning of the 19th, a parade of approximately 250 trucks from business and drayage houses of Oakland will meet the caravan at the Oakland line and escort it through the city streets. This parade will be similar to, but larger, than the one held last July.

May 19 to 22 is national Ship by Truck week and this demonstration will be but one of the many that will be held during that week throughout the entire United States for the purpose of educational propaganda.

It is hoped by this demonstration to show forcibly to shippers and the public at large the speedy and efficient method of aiding in the relief of congested traffic and freight conditions.

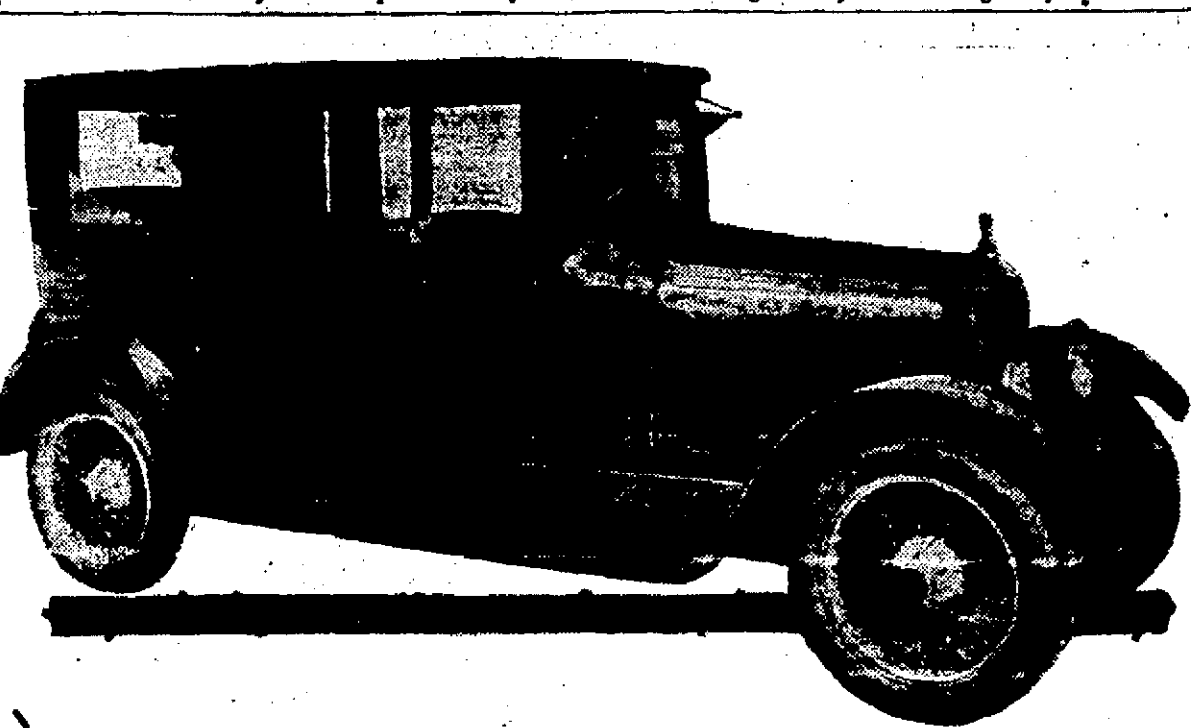

The ship by truck movement that is represented by this nation wide demonstration is of great value from a business and also a patriotic point of view. For transportation is one of the fundamentals in business, and an economical necessity without which modern commerce would quickly stagnate and perish.

A general meeting of all motor truck dealers in Oakland was called by a committee of five as follows: Walter Besse, chairman; Dave Jones, Wm. Tudor, R. M. Miller, D. M. Pitt. This meeting was an enthusiastic one and addresses were delivered by many who were interested in the movement. It was decided to make Ship by Truck week in the Eastbay district an interesting and educational one that in any other part of the country during the nation-wide demonstration.

Sub committees will be appointed to take care of the details of the arrangements, and judging from the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting, the big demonstration will run over with a bang.

Tentative plans were completed to arrange with local Chambers of Commerce and other civic bodies along the course of the tour to make the hauling demonstration interesting.

THIS HANDSOME MARMON "34" SEDAN, THE FIRST ONE OF ITS TYPE DELIVERED on the coast, has just been purchased from A. W. Rawling Co. by T. E. Morgan of Oakland

NEW MODEL OF MARMON IS BEAUTY

With the close of the recent automobile shows many beautiful motor cars of unusually distinctive design have been seen on streets and boulevards.

Snappy sportsters with dashing disc wheels, luxurious limousines, landaulets with exquisite exterior—unique creations of every model type—but one of the newest creations yet seen in Oakland in closed cars came rolling out of the A. W. Rawling Company's shops last week.

The "niftiest thing" was a new series Marmon 34 sedan—a gift from T. E. Morgan, general manager of the Albers Bros. Milling Company to his wife. The sedan was a special job finished to order and is the second Marmon Morgan has purchased within a year.

Some idea of the demand the factory is laboring under may be gained from the fact that in order to make a reasonably prompt delivery, Rawling ordered the car sent here "in the lead"—a trade term meaning that the body had not yet received its finish but was delivered with only its priming paint coat applied.

A bottle-royce blue finish was applied at the Rawling shops. The black top seems to be all that was necessary to afford the rich blue a proper contrast.

New York Property Bought by Auto Co.

The Haynes Automobile Company, Kokomo, Indiana, has purchased the property at 1712 Broadway, New York City, where the New York branch of the Haynes company has been located for a number of years.

The adjacent property at 1715 Broadway was also purchased by the Haynes company to make room for additional expansion. The purchase price was $200,000.

through the towns of Emeryville, Alameda, San Pablo, Pinole, Rodeo, then to Valona, where the ferry was taken for Morrow Cove, near Vallejo. The map should be followed closely on the route out of Vallejo. After striking the main road on the outskirts of Vallejo you will find road directions simple to follow.

During the entire trip to Sacramento there is but little delay due to poor road conditions, in fact the highways are in good shape.

POINTS OF INTEREST.

To the stranger who has never made this trip before, some points of interest should be observed along the route. The causeway built over what is known as the Yolo basin and extending over a length of three and two-tenths miles, affords much interest. This great piece of structure was built because the land at that point being so low is often flooded over in winter. To protect uninterrupted traffic to and from

LIFE ADDED TO AUTO BY USING PLENTY OF OIL

Has it ever occurred to you that lubrication prolongs the life of your automobile, or your machine, no matter what kind of machine it is?

You must have noticed how pins wear when the oil doesn't penetrate and you must have seen some car disabled on the road with a burned out bearing and some part burned out, because it was not properly lubricated.

The answer to most of the lubrication questions is simply that finding the proper lubricant and getting it where it is needed and keeping it there long enough to do good work.

Sacramento during this overflow the causeway has been provided.

The opening of this new ferry system gives the motorists a choice of five routes in and out of Sacramento. The following are selections that may be made, and all of them offer pretty good service: Rodeo-Vallejo, five minute ferry, Martinez-Benicia, Livermore-Stockton route and what is known as the Neversham route by way of Antioch, Sherman Island, Rio Vista and Courtland.

Tire Costs Make Buyers Think 1920 Bill to Reach $900,000,000

This year the American people will spend more than $900,000,000 for automobile tires.

Tires are one of the largest items in the motorist's budget.

The cost is making even careless buyers think and inquire.

And the more they inquire the smaller will grow the influence of hearsay and the irresponsible tire dealer.

We have all met the man who takes his opinions ready-made. He tells everything he knows. He knows more about every car than the man who made it, where to buy the cheapest truck—how to get the biggest bargain in tires.

His advice arouses a certain amount of wonder in the unknown. They never think to ask him where he gets his secrets.

"Somebody says" and "everybody does" are responsible for more wrong impressions about tires than anything else you can think of.

It is on the people who come under the influence of these phrases that the irresponsible dealer thrives.

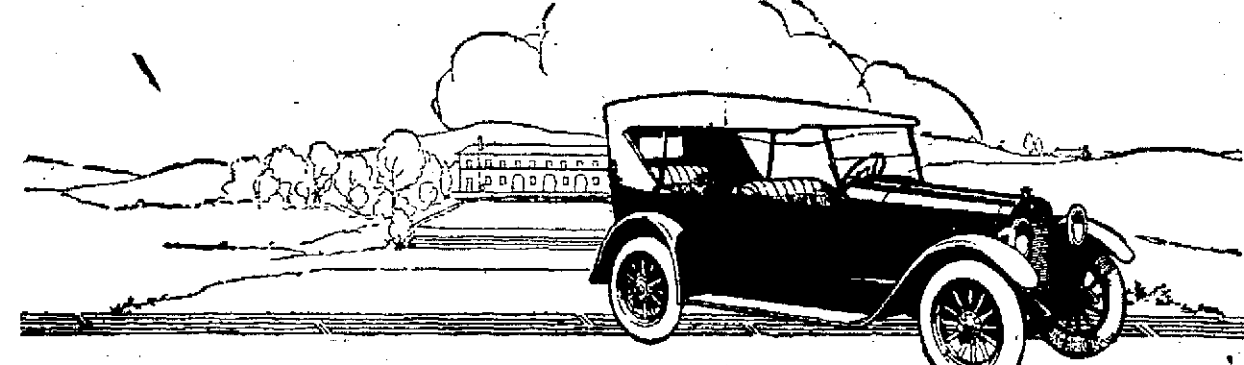

You generally find him with the name of a standard tire displayed in his windows to give an impression of quality.

But when you get inside the first thing he begins to talk about is price and substitution.

What the thoughtful motorist is looking for today is better tires.

He goes to a legitimate dealer and gets a legitimate tire.

The quality idea—the idea of a tire in quality—is commanding a greater respect from a larger portion of the motoring public all the time.

An expression of appreciation

The Lou H. Rose Company's New Model Display Week was an unqualified success. Everybody is talking about it. The members of this organization are still receiving the most hearty compliments from friends and rivals alike upon this, our most recent triumph.

We desire to extend our most sincere thanks to the Eastbay Public to whom the credit for this accomplishment is due. Particularly do we wish to thank the following individuals who took advantage of the exhibit to place orders for twenty new

NEW PLANT FAST NEARS COMPLETION

The new plant of the Moreland Motor Truck Company is practically completed, except for a few finishing touches.

Chief Construction Engineer R. Beverly, who has worked for a year to bring the plant to a perfect state, is authorized for the statement that it will be finished by the latter part of this month, so that the big work of removal from the present plant will begin April 1.

Already annealing furnaces, steam boilers, heat treating furnaces, sand blasting equipment, molding machines for heavy casting and other new machinery is arriving and being rapidly installed in the places designated for it. The steel lockers for clothing, parts and tools are in place. The administration building is ready for the executive force now.

At present fast work is being done on the last connecting link of final readiness for operation—the immense water tower which is to furnish the supply for the extensive spinning system and other purposes. This tank is to have a capacity of 75,000 gallons to be supplied from a well sunk on the property. It will stand 80 feet high on pillars of concrete and will be one of the landmarks of the section that can be seen for miles. There is still to be built a warehouse alongside of the Southern Pacific railroad tracks, where a spur makes into the property. This will be 150 by 50 feet.

The work of clearing up the grounds and laying out the roadway of cement is now going on. A contract has recently been made with F. G. Thiene, the well known landscape gardener, who became famous for his work at the San Diego exposition, to take care of the general beautifying of the grounds. It is proposed to make them very attractive as well as designed to give the employees an opportunity to work out their athletic ambitions. A swimming pool is being built with tennis courts, a ball field and other facilities for fun and exercise. Each of the factory units will be equipped with shower baths.

The entire plant represents an investment of about $2,000,000, and is located on a fine tract of 27½ acres. The actual factory floor space is about 135,000 square feet.

Care Is Needed in

Adjusting Bearings

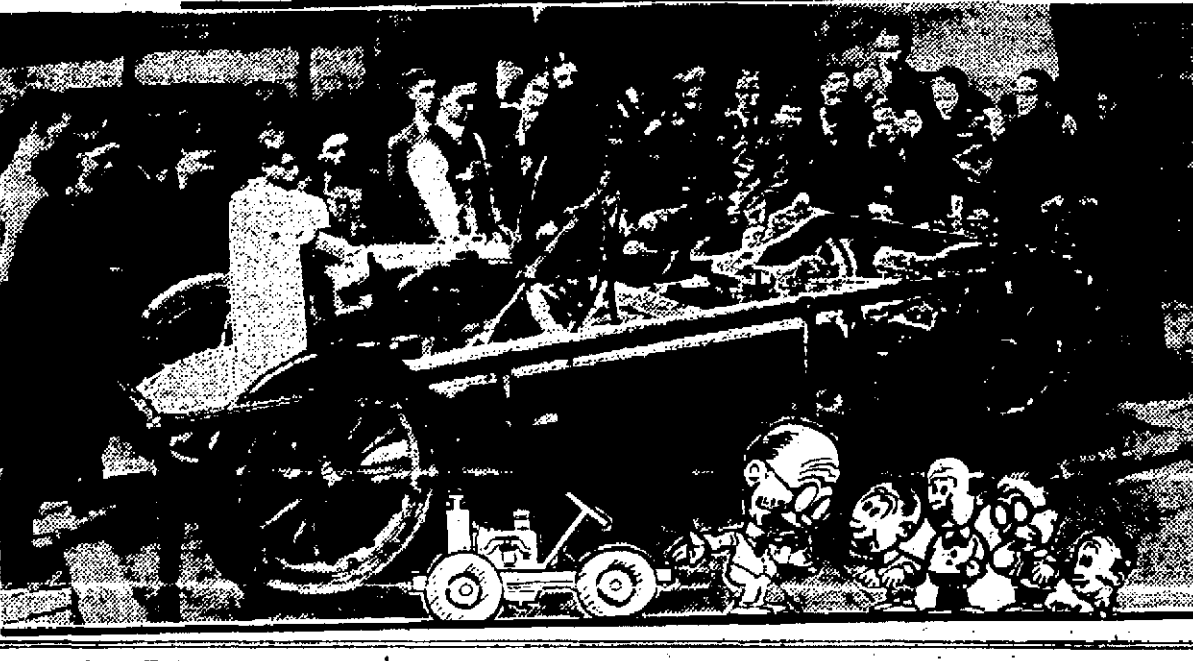

Ball bearings must not be adjusted so that they are too tight or cramped. A small amount of looseness is necessary. When bearings are fitted with adjusting nuts the nuts should first be made tight and then backed off until the bearing turns freely. Since the bearings are very sensitive to adjustment, a slight change in the position of the adjusting nut will make a lot of difference in the operation of the bearing.

How to Make Good Spark Plug Cleaner

It is comparatively easy to make an effective spark plug cleaner. Get a piece of glass tubing about three inches long. In each end make a cork and bore each end to take the threaded bushing of a spark plug. Fill the tube with sand and gasoline, insert the spark plugs and shake the device briskly. The sand and gasoline will clean out the carbon in jig time.

MECHANICAL STUDENTS AT TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL WERE LAST WEEK AFFORDED an insight into the principles of motor construction when J. L. Brambila, manager of the Low H. INQUIRIES MANY AS TO NEW CAR

E. W. Milburn, manager of the Greer-Robbins Company, newly appointed distributors for the La Fayette, has been kept busy answering queries regarding the new car. Hundreds of inquiries by mail, phone and in person have been received at the local headquarters of the Greer-Robbins Company, presaging a big demand for this most popular of all the new cars announced this season. The reputation of the builders and the stability of the men behind the La Fayette Motors Company is given as the chief reason for the instant popularity of the La Fayette. It bids fair to be another one of those cars on which deliveries "are promised, time uncertain."

Bonds Purchase Is Promised Counties Seeking Good Roads

Inspired by the desire to see a graded State highway between Merced and El Portal at reality at an early date, the citizens of Merced and Mariposa counties will start a drive this month for the purchase of enough State Highway bonds in those counties to complete the work, is the information that Foster Curry of Camp Curry, Yosemite, has just received. The construction of sixteen miles of concrete highway between Merced and the Mariposa county line is about May 1. There is already a fine graded State highway from the county line to Mariposa, which is now under way and will be finished in a stretch of about 35 miles to be built to El Portal. The highway from El Portal to the Yosemite is a finely graded piece of macadam work. Curry said: "Because the bids on the last issue of the highway bonds have been below par, it has been necessary to reject them, as the legislative act stipulates that they cannot be sold below that figure. The citizens of Merced and Mariposa counties want to see the highway through their sections completed and they intend to buy enough of the bonds to put it over. Although the dates set for the Los Angeles economy run to Camp Curry are two months away, it is already evident that the number of entries will probably considerably exceed those of last year."

What we mean when we say the "Balanced Six"

Balance is the clearest indication of mechanical refinement. It does not happen by accident. It must be scientifically worked out—accurately and painstakingly.

Leadership in balanced construction is the secret and the explanation of American Six success.

By a scientific distribution of weight in the American Balanced Six, the load is divided over each of the four wheels almost to a fraction of a pound. The chassis is not underweighted at the rear nor overweighted at the front. Each wheel carries an equal share of the load.

The effect on the riding qualities of this Balanced Six is little short of amazing. Behind its wheel rough roads have no terrors for you. Sharp turns no not affright you. There is no slip—no side-sway going around corners. Your car holds the road at all speeds.

That is what we mean when we say the "Balanced Six."

The American Balanced Six is the first instance in which the principle of balance has been correctly applied in the construction of a car of light weight.

Every mile you cover in this matchless Six is a mile of added joy. You fairly smile the miles away.

CHASSIS IS STUDIED AT HIGH SCHOOL

The life of a "stripped chassis"—one of those highly-polished bits of mechanism that are always the center of curious throngs at the auto shows—must be an adventurous one. Take for instance, the Chalmers Silver Chassis—a mechanical feature at motor car exhibitions all over the country and still more recently at the private showing of new models in the Low H. Rose show rooms last week. If that chassis could talk it would have a mighty interesting yarn to spin. Rushed from one exhibit to another, it must see and hear some funny things. Its latest achievement is the role of school teacher. At the close of the Rose exhibit it was taken to the Oakland Technical High School where it delivered a series of silent lectures to the students who are studying automobiles under the instruction of L. R. Priest. Monday and Tuesday at the day pupils and night classes students studied the chassis and were afforded an excellent insight into the principles of automobile construction. The chassis is so cut out that its various functions are clearly visible. The "Hot Spot" and "Rains Horn" manifold, which has lately been adopted by many types of machines, and its effect on present day low-grade fuel was clearly defined to the pupils.

Cole Aero-EIGHT

BALANCED TO ZERO

What enables the Aero-EIGHT to be so light and yet possess such strength, endurance and stamina?

Aerotype engineering has solved the problem of obtaining strength without relying on bulky weight. The tenuous frame work of the aeroplane is able to support almost unbelievable burdens and to withstand the rigors of the most violent strains. Absolute co-ordination of all supporting members is required so that each will share in maintaining the load applied at any point. The entire mechanism is balanced to zero.

These principles of perfect balance are applied in the design and construction of the Aero-Eight and vest its mere 3,600 pounds with stripping vigor.

CONTRACT FOR AUTO GIVEN OUT

Stevens-Duryea motor cars will be distributed in Northern California, Nevada and the Hawaiian Islands by L. D. Allen, Inc.

This announcement, awaited with the keenest expectancy, ends speculation regarding one of the most highly prized franchises of the industry. The fact that there was such spirited competition for the contract, more than 50 having applied for it, made it a popular subject for discussion ever since it became known that there would be a Stevens-Duryea car this year.

Acquisition of the Stevens-Duryea marks another milestone in Allen's progress. Although comparatively new to the automobile business, measured against the service of the veterans, he has developed his business with remarkable rapidity. He is now the largest distributor in the Cole organization and holds a like position among Sandow truck distributors.

By the time the first of the new Stevens-Duryea cars arrive in San Francisco Allen's organization will be established in its new home on Van Ness avenue. This structure, the largest in the west devoted to selling automobiles, will be ready for occupancy in about three weeks.

Allen returned to San Francisco last week after a hurried trip to Chicopee Falls, Mass., whither he went to close the contract with R. S. Deering, president of Stevens-Duryea, Inc. After inspecting the company's new factory, Allen, over Deering's plans in detail, he is more than ever convinced that he obtained the choice distributing plum of the year.

San Francisco will get utmost consideration in the factory's distributing plans, according to Allen. Several cars will be shipped here next month.

It has been common knowledge for several months that the Stevens-Duryea, Inc., of Chicopee Falls, Mass., had everything ready to re-enter the motor car field at the point where the old company left off in 1914, when the Stevens-Duryea factory was turned over to the manufacture of war material, but the big point of interest has been who would be chosen to handle this pioneer line.

In 1893 the first Duryea wagon made its appearance. In 1895 the Duryea wagon won the Chicago Times-Herald race and in 1896, the Cosmopolitan contest in New York further established the Duryea. From that date onward developments came rapidly. In 1897 the Stevens-Duryea engineering department invented the three-point support of the power transmission was incorporated in the Stevens-Duryea. In 1904 the unit housing was employed and the Stevens-Duryea multiple disc, dry-plate clutch was brought out.

From 1905 to August, 1914, when production stopped, the Stevens-Duryea car world that was probably never approached by any year.

That there will be no radical departure from the mechanical features of 1914 and former years is already an assured fact. Body refinements are considered only necessary for a few of the details of construction.

A brief study of the specifications shows a close adherence to the things in motor car construction that mean absolute satisfaction. The motor is the usual Stevens-Duryea six-cylinder, cast in pairs; bore 4 7/16x5 1/2 stroke, with workmanship and finish that are equal to the craftsmanship of the most skilled gunsmiths in the world.

Company Changes Name and Home in Near Future

L. D. ALLEN, HEAD OF the firm of that name which has just added the Stevens Duryea to its line.

Greater Advertising Value Is Given As Reason for New Step.

Coincident with the announcement that he had obtained the Stevens-Duryea, came the announcement from L. D. Allen that his firm name had been changed from the California Motor Sales Company to L. D. Allen, Inc.

Much urging on the part of his friends, in and out of the trade, and the fact that his new building will be completed in a few weeks, led to the change at this time. The new name, it is believed, will be a source of greater advertising value and inspire confidence, in addition to identifying more closely the head of the organization with the business.

The automobilizing merchandising business has become so individualized that there is a strong tendency to inject personality and life into the business name.

L. D. Allen's career on automobile row has been one of consistent expansion and more rapid than has been the lot of most men. The California Motor Sales Company was organized in October, 1917, occupying small quarters on Van Ness avenue, and distributing Olympia cars. Later the Lexington was added and then the Chevrolet.

With the occupancy of his present quarters, Allen became the distributor for the Cole Aero-eight. He succeeded so well with this line that he eliminated lower priced cars, with the result that his business grew so fast that it became necessary to arrange for a building of adequate size.

His success in merchandising motor cars was so positive that he decided to dispose of his other business interests and give his personal attention to his new venture. He bought property on Van Ness avenue, between California and Sacramento streets, for a building containing more than 100,000 square feet of floor space and equipped with every modern facility. This structure, now

COBBLERS' ART IS PROFITABLE ONE

Remember the neighborhood cobbler of your youth? And how you could hear his rap-a-tap-tap half a block away as you approached the humble shop with that emblem of shoe-menders the world over—a big wooden boot—over the door? Usually you had to wait a week before your shoes were returned to you.

But what you ask, has the ancient art of shoe-cobbling to do with an automobile section? We're coming to that.

One would imagine that with the advent of the automobile the shoe-making business would take a sudden drop. But not so. The cobbler has made as rapid progress as the garage man. Today when you want that half-sole put on your shoe, you enter a most modern shop, sit down and glance over your favorite magazine for a few minutes while the operator applies your shoe to a lot of mysterious machinery.

Shoe-mending is certainly on a different basis, and, strange to say, most shoemakers now-a-days own good-sized automobiles, offering a strong contrast to the humble neighborhood cobbler of our youth.

Take O. O. Lund, an Oakland shoemaker, who has just purchased an American Balanced Six from Charles Griffiths. Mr. Lund is very generously proportioned, standing something like six feet four in his stocking feet. Special adjustments had to be made to the steering wheel of the "scale car" before it would afford Lund all the smiles it should—but now that it has been reconstructed to accommodate him, the up-to-date shoemaker is an American enthusiast.

It's funny, isn't it, that these two businesses are so far apart and yet so dependent on each other?

Tribune Auto Annual Out Next Sunday

The tenth annual TRIBUNE Automotive Edition is now in course of preparation and it will be issued next Sunday, March 21.

The forthcoming yearly review will be the largest of its kind which THE TRIBUNE has ever issued.

The road mapping program of this newspaper for the year 1920 will be outlined. What the Highway Commission, the California Automobile Trade Association, the California State Automobile Association accomplished during 1919 and their aims for 1920 will be told in detail.

No advertising or news matter intended for publication in this section will be accepted after Wednesday night.

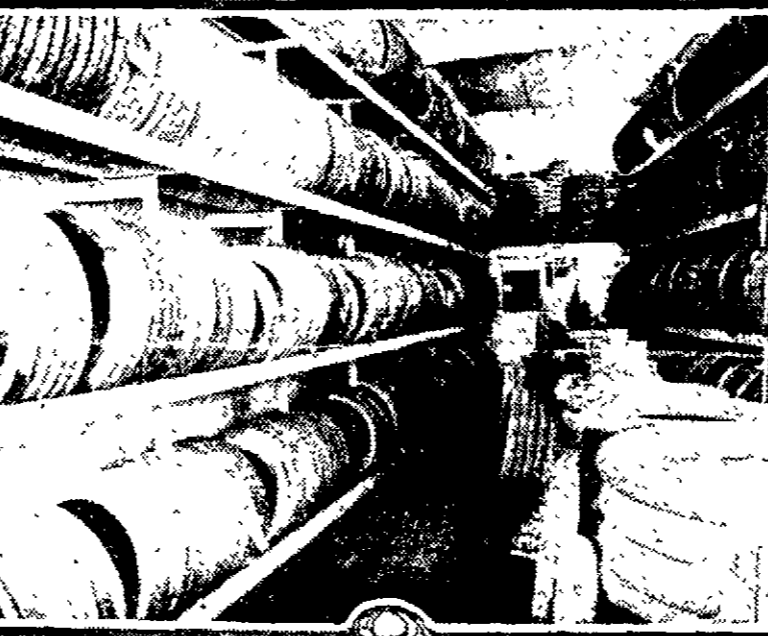

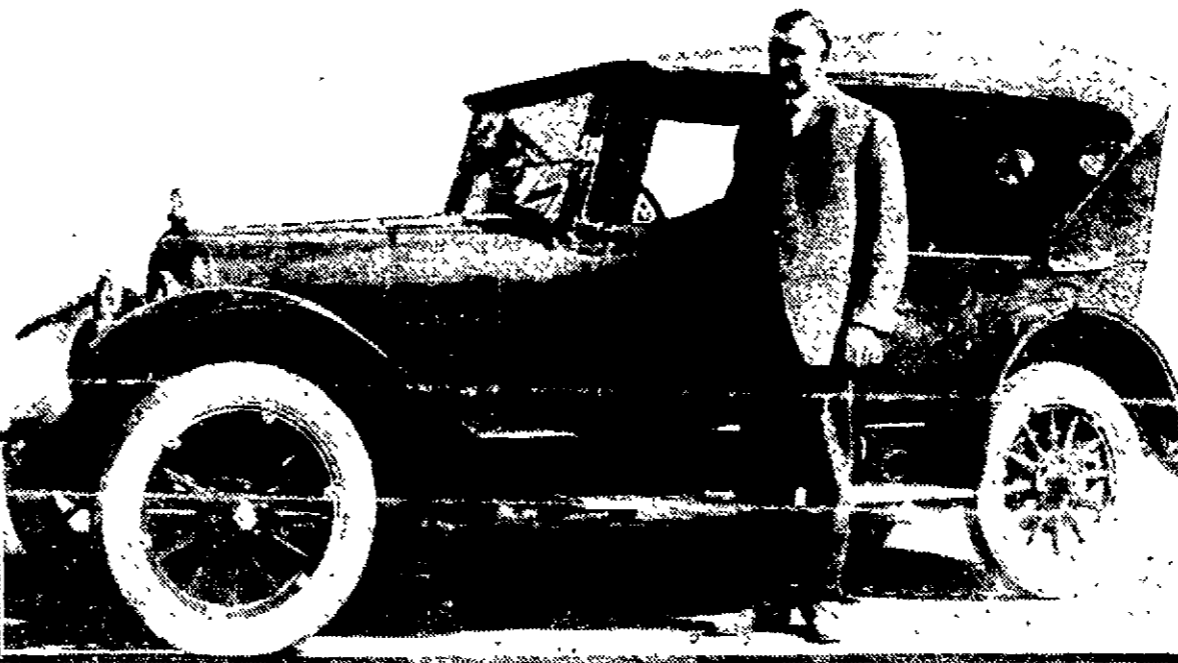

awaiting finishing details, is the largest of its kind in the West.

At present Allen's direct selling organization is confined to San Francisco, Oakland and Fresno, but his plans call for branches in other important California points within the next few months.

Belgium is preparing extensive highway improvements and it is intended to make the new roads the finest, if possible, in the world.

Pennsylvania has more than 10,000 grade crossings.

"BUY AN AUTOMOBILE AND BEAT THE HIGH PRICE OF SHOE LEATHER!" THIS may not be the slogan of O. O. Lund, the giant Oakland shoe-maker, or not; but here he is with an American Balanced Six just purchased from Charles Griffiths. No one should know the high price of shoe leather better than he.

GETTING READY FOR THE 1920 TOURING RUSH. MANY tire salesrooms, like this one of the Standard Tire Sales Co. are well stocked with a variety brand of tires.

DURABILITY FIRST REQUISITE IN TIRE

When men buy tires they do not want a lot of fold-rolls and beauty spots. They want tires that will last, that will look well on the car, but primarily those that will last and last a long time.

Tires have been improved faster than automobiles as a matter of fact and automobiles have been improved rapidly as we all know.

"No matter how fast tires improve in quality and design, so that they last longer, there will always be that factor of abuse to be reckoned with," points out Robert Harjes, manager of the Frank A. Busse Sales Company, Brunswick distributors.

"In factory parlance they call it the 'human factor,' a thing that cannot be eliminated. It can be educated, however, and this factor is being educated as rapidly as the press and tire men can do their work."

"In tire wear the human factor takes the form of the man who builds the tire at the factory, the man who sells it and the man who uses it."

The automobile industry in this country employs more than 1,000,000 men and women. This does not include accessory manufacturers.

This Brush Makes It Easy to Clean Springs

The average car owner hates the job of cleaning the springs and yet this ought to be carried out regularly. A handy brush that makes the work easy may be made by fastening three small scrubbing brushes together, one at the bottom and two at the sides with the bristles facing in. With this brush the bottom and sides of the spring can be cleaned at one time.

CHANDLER SIX Famous For Its Marvelous Motor

Chandler Leads Because of Its Real Worth

IT is easy to boast and make claims and to so magnify mere incidents that they may appear as mighty events. It is easy to paint in the colors of exaggeration.

Chandler advertising has never carried boasts or unfounded assertions to the public. It has never extolled some single performance as final evidence of superiority.

The Chandler Six is so distinctly the leader among medium-priced high-grade cars because of its own worthiness, which for sales purposes does not need the support of exaggeration.

Chandler worthiness comes primarily, of course, from its great chassis, light, strong and enduring, featured by the famous Chandler motor developed throughout seven years of constant manufacture with no change of type of design, but with refinements and developments which have kept it long strides ahead of any other six.

This isn't a claim. It's a fact, and over sixty thousand Chandler owners would tell you so if you could ask them.

Six handsome bodies, splendidly built and finished, are mounted on the one standard Chandler chassis.

AMATEUR IN TRUCK TEST LANDS SAFE

B. J. Rosenthal, known to his many friends as "Rosy," a young man of unusually comfortable girth, maintains his avocation by writing snappy stories for newspapers. Recently he purchased a partial title residence in Berkeley and was confronted with the problem of moving.

As a test, H. G. Markham, of Markham & Purser, Oakland truck distributors in Oakland, volunteered to loan Rosy one of their trucks in which to move his belongings.

Now, there were several reasons why the plump literary genius wanted to drive the truck himself. First, he had an invaluable collection of curios. Most important of all, though, is said to have been a collection of private stock, which since July 1 has become priceless.

Certainly he could not trust his liquid wealth to a poor, underpaid truck driver. He willingly accepted Markham & Purser's generous offer of the Oldsmobile and the moving began under his personal supervision.

The trip from East Oakland to the heart of Berkeley was about nine miles. The furniture and goods to be moved was the contents of a five-room bungalow—the scene of the young author's start on the road to fame.

The whole moving job took five hours. This included loading the Oldsmobile in front of the house, tying the load on securely and driving nine miles to the Berkeley home, unloading there, carrying some of the belongings upstairs while the truck waited, and repeating the performance. The operation required two trips and was completed inside of five hours.

The truck, mounted on Goodyear cord pneumatic tires, was able to make a speed of twenty to twenty-five miles an hour, with its heavy load and driver—also heavy.

This campaign by the United States Rubber Company is creating wide interest all over the United States. Chambers of commerce and civic organizations have in many cases asked the rubber manufacturers to place more of these educational boards.

Extended Service of Employees Rewarded
In most industrial concerns long service on the part of employees is rewarded, sometimes by increased pay with pensions at a certain age and in many other ways, including bonuses and stock participation. One of the most practicable plans is that of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, which makes much of long service. Pride is taken in the

Clean Carburetor by Opening Drain Cock
There is always a certain amount of foreign matter in the fuel line, and this collects in the form of sediment in the bowl of the carburetor. All that is necessary is to drain the instrument by opening the drain cock in the bottom and let the foreign matter run out.

CARE URGED AS HELP TO AUTO'S LIFE

When you drive your automobile be sure that it is in proper condition. It is the easiest thing in the world to keep the car fit and in good condition if you only care for it now and then.

The way to care for the car is to do it systematically. Be prepared to do certain things to the car each week. In this way you will not have to make a big job of it all at once.

The Maxwell Company has so simplified the care of today that there is no trouble in caring for them. Oil and grease, of course, are the enemies of wear and tear and these two factors should not be overlooked.

The thing that causes excessive wear on the motor car is lack of lubrication. If a car is properly oiled it will last many times as long as the car that is neglected.
"The man in the service department is the fellow who learns the whys and wherefores of motor cars," points out James Gray, manager of the Western Motor Company.
Every once in a while you see on the streets of this city a car five or six years old and still running sweetly, its owner just as proud of it as he is of the new baby. The reason is that he has kept it greased and oiled properly and its parts are just as new now as they were the day they were placed in the car by the manufacturer.

On the whole there are few cars four years old still running, and the reason is that their owners have pushed them aside because they were no good. They were out because they were not cared for.

The average life of a motor vehicle is five years, and that includes low and high priced cars. When the number of cars still running is considered and the amount of use these cars have had during their lifetime, it is no wonder that the automobile business is good.

Life of Springs Can Be Prolonged by Boot

One of the most useful methods of conserving the life of the springs is to cover them with boots of leather or imitation. Many supply stores carry spring boots in a fair range of sizes, but lacking this it is easy to make a boot, cutting the material, leather or imitation to fit and then sewing it. The boot serves a double purpose in that it keeps the lubricant in and the water out, and imitation leather, being waterproof, is perhaps even better than the real leather.

Clear Windshield is Easy to Construct

It is a simple matter to give any touring car a clear vision windshield, which is not generally included in the equipment of the open car. The upper section of the windshield is simply mounted on the top by means of brackets that hold the part out at the desired angle. In this way the upper half of the shield keeps off the rain, while the lower half protects the driver from the wind.

Method of Removing Broken Valve Core

Here is a method of removing the broken core of a tire valve. A cotter pin small enough to enter the valve is pushed down into the chamber, the legs straddling the valve pin. A small washer, through which the pin has been threaded, is forced down so that it squeezes the legs together, thus gripping the pin. A nail slipped through the eye of the cotter acts as a handle to pull it out by.

business career with a prestige of names that command instant attention wherever American motor cars are known.

Smashed Hub Caps, Invitation to Dirt

A smashed hub cap should never be allowed to stay in that condition as it permits dirt and grit to enter and wear the bearings. At the same time that grease is oozing out. A temporary repair of a smashed hub may be made with a tin can, which happens to be the proper size to fit the axle. The cut off two or three inches from the bottom and is slit down for an inch or two. The can is slipped over the hub and bound with wire to hold it tightly in place.

There are two and a half cars for every mile of road in the United States.

New Type Moreland Radiator

A motor truck tied up on the road because of a damaged radiator picks dollars out of the owner's pocket.

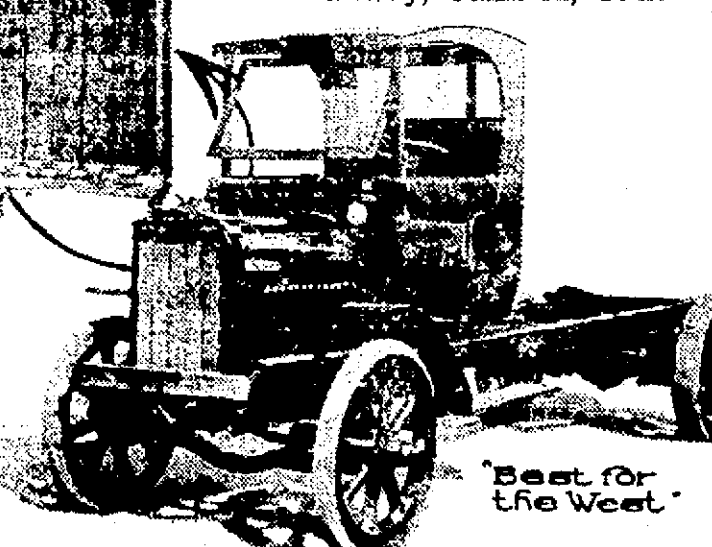

In the latest models of Morelands is installed a distinctly and radically new radiator which is an insurance against just that thing.

It is a typically progressive Moreland improvement. It is of the cellular type, built in sections. Each section is independent and in case of accident to one, or several sections, there need be no tie-up. Each section is held in place by four bolts easily accessible from the front. Should one or two sections be damaged it is only necessary to loosen these bolts, insert a card between the sections and the headers, and go on with those remaining intact.

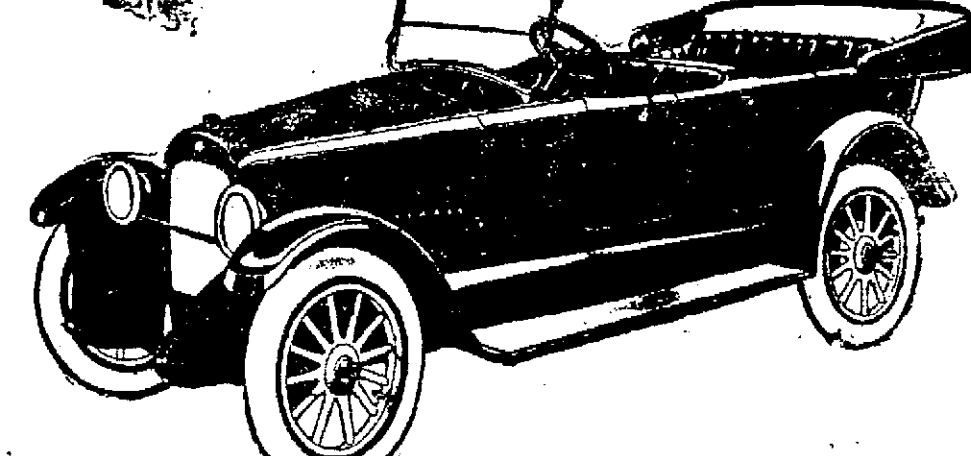

A section, if damaged beyond repair, may be as easily and quickly replaced entire at small expense when a service station is reached. Moreland radiators have always been efficient. It is believed the new ones are the highest, most practical type yet developed.

At all Moreland service stations are large stocks of parts, many of them standard units. They are always ready to help owners of other trucks keep them moving.

BALANCE IS NECESSARY FOR RACER

Perfect balance in his car, even to the smallest detail, is something that the successful automobile racing driver never overlooks.

Experienced pilots before entering the long, hard grind of a championship race, always give the most careful attention to the "balancing" of their car's wheels. A racing driver always keeps an ample supply of spare tires mounted on wire wheels. He supplies the wheels to the representative of what ever tire he happens to be using, who mounts the wheels and inflates them to the proper air-pressure.

As soon as the driver has received his mounted tires he "balances" the wheels. The car is jacked up and a wheel is applied to an axle. Then comes the test. If the wheel moves it is not in balance and the racing driver corrects this by twisting a bit of wire around a spoke or by placing an extra washer in the valve stem. Eventually just enough weight is applied to the wheel so that when it is again placed on the axle it will remain perfectly stationary, no matter to what position it is turned. This is done to all wheels and a wheel measuring up to this test is said to be in "balance."

The object of this balancing process, according to Charles Griffiths, coast distributor of the American Balanced Six, and who in his younger days drove in some of the early Vanderbilt races, is to avoid excessive tread wear and to gain uniformity of wheel revolution. "We learn much from racing."

"SPACE HOG" IS REGARDED AS DISTURBER

Don't be a space hog. Many a motorist has been greatly inconvenienced by the driver who will deliberately run his machine into a space just vacated by two machines in such a manner that it is impossible for another machine to get in. Then there is the amateur who parks his car parallel to the curb when he is supposed to run it in at an angle. Parking facilities downtown are meager enough without having to contend with this form of inconvenience—the space hog.

Yeh—and then there is the road hog. He is worse than his big brother. It is no fun to run along behind a slowpoke for miles and miles and try to get ahead of him, only to have him move over so that if you do try to pass you will have to run off the road.

"If we all remember the Golden Rule this world would be a lot pleasanter place to live in," commented C. D. Rand, Mercer distributor.

added Griffiths. "No more severe test is to be found for a car than in a road-race or over the boards of a speedway. If balance plays such an important role in race-driving then certainly it must be a vital factor in every-day motoring."

BIG GARAGE PLANS WELL UNDER WAY

Hamilton Murdock, architect, says he has succeeded in combining the architectural design of the California building at the exposition with the requirements of an up-to-date garage. The result of Murdock's efforts will be seen in the new garage which the Eastbay Garages, Incorporated, is to erect at Twelfth and Harrison streets and running back to Eleventh.

J. W. Bahrke, president of the garage company, claims that the management will place the operation of the garage upon as high a standard as the artistic beauty of the building.

"We are going to keep our garage spotlessly clean," he announced. "We are going to install service features that no other garage is offering."

The new garage, according to the present plans, will open its doors by July 1.

COLD ENGINE ANNOYANCES ARE AVOIDED

A test was made a few days ago in the San Bernardino mountains to demonstrate that winter temperature is no longer a handicap to quick starting. A demonstrator with a Packard sent out by E. C. Anthony, Inc., was driven above the snow line. The hood was lifted and the carburetor, manifold pipes and motor smothered with snow. The motor, when so cold that it would no longer thaw the snow, was turned over. It started instantly, as it did in a similar test conducted in the east with the temperature a eleven degrees above zero. In a few minutes the snow was thawed away around the fuelizer, it being the hottest point on the motor.

So perfect is the working of this new invention claimed to be that not even an atom of gasoline escapes combustion. "It seems obvious therefore," Anthony officials assert, "that carbon cannot crust the valves or cylinders nor mix with kerosene and foul the spark plug." Continuing, they say:

"On cold mornings motors are on the rack behavior. Imagine the effect of having a gasoline torch, which lights automatically at the first turn of the motor, creating a high temperature in the fuelizer chamber which surrounds the intake manifold. That summertime song of the motor driving in high will be heard in less than sixty seconds—if the car is equipped with this new invention."

"The fuelizer heats the manifold and its hot burned gases enter the intake manifold, this direct heating assuring that all gas passing through

EXHIBITS AT ACCESSORY SHOW GROW

From 300 exhibits, including 1000 lines of automotive accessories and equipment, will be assembled what is called the most modern garage in America at the first annual Pacific Coast Automotive Equipment exposition at the Civic auditorium in San Francisco, opening March 20, according to Arthur Bryson, the show manager.

Equipment for this modern garage is being selected by Robert Martland, secretary of the California Automobile Trade association, and a committee of California accessory and equipment jobbers.

Occupying more than 3000 square feet of the main floor of the Civic auditorium, the model garage will be operated as one of the principal educational features of the exposition. Machinery, tools and every known modern appliance for the garage treatment of motor vehicles will be installed and operated by factory experts. In addition to the garage, the Larkin street side of the auditorium is to be set aside as "Machinery hall," and will show scores of the latest mechanical devices used in the manufacture and rebuilding and repair of motor vehicles.

Manufacturers of motive equipment from all over the country, and is thoroughly dried—cracked into a completely combustible fuel. "SAVAGE" TIRE & TUBES

MADE BY THE HOUSE OF SPRECKELS

SAVAGE POLICIES

The unlimited resources of the House of Spreckels are back of The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company, in its purpose to make for the motoring public reliable and dependable goods of proven merit. Not subject to the whims of stockholders, The Spreckels "Savage" Tire Company is able to adhere to the chosen policy of manufacturing products that are made to a standard and not to a price. The result in the final analysis is that the consumer pays less per mile for the performance given by these products.

An undertaking of this nature requires constant research for improvement—necessitating large expenditures of money, effort and time. Few companies are able to give these unsparingly. The Spreckels

"Savage" Tire Company is not only able but does it with a result quite apparent in "Savage" Tire products. The methods employed, the selection of raw materials, the skill of the workmen, the constant search for flaws, all reflect the purpose behind the making and are important factors in the manufacture of products bearing the Spreckels "Savage" name.

SAVAGE PRODUCTS

A thorough study of the requirements of the present day motorist resulted in the making of a new departure in tire construction. That new departure is expressed in our D Type Tire. A big, sturdy, flexible, oversize, hand-built casing; made by improved methods, of the best grades of raw materials, and according to our own specifications as found necessary to meet the needs of the motorist of today; the "Savage" D Type Tire, because of its wonderful performance on the road, has been judged by many motorists the best fabric tire on the American market.

Regular "Savage" Tires are made to ordinary standards as far as size is concerned, though in quality they are second only to the "Savage" D Type. "Savage" Plain and Grip Tread types are made in all ordinary and many odd and unusual sizes. "Savage" Ribbed Treads are made in small popular sizes and the oversize 3 1/2 inch (375). The same careful attention is given to details effecting the building of these tires that is given to the "D" Type. Each "Savage" in its class is Built to Excel.

"Savage" Grey or Graphite tubes make splendid road companions for any tire.

TRUCKS ARE GREAT NEED OF WORLD

"At no other time in the history of the nation, has there been such an imperative need for adequate and efficient transportation facilities as there is today." This is the statement of Frank O. Ronstrom, distributor for Atterbury and Grant trucks. "Opportunity—the greatest of all things, is knocking on the door of American business. The world at large has created the demand for American products and raw materials of all kinds. As to what extent this demand will be of benefit to our country, will depend upon the manner in which the situation calls—depends solely upon the business man himself.

Under the existing conditions, it is impossible to obtain, much less maintain, a complete organization of man power. Systematization and co-operation have for the time become seriously impractical. The purchasing value of a dollar has deteriorated to almost half of that which it was four years ago as the result of a series of recent strikes and labor uprisings affecting most of the important industries of the country, and a general state of disorder and unrest prevails. As a means of self-preservation, it will be necessary to adopt some stringent manner of combatting the situation, in line with the present needs and requirements. The most effective and economical means of doing this is the substitution of machinery for man power. That there were twice as many trucks sold in 1918 as there were in 1917, is ample proof of the fact that motor truck transportation approaches the ideal. A thorough appreciation of these facts is responsible for the satisfactory transportation being obtained by the hundreds of Atterbury and Grant truck owners throughout the state of California."

MEANING OF GUARANTEES ON TIRE TOLD

Just what does mileage guarantee on tires mean to the average motorist?

This pertinent question apropos of the sudden rise in tire prices was put up to J. O. Banta of Chasler & Lyon Company, Pacific coast distributors of Lee Tires. His reply should prove of interest to all tire purchasers.

"The question," says Banta, "has long been in the minds of tire distributors and manufacturers and they have all agreed that the average motorist expects a tire to guarantee for 5000 miles, to give 5000 miles service, regardless of how much the tire may have been recovered. If the tire gives the guaranteed amount of mileage, he is satisfied. If more mileage is obtained he considers himself blessed by the gods or thanks the tire an exclamation.

Leading tire manufacturers have been fighting this condition for years and the Lee Tire and Rubber Company, along with others, discontinued guaranteeing their tires for a definite number of miles and adopted the unlimited mileage guarantee.

Under this system of guarantee a tire is guaranteed for the life of a tire against factory defects.

The life of a tire will depend entirely upon the use the motorist gives it. One motorist may secure 10,000 miles service or another one-half of that number. The first motorist gives as much attention to his tires as the second does to his engine, while the latter thinks that tires are the least important part of his machine. The result is that his greatest operating expense is tire cost, while the careful motorist finds that his tire expense has been normal."

DEMAND GROWS FOR CLOSED CAR

The popularity of the enclosed car seems to be limited to no one section of the country. Statistics just compiled by the Franklin Automobile Company of Syracuse, N. Y., reveal the interesting fact that throughout the South, for instance, the demand for closed cars is running nearly as heavy as in the Northern states, where the snow and cold make the use of an enclosed car almost imperative in the winter.

Forty per cent of Franklin cars sold in New Orleans during 1919 were of the enclosed type, and in Jacksonville, Atlanta and Los Angeles the record stood at 50 per cent. The percentage of enclosed car sales to total sales in Northern cities last year is also illuminating. The figures are as follows: New York City, 65 per cent; Chicago, 63 per cent; Portland, Me., 60 per cent; Boston, 60 per cent; Cleveland, 50 per cent; Minneapolis, 46 per cent.

Forty-seven per cent of Franklin production, which for 1920 will reach 18,000 cars, will be of the Sedan and Brougham type.

Media County Automobile Trade Association. It will be held Monday evening at the Saddle Rock.

A. R. Kroh, a special staff man connected with the Akron, O., headquarters of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., will deliver a talk to the automobile men. Kroh has been touring the country and has made many speeches before commercial organizations, advertising clubs and automobile associations.

Following his lecture to the dealers he will appear before a meeting of tire dealers in the Pacific building.

'CUT OUT' MOTOR DISPLAY AT KING "8" SALESROOMS

The educational value attached to viewing the operation of a motor or complete chassis, either one of which has been so constructed that all of its working parts are visible, has proven of such great interest wherever they have been displayed that many automobile makers have adopted the practice of sending examples of their mechanical genius on a tour of the United States, displaying them in the galleries of dealers handling their line, and then welcoming motoring fans to visit the showrooms and study features peculiar to these different cars.

One of the latest in adopt this practice is the King Motor Car company of Detroit. At the San Francisco show a King Eight motor was in operation and it attracted a great deal of attention.

E. C. Fuller, head of the Tuller Auto company, has brought the motor to Oakland, and for one week, beginning today, it will be on display under the direction of men competent to clearly describe its construction.

It is electrically operated. The crank case and cylinders are partly exposed. Action like that of the motor when it is in service on the road makes clear the function of different units.

The Tuller salesroom will be open nights during the week.

HORSE WINS RACE; AUTO GETS NAME

It will be of interest to many motor fans to learn how the Roamer got its name. Mrs. P. E. Webster, local distributor, divulges this most interesting bit of history about it.

In the latter part of 1916, the year in which the Roamer was first manufactured, W. C. Barley, president of the company making them, while attending the Sheephead-Bay sweepstakes, thought of a novel way of selecting a name for the car which was then under process of manufacture, but as yet unnamed.

Barley made the suggestion to his board of directors, who were attending the races with him, that the car be named after the winner of the race that day. This idea, appealed to all interested, and the winner of the race turned out to be Roamer, the speedy two-year-old trotting horse, who afterwards carried off honors at all the big Eastern races during 1916, 1917 and 1918.

Spare Tires Helped by Occasional Work

Many car owners have found that it is best to give the spare tire an occasional dose of work. That is to say, shift the tires around so that each one in turn gets a chance to act the part of spare. Light and atmospheric conditions have an ill effect on rubber and in actual practice being carried as a spare probably has a more damaging effect on a tire than actual service.

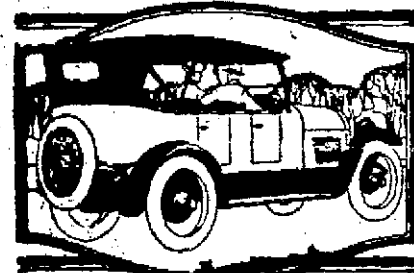

CLOSES CONTRACT FOR PHILBRIN IGNITION LINE

The Auto Electric Service company closed a contract last week for the sales and service privilege in Alameda county on the Philbrin ignition system. The local concern has been selling and installing this ignition system on cars for several months, but did not have a definite agreement until a few days ago.

The Philbrin principle is somewhat new, it is simple in design and is lower in price than a number of accepted standard ignition devices.

LUBRICATION IS AUTO NECESSITY CAR FOR FIVE IS POPULAR SIZE

One of the common places in which the average car owner shows his lack of charity toward his own vehicle is in the lubrication system. It is not always easy to give the engine enough oil and yet to avoid overdoing it. This problem will require a little study and a little careful experimentation, but the wise car owner will resolve to study it at all costs. The instruction books that come with the Chevrolet tell the owner what grade of oil will give the best results with his vehicle and how much of the oil should be used. If the owner stops there he is making a great mistake. It is so easy to keep on filling up the reservoir as the oil is used up that the average car owner is tempted to let it go at that. But that is not the proper way to handle the matter.

"It wasn't so very many years ago that we bought motor cars like graphophones—large enough to entertain the neighbors," says Louis Pacheco, Jordan dealer in Oakland. "Now the neighbors have motor cars of their own. Watch the endless line of motor cars moving down the boulevard and count the average number of passengers carried. Overlooking the occasional motor bus that comes along, you will find the average to be really less than five. Now and then we see seven people in a high-grade car, but they all look strangely uncomfortable.

"All of which goes to show that the days of bulk and extravagance in motor cars are passing. The day of the handy, quick-about open car and dominating closed type is here. The Jordan dealers," claims Pa-

U. C. Express Co. Run Goodyear Solids 20,600 Miles, Still Running

"Over two years ago we purchased two 36x10 Goodyear Solids for one of our two-ton trucks. These tires have served 20,600 miles to date and look good for another year."

"Your big single solid tires have wonderful wearing qualities, and, in our opinion, they are superior to any other tire we have ever used."
"U. C. EXPRESS & STORAGE CO."

The Goodyear Solids running for the U. C. Express have run 20,600 miles and look good for another year.

This is considered by the Express Company to be excellent service, in view of the immense loads and gruelling roads.

And, after this extensive service these Goodyears show no sign of excessive chipping.

However, the service which is more important than the tire service, is the service rendered by the Service Station.

Time after time the Service Stations have been able to save the truck operators trucking time, tire expenses and trucking expenses.

They have been able to save tire and trucking expenses by helping truck owners to determine the size and type of tires that operate most economically on each individual truck.

To determine what size and type of tire is needed in your specific instance requires a careful analysis of your trucking conditions.

Trucking time is saved by the Service Station applying new equipment after trucking hours or on Sunday. We'll help you at any hour.

CHIROPRACTIC

The power of Nature is within the nerves and is called "nerve impulse". It is the power which supplies life to all organs and tissues of the body. Obstruction of nerve impulse causes disease to the parts which these nerves supply. CHIROPRACTIC VERTICAL ADJUSTMENTS remove this obstruction, thus adjusting the cause so Nature can perform a cure.

Fewer Regrets Follow Dealing With a Reliable House

A few weekly offerings:

- 1920 MAXWELL TOURING Virtually a new car; handled carefully; extra tire.
1916 REO TOURING An excellent machine for the price, $450; repainted; new top.
1918 HAYNES TOURING Has had little use; repainted; come and inspect this machine.
1919 HUDSON SEDAN One of our best offerings; run less than 3000 miles; cord tires and numerous accessories.
1918 BUICK TOURING The popular Light Six model; in the best mechanical condition.
1918 WILLYS SIX Used comparatively little; cord tires; newly painted; its buyer will make no mistake.
1919 ESSEX TOURING It's known as the "little wonder car" — its owner eats nobody's dust on the road.
1919 SAXON SEDAN A cozy little enclosed car; overhauled, repainted and full of "pop".
1919 HUDSON SUPER-SIX A detailed description unnecessary; the buyer of this car will congratulate himself.

REBUILT CARS

A GOOD USED CAR IS MUCH BETTER THAN A CHEAP NEW ONE

The reputation of this company is behind the guarantee in this advertisement. When we advertise that the following cars are "Guaranteed Rebuilt Cars," we mean just exactly that, no more and no less. An expert mechanic in our own shops has gone over these cars and they are exactly what we represent them to be.

CURLY AND FLOPPY TWISTYTAIL TRIED TO PLAY A TRICK ON UNCLE WIGGILY. THE PIGGIE BOYS WONDERED HOW SNOWBALLS TURNED TO DOUGHNUTS.

Text by HOWARD R. GARIS
Author of the Famous UNCLE WIGGILY BEDTIME STORIES

"I am very glad you called to see me, and Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggily one day, when Mrs. Twistytail, the pig lady, paid a visit to the hollow stump bungalow. "And you brought your two boys, Curly and Floppy, with you, I see," went on the bunny gentleman. "Don't run your noses on Nurse Jane's clean window's, boys," said Mrs. Twistytail. "Run out and play while I visit a while here with Uncle Wiggily. Run out, like good boys!" Floppy looked at Curly and Curly looked at Floppy. Then they started out.

"Oh, look, Floppy!" called Curly to his brother, as they hurried out to play. "Look at those empty pockets!" granted Curly. "Well, what about 'em?" asked Floppy. "Is there anything good to eat in 'em?" Sometimes Uncle Wiggily has good things to eat in his overcoat pockets. Curly looked and said: "No, there's nothing in 'em! But we can play a joke on Uncle Wiggily." Floppy wanted to know what could he put in the pockets. "Snowballs!" whispered Curly. "We'll fill 'em full of snowballs and surprise him!"

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily will be so surprised, when he puts his paws in his overcoat pockets and finds these snowballs there!" granted Curly, as he and his brother came back, after having run out in the snow for a moment. "But if he doesn't come pretty soon the snowballs will melt, and there won't be any surprise. Anyhow," he added, "Uncle Wiggily will soon be out. I heard him tell Ma he was going to look for an adventure. He'll find one in his pockets all right! Ha! Ha!" (Do you see Nurse Jane peeking?)

After Curly and Floppy had filled Uncle Wiggily's pockets with snowballs, to play a joke on him, the piggie boys ran out to have some fun sliding down hill. But Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, had seen the trick. So, without saying a word, she took the snowballs out of Uncle Wiggily's coat and put in their place some nice, freshly-baked doughnuts, covered with white powdered sugar that looked like snow. "I guess those piggie boys will be the ones to be fooled, instead of Uncle Wiggily!" said Nurse Jane.

"It was very good of you to pay us a call," said Nurse Jane to Mrs. Twistytail. Mrs. Twistytail said she had enjoyed herself. "I'll walk home with you," offered Uncle Wiggily as he put on his big fur coat, and took his tall, silk hat off the rack. "Maybe I will have an adventure." Curly and Floppy could hardly keep from laughing. "He'll have an adventure all right, when he puts his paws in his overcoat pockets," whispered Floppy. "I guess so!" agreed Curly. Nurse Jane said nothing. But she knew what was going to happen.

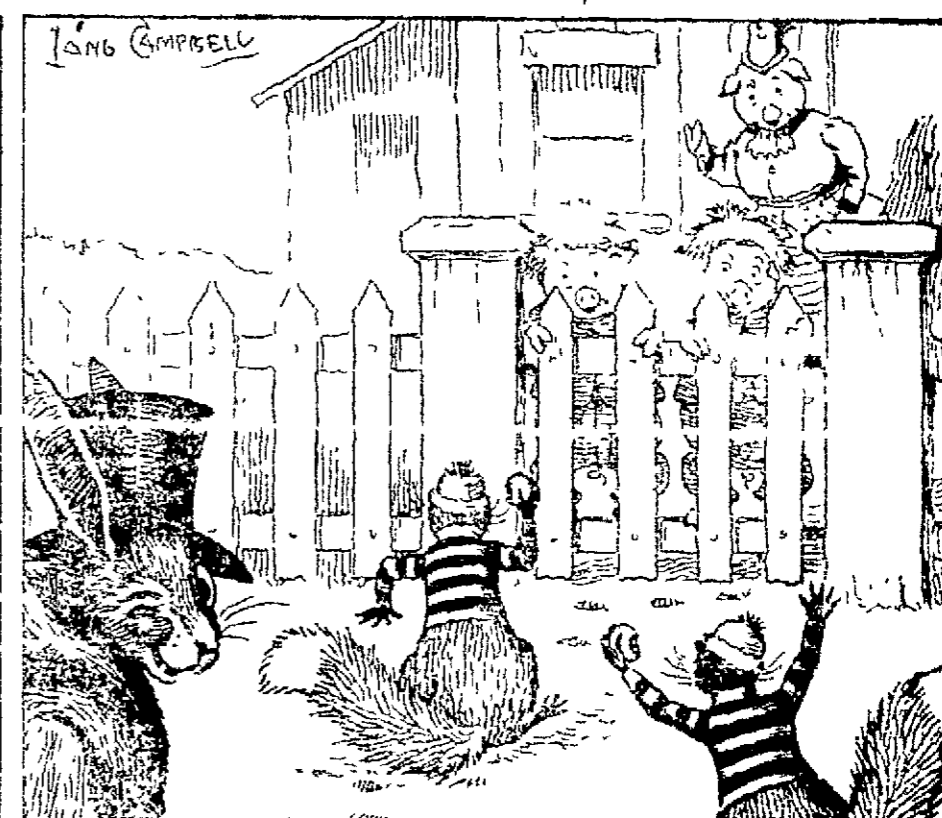

"Well, here you are, safe at home, Mrs. Twistytail," said Uncle Wiggily, with a low and polite bow, as he reached the pig lady's gate. "And I haven't had an adventure yet. And that reminds me—I think I have a peppermint candy or two in my overcoat pocket. Would you like some, Curly and Floppy?" Uncle Wiggily was about to put his paw into his pocket. "Oh, no, I don't care for any peppermint candy, thank you," granted Floppy. "I guess we had better go in and get warm," added Curly. Their mother looked up in surprise.

Uncle Wiggily put his paws in his pockets and a funny look came over his face. "Why," he exclaimed, "These aren't peppermint candies! I wonder what they are? Will you have some, Curly and Floppy?" "No, thank you, Uncle Wiggily," granted Curly. Floppy gave one look at the round, white things in the bunny's paws, and, thinking of the snowballs he and his brother had stuffed in the pockets, said, "I don't care for any, either, thank you." Uncle Wiggily turned to the two squirrel boys.

"Well, Billie and Johnnie," said Uncle Wiggily to the two squirrel boys, as they came scampering along, "Curly and Floppy don't want these, you might as well take them. I didn't know I had them, but Nurse Jane must have put them in for me." The two piggie boys grinned. "Why doesn't Uncle Wiggily get surprised at finding the snowballs in his pockets?" asked Curly of Floppy. "He'd be surprised a minute, as soon as his paws get cold," spoke Floppy. "So will Johnnie and Billie."

"Don't eat those—they're snowballs!" cried Floppy as he saw the two squirrel boys take big bites of the round, white things Uncle Wiggily gave them. "Snowballs?" chattered Billie Bushytail. "These aren't snowballs! They're some of Nurse Jane's best doughnuts. Ha! Ha!" And Johnnie laughed in the same way. The piggie boys were so surprised they had to hold to the fence to keep from turning somersaults. Uncle Wiggily—well, Uncle Wiggily just winked one eye, slow and cautious like and smiled.

And if the scrambled egg doesn't get all mixed up when it tries to crack a joke on the head of cabbage, the next pictures and story will be about
